

AGLE PT. GRANGE GIVEN A LECTURE UPON DAIRYING

AGLE POINT, Oct. 15.—The regular business meeting of the Grange held on Tuesday night, October 15, after the regular business a special program was given which was prepared by the lecturer, Weidman gave a very interesting and instructive talk on dairying. In his own unique way he related his knowledge and interest in the importance of dairying to the importance of dairying to the community. He also explained the need of regular hours close application to business, and weighing and testing milk. The program was throughout made talk amusing as well as instructive.

A very pleasing part of the program was the instrumental and vocal rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Weidman.

The ladies of the Grange gave a very surprise party at the home of Mrs. Roy Smith on Thursday afternoon, October 1. A very pleasant was had and Mrs. Smith was recipient of many dainty little gifts. Cookies and tea were served. High misunderstanding, several of the Grange ladies were not notified of the event, to the regret of all concerned.

The following five new members were voted in at our last meeting: F. Charley, Mrs. L. C. Charley, F. Owens, Mrs. Yola Owens, and D. Pierce. This brings our list members up to 72.

An executive committee was appointed, comprised of the master and Mrs. L. C. Charley, Throckmorton, Mrs. Hanscom and Alfred Mittel.

The entertainment night will be on Friday, October 20. W. Ward, master of the Grange, and wife, attended the Grange meeting at Rogue River, Saturday, October 19. Frank and wife also attended the Grange meeting. All report good time. The next Pomona dance will be held at Sams Valley January 29, 1926, Saturday evening.

W. Ward, L. C. Charley and Perry are cutting their fourth of alfalfa.

K. Haak has about finished his crop of apples. He has a fine crop, but is not shipping it out this year. He intends to store it until towards spring, and locally. These apples are always daily fine, free from worms and are one hundred per cent. Mr. Haak has the reputation of having the cleanest crop of fruit in the valley year after year. One of his five wormy apples were found in sorting 1600 boxes. This was verified by the sorters and packer. Mr. Haak claims the apples in the spray equipment he used a spray gun one year had more worms than he had for years' use of the spray rod. He uses a Vermont bent nozzle, orchardist from the Talent and other orchard men have studied his method of spraying. Until these men saw the results in methods of spraying, they believed the spray dope was at fault, all the orchards were very busy. But Mr. Haak used the spray dope that they did and his was clean. He claims it is the use of the spray gun and the care spraying. The spray gun throws heavy a stream, and so does not spray fruit.

There is also a great waste of water with the spray gun. He plain skin milk as a spreader, knowledge is valuable, as there less amounting to thousands of dollars a year by the culling of spray fruit.

The next business meeting will be held at the hall on the first day of November, the 3rd.

H. S. FRESHMEN, CENTRAL POINT HIGH, ENTERTAINED

By F. M. JONES. CENTRAL POINT, Oct. 16.—The sophomore class of the local high school gave a party last Wednesday night to the members of the Freshman class. The affair was staged in the gym, which had previously been made ready for the great occasion. Games, music, stunts—in fact a little bit of everything—took up the time until a late hour, when all departed for their homes, the happliest for a most pleasant evening. Miss Dorris Hubbard of the Central Point H. S. class of '23 is teaching in the Butte Falls school. Al Hermanson has had a new lid put on the front part of his feed store. Al says he didn't mind the grain getting wet, as wet grain is heavier and he sells it by weight; but the darned stuff started to ferment and he got scared as it was rumored a "dry" agent was prowling around. Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Drysdale, baby daughter and Mrs. Drysdale's mother, all of Myrtle Point, are visiting Mrs. Drysdale's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Paxson. Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Paxson, Mrs. E. S. Paxson, Mrs. Richard Hale and Mr. Loren Paxson motored as far as Wolf Creek Sunday to meet them. Clifford and Helen Webber motored over from Klamath Falls Saturday to visit friends, returning home Sunday. Mrs. Mary Mayfield, who spent the summer at Gresham, Ore., and who has been for the past week at Table Rock with relatives, has returned to Central Point for the winter. Mrs. Mayfield says that while away she kept in touch with home through this column. She has taken rooms with the F. E. Jones family. C. H. (Food) Raymond, formerly with the Faber company, is now with the Skaggs Grocery stores and is located at Roseburg. Mrs. Clyde Hanson and daughter Betty, now of Butte Falls, were in town on business Tuesday evening. L. B. Lamb and family left Monday for California, where they will reside in the future. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Norcross received a telegram at noon, Monday from their son, Paul, of Los Angeles, announcing the arrival of a fine baby girl. "Grandpa" tried to pretend that he was used to that sort of thing but we notice the old man sitting at a bit sharper angle over the right eye. Mr. and Mrs. Stockwell, who have resided here for some time left Monday evening for Cottage Grove to settle the estate of Mrs. Stockwell's mother, who passed away last April. They expect to make their home there.

Great concern has been expressed by the many friends of Harold Morrison, the local Mall Tribune man; he has for some time past seemed to be moving about in a dazed condition and often gives very queer answers to questions. But the secret is out at last, though we are not at liberty to tell all we know. However, a certain young lady of this city might shed some light on the situation—if we could find her. As the French say: "Cherchez le femme!"

Religion in the Colleges. President Thompson of the Ohio State university recently made this statement relative to religion in the schools of higher learning: "I am in no way untrue to state institutions when I say that in our day a boy might become a bachelor or master in almost any one of the best of them and be as ignorant of the Bible, the moral and spiritual truth which it represents, and fundamental principles of religion, their nature and value to society, as if he had been educated in a non-Christian country. Who is to supply this lack if not the Christian college?"

When we saw her behind the counter she appeared so content and altogether lovely young person, but when she passed us on the street she looked like a perambulating leg show.

