

Woman Turns Carpenter-Mason and Builds Home All By Self

Want a house and short of funds? Build it all by yourself. Mrs. Lucile Lovely, Galesburg, Ill., proved that it can be done, even by a woman. She did all of the construction work on her new house, with the exception of a small amount of concrete-setting. House and Mrs. Lovely are shown.

Colored, Shoe Style Note
Fifth avenue is continually stressing the importance of the colored shoe. In most cases it shows shoes to match the accompanying garments, but in a recent display the vogue of matching the color of the shoe to the millinery was noted. Purple satin slippers were displayed with purple velvet and felt hats.

GLORIFICATION OF WAR OPPOSED AT INSTITUTE

With approximately 250 teachers, representative of every school in the county, in attendance, the Teachers' Annual County Institute commenced a three day session this morning at the high school building with J. S. Landers, president of the Oregon State Normal School, the principal speaker.

The session opened with an address of welcome by Superintendent Hedrick followed by an address by President Landers who spoke on "Educational Responsibility in an Industrial Age."

"The public school," he said, "has become a burden bearer of civilization. Its burden is to adjust each life into its peculiar environment. There is no conflict between science and religion. Truth never conflicts truth."

History text books have glorified war and steps should be taken, he told his listeners, to avoid such glorification. He dwelt a short time on law observance, whether it be by inclination or conscience and continued on the condition of modern youth. The automobiles, trolleys and theatres have afforded an environment far different than the youth of 10 years ago experienced. Modern youth, he contended, has not degenerated in any way, but it is for the school teacher to meet the present conditions.

Speaking to rural teachers on "The Significance of the Rural School," President Landers stated that the term, as an average, is far too short for such schools and likewise the finances are too limited. He advocated the elimination of the one-room school house.

An exercise, which was to have been given tomorrow afternoon by the fifth grade of the Lincoln School, taught by Miss Newberry, was presented this morning and was well received.

The institute is progressing according to schedule today. No delay has been experienced, each number on the program commencing on time.

Instructors at the institute include the following:

News Notes From Moviedom

If Doris Kenyon ever retires from motion pictures she won't have a hard time keeping the wolf from the door. Don't you know she has a reputation as a critic and that she has really had some of her poems published in important magazines? Doris may be beautiful but she is no dumbbell. She was educated at Packer College Institute and Columbia University. For several years Miss Kenyon appeared on the stage but she has now entirely forsaken her first love for the movies. Her latest picture was "The Unguarded Hour," in which she is co-starred with Milton Sills.

One of Doris Kenyon's poems, which she calls "In the Discard":
Oh, little clock with foolish battered face,
Neglected there amid the rack of years,
Did your heart stop at last its idle pace,
At some exquisite hour of happy tear?

Your one lone hand seems grasping for that hour,
As if to woo it back to live apart;
Or did you weary of life's brief dower,
Content to count your treasures in your heart?

Thus little clock, when years envelop me,
Oh, may I have such memories as you,
And tho' I be no longer fair to see,
Yet may I cling to one grand moment, too.

Jack Luden, the son of the "Cough Drop King" is a student at the Famous Players-Lasky studio. Fellow players didn't recognize him until he started to pass out cough drops.

Hope Hampton has returned from Paris with 87 gowns.

During the filming of "The Splendid Road," Edward Earle, Lionel Barrymore, Robert Frazier and Anna Q. Nilsson got together and talked over old times. All four were connected with the early film days. Edward Earle, since he was a stage actor, was engaged to play a lead in the first talking movie. He worked from noon to midnight for a week. In addition to getting hoarse he got $10 a day for acting and $20 for speaking his lines.

"The Viennese Medley" is being cut from 30 to 12 reels.

Mary Pickford is going to be "done in oil" in her favorite role by Howard Chandler Christy. Mary's having a hard time picking her favorite characterization.
