KIP'S BRIDE SHOWS SKIN TO JURORS

Rich Society Youth's Letters Highly Erotic—Drew Line On Color, Not Morals—Mr Rhinelander's Ordeal Ended

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 23.—(A. P.) The two "mystery" letters, whose introduction in the Rhinelander annulment trial caused two adjournments and rumors that the case would be settled out of court to keep them from being made public, were placed on the record this morning. They were read before a court room that had been emptied of all but two women, the latter being newspaper women.

Both the letters were written from the Cliff Hotel in San Francisco in 1922 and were concerned with the pre-marital relations of Alice Beatrice Jones, daughter of a negro hack driver, and Leonard Kip Rhinelander, wealthy young society man, who is seeking annulment of their marriage. The letters have been the center of a great mystery in the case, beginning last week when Isaac N. Mills, counsel for young Rhinelander, asked for a recess of several days to give him an opportunity to investigate them. They have been regarded as trump cards by Lee Parsons Davis, counsel for the defendant.

Written by Leonard, they were held by the defense to offset the effect of Alice's letters read at the beginning of the trial. Their contents admittedly were more erotic than the love letters written by Mrs. Rhinelander. When reading of the letters began Alice and her mother left the court room and remained outside during the subsequent cross-examination on their contents.

The letters were each about 500 words long and were concerned with events that occurred when Alice and Leonard spent a week at the Hotel Marie Antoinette in New York in 1921. Picking up the second letter, which was by far more erotic than the first, Mr. Davis asked:

"Did you love this girl when you wrote that?"

"Yes," answered Rhinelander.

Although at first he denied these letters were written to lead Alice on, he admitted that in one of the letters, written June 6, he was trying to tempt her.

"I had no other outlet to express my emotions except in my letters," he said. "In them I put my heart and soul."

"Did you have any letter using this kind of stuff from Alice?" asked Mr. Davis.

"No," admitted the witness.

"Did you intend to make this girl your wife when you wrote these letters to her?"

"I had visions of it."

In the midst of his cross examination on the mystery letters Mr. Davis asked that the court be cleared in order that he might show Alice's skin to the jury. Justice Morshauer interposed an objection and it was agreed to retire to the jury room.

Alice returned to the court room and broke into copious tears as she walked into the jury room.

The party returned from the jury room about ten minutes later, Alice remaining inside. Rhinelander resumed the stand and in response to questions, said that her skin appeared the same color as when he had first seen it.

"That's all," said Mr. Davis suddenly, and Rhinelander's ordeal of the past week was finished. He left the stand and adjournment was taken until this afternoon when other witnesses for the plaintiff will testify.

Just before going into the jury room Mr. Davis asked Leonard if Alice had ever admitted to him that she had been intimate with another man before she met her husband. Rhinelander said that she had given this information to him voluntarily.

"Did this girl, who is pictured as chasing you, confess this?" asked Davis.

"Yes."

"And, yet this girl, who volunteered

State University Puts Ban On 'Charleston' At Campus Dances

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 23.—The Charleston is doomed as far as the University of Oregon is concerned. At a meeting of heads of fraternity and sorority houses on the university campus Saturday evening, it was voted that the Charleston is to be barred from all university dances and from all inter-fraternity and inter-sorority dances.

Fraternities and sororities holding private dances may allow the Charleston at their own discretion, it was decided.

The dance may be used as a feature at the university dances, but the students will not indulge.

$250,000 ASKED BY DANCER FOR BROKEN PROMISE

W. A. Clark, Third, Sued By Miss McNulty, Dancer—Rapid Courtship On Broadway—Rich Youth Now in Africa On Business.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—Today's American says that William Andrews Clark, third, grandson of the late Montana senator, has been sued for $250,000 by Marguerite McNulty, a dancer, who avers he broke a promise to marry her.

The defendant is in London and the complaint, with court approval, was left with the management of the hotel here, where Clark has an apartment.

The complaint charges that in 1923, less than three months after they met in a Broadway cabaret, Clark took the plaintiff to his father's home in Butte, Mont., and introduced her as his fiancée and that announcement of the engagement was made. When they met she was dancing at a cabaret and he was just out of college.

Many detectives are reported to have been engaged by Clark to investigate the girl's career.

An order for service of the complaint by substitution was issued by Supreme Court Justice Ford of New York upon recommendation that Clark had evaded personal service since a definite refusal October 3, last, to marry the plaintiff.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—The Examiner today styles Marguerite McNulty as a Hollywood actress and a former Oakland girl in referring to the $250,000 breach of promise suit brought against William Andrews Clark, III, by the actress.

A copy of the complaint was received here by Gavin McNab, who says Miss McNulty charges that Clark met her in Los Angeles less than a year ago and after a rapid courtship proposed marriage and was accepted.

Later, the girl charges, Clark refused to marry her and she made a special trip to New York to remind him of his promise.

Referring to Clark's whereabouts, McNab said that his client is now in London. "He left San Francisco several weeks ago with a party of engineers to transact business for his father abroad. Within a few days they will sail for Africa on mining business for W. A. Clark, II."