Someone suggests that one way to uphold the growing divorce evil is a return to the standards and practices of Brigham Young. O well, he had all of Utah in which to range, but the rest of us can't afford a whole new frontier these days.

You cannot have a Christian communion without a Christian community, nor the Christian community without its centers, its laws, and its truths.

Make deposits each week in the bank of heaven. You will need some resources by and by.

Some of the old hymns of the church are more than peculiar in their endeavor to present Christian teaching. For instance this stanza translated: Be thou, Lord, the rider, And the little ass; That to God's holy city Together we may pass. Another on "Unity" from the seventeenth century, is as follows: I am no bigamist; I have no concubines; It's only one church I admit, One child; I have no twins.

"I Have Set Watchmen Upon Thy Walls, O Jerusalem." Isa. 62:1.

Put the Blame Where It Belongs. Who is to blame for the breakdown in morals among our young people? It seems to be a favorite pastime for writers, lecturers and even ministers to paint in lurid and frightful colors, the delinquency of our young people. As long as we have homes in which the voice of prayer is not heard, the Bible not read, nor the Christian life lived, our young people will not be any better than they are today. And as long as parents do not set Christian examples before their children, do not keep the Sabbath, nor take their children to the house of God, it is an unblushing act of the most blatant hypocrisy to place the blame on a defenseless childhood. Train the child in the way he should go—and what is of far more importance—go that way yourself.

An Honor to His State. A splendid example of vigorous mentality of one of full ripe years is prominent in Medford this month in the presence and person of Federal Judge C. E. Wolverton, whose court is now in session. He is topping the seventy-fifth ridge his years, yet as it was stated of one of old, "his eye is not dimmed nor his natural strength abated."

For thirty-one and a half years Judge Wolverton has served the state of Oregon with exceptional ability. The first eleven and a half years on the state supreme bench, and the following twenty on the federal district. He is indeed an honor to his profession and the high office which he has so ably filled. It is a rare pleasure to listen to his wise utterances and to follow his thought in its clear and keen discernment of matters before his court. Some day, of course, he will wear out, but that vigorous mind will never rust out. Oregon is thrice honored by this splendid gentleman and jurist with his record of eminent service to his state and its people.

Introducing Dr. Temple. Rev. Thomas Henry Temple, D. D., is Medford's latest acquisition among the Sky Pilots. He comes as the minister of the First Methodist church of the city. After giving him the once over we have decided to keep him. We like his looks, his manner and his reputation. The bishop that sent him rather expected that we would. We are glad to introduce him to the community. He was born in Lincolnshire, England, February 20, 1870. That makes him 55. His father was a local preacher in the Wesleyan church. Tom Henry came to America when he was 19 and is a member still of his father's church.

He attended Albion college, Michigan for five years, one year at Kansas university, then two years at Upper Iowa university, where he graduated in 1906 with the degree of bachelor of philosophy. In 1914 he was honored with the degree of doctor of divinity. In 1903 he joined the St. Louis conference of his church. He served the following charges: Drexel, Mo.; Clarion, Pa.; Waukon, New Hampton, Fayette College church, where he graduated, and Vinton, all in Iowa. At the latter place he built a splendid institutional church. His next pastorate was Cameron Park Hill church at Denver, and following, Monte Vista, Colo. At Park Hill he laid the foundations for a $200,000 church plant. Marshfield was his next field, where he gave four years. There he built a $6000 parsonage and a $125,000 Methodist hospital. It seems that he has a record for doing a few things besides visit the old ladies.

We asked him for his honest impressions of Medford and the valley. He promised to tell the truth. This is what he says: "This is without a doubt the finest place in which we have ever lived. It is ideal in all its surroundings and possibilities. We are already in love with Medford. We find the outlook for our work in the church splendid and the prospects for constructive endeavor excellent." We called him down right there. That is enough for a single dose. However, we believe he is right about it.

Ladies and gentlemen, Dr. Temple! Religion in the Colleges. President Thompson of the Ohio State university recently made this statement relative to religion in the schools of higher learning: "I am in no way untrue to state institutions when I say that in our day a boy might become a bachelor or master in almost any one of the best of them and be as ignorant of the Bible, the moral and spiritual truth which it represents, and fundamental principles of religion, their nature and value to society, as if he had been educated in a non-Christian country. The Screen

By Ye Press Agent.

Al Hunt's Craterian.

Percy Marmont, Neil Hamilton and Mary Brian head the cast of "The Street of Forgotten Men," the attraction at Hunt's Craterian beginning tomorrow matinee. Marmont has the greatest part that has fallen to him since he played Mark Sabre in "If Winter Comes." He is "Easy Money" Charlie, the best faker that goes out of Diamond Mike's saloon to make a living off the charitably inclined. Harold Bell Wright's latest and best novel "A Son of His Father," closes at Hunt's Craterian tonight. It is a western melodrama at its best.

Bunker Bean at Rialto.

As rollicking, joyous a comedy as has ever been screened opened yesterday at the Rialto theater. It is "His Majesty, Bunker Bean," with Matt Moore as His Royal Shyness, and Dorothy Devore the girl whose love helps fire Bunker Bean with courage and recklessness. The remainder of the cast has been carefully selected. "Strathmore," with Diana Miller playing the role of Marion Vavasour, vampire queen of literature, Wyndham Standing has the role of Daniel Strathmore in the production which will come to the Rialto theater tomorrow matinee.

You Can't Beat Columbus' Time

In 1492 Columbus not only discovered a new land, but he discovered the greatest producer of wealth the world has ever known—North America.

But it took nearly 400 years of development before this production became really great. When you discover for yourself what a great wealth producer a Savings Account in this Bank is, you will not have to wait 400 years. In fact, ten years of regular savings will probably see you on the way to financial independence.
