Slippery pavement near Gold Hill proved disastrous to Newton C. Chaney, district attorney for Jackson county, yesterday when he applied his brakes too quickly," says the Grants Pass Courier. "He was on his way to Grants Pass and was nearing the end of the pavement on the other side of Gold Hill. He started to slow down before getting on rough road, but his brakes took hold too quickly and threw his car into another that was approaching. Both cars were smashed up and Mr. Chaney was bruised up to some extent. He continued on his way to this city however."