The Examiner says Clark recently announced his engagement to Miss Catherine Minsassian, former Broadway stage favorite, who appeared in a series of successes. Announcement of the engagement was made by his father, W. A. Clark, II, shortly before his son left on the foreign trip.

HUSH HINT IN SHENANDOAH HEARING TOLD

Rigger Carlson Testifies Lt. Bauch Told Him Not to Give Certain Information Unless Asked Specifically—Regarding Incident As Immaterial.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—Arthur E. Carlson, aviation chief rigger of the wrecked Shenandoah, told the Shenandoah naval court today that one of the surviving officers of the airship, Lieutenant C. Bauch, had told him not to give certain information to the court, "unless it was asked for specifically."

This information, which Carlson withheld when he first testified at Lakehurst, was that 15 minutes before the Shenandoah broke up, he had closed off at amidships the internal gasping manifold connecting the 18 helium cells and designed to permit equalization of the gas in the individual cells.

Carlson testified that he stopped up the manifold on his own initiative, because helium was rushing to the after cells and the ship already was up by the stern.

Asked why he had not given the court this information before, he said he did not regard it as "material to the inquiry."

Carlson said he told Lieutenant Bauch about it the night of the wreck.

"What did he say to you?" the witness was asked.

"He said if they don't question you on that subject, don't mention it. He no doubt had the same opinion that I did, that it was immaterial."

The witness said he also spoke to Lieutenant Mayer, another survivor who replied that "he didn't know anything about that; that it was up to me."

Lieutenant Bauch testified that in his conversation with Carlson he had had no thought of keeping from the court information that the gasping manifold had been tied, he said he thought the tie-off had been made and removed some time before the accident because when he inspected the manifold, twenty minutes before the ship broke up, he found no tie-off.

Carlson brought up the subject at Lakehurst, he said, and asked whether he should tell the court about it.

"I replied: 'Of course, if they ask you about it, tell them,'" Bauch said.

"I also told him that if he would tell the court the truth he would make no mistake."

GERMAN ORATORY ON LOCARNO TREATY

BERLIN, Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—Debate on the Locarno security pact and collateral treaties began in the Reichstag today with every prospect of favorable action on the government's motion for ratification.

FOXY!—SAN FRANCISCO—Because a gigantic black condor, brought to America recently from the Gobi desert by Ray Chapman Andrews, is not included in the United States tariff laws, the Dollar Steamship line turned it into a "canary" for the trip across the Pacific. They were thus enabled to charge passage on the creature.

TAX REDUCTION BILL COMPLETED; UP TO CONGRESS

Will Cut Annual Drain On Public $336,236,000—Becomes Effective Next July—Minor Change Voted By Committee.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—The new tax reduction bill was completed today by the house ways and means committee and unanimously ordered reported to the house when it convenes.

Revised estimates prepared by the treasury today showed that the measure in its final form would reduce taxes by $336,236,000 annually.

The treasury's estimate was slightly higher than estimates made by the committee and somewhat over the $300,000,000 limit it had hoped to keep.

The committee voted today to make the changes it had approved in the excise schedules effective upon passage of the bill and those in the occupational taxes effective on July 1, 1926.

A sub-committee was authorized to complete some technical phase of the bill and Chairman Green announced he would introduce it on the opening day of congress, December 7.

'MOONSHINE QUEEN' FINALLY IN CELL

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 23.—Mrs. Arthur Zeilke, better known as Dolly Quartier, veteran of numerous courts of law, will be brought here tomorrow to serve a year's term in the state penitentiary, having plead guilty today to a charge of arson at Astoria before Judge Eakin of the circuit court. It will be her first confinement in a state penitentiary.

She was indicted on a charge of setting fire to a rooming house operated by her at Astoria. An investigation extending over several months carried on by Sheriff Shusher of Clatsop county, assisted by State Fire Marshal Will Moore and H. H. Pomeroy, is said to have resulted in her apprehension.

Arthur Zeilke, her husband, indicted jointly with her, was allowed to go free, the court holding that he had been "merely a tool" in the affair.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—The state supreme court today upheld the first degree conviction of William Cavalier, the fifteen-year-old boy sentenced to death by the Schuylkill county court for the killing of his grandmother.

Cavalier is believed to be the youngest boy ever sentenced to death by a Pennsylvania court.

His grandmother, Mrs. Katherine Cavalier, of Mechanicsville, near Pottsville, was 68 years old. Cavalier admitted the killing for the purpose of robbery.

More than $100 in cash taken from Mrs. Cavalier was found in the boy's possession.

SALEM TERMS FOR POST-SEASON GAME DEC. 5 ACCEPTED

SALEM, Nov. 23.—An agreement to meet Medford high school in a post season game, provided Medford pays Salem $200 over and above expenses involved in making the trip, was this morning wired to Medford by Principal J. C. Nelson of Salem high school. The agreement would be subject to approval by the state high school athletic board.

Medford accepted the above terms and this afternoon wired for consent from the state board of athletic control. Prof. Briscoe of Ashland, a member, gave his consent. The game would be played in this city on Saturday, December 5.

Local fans see a joker in the $200 above-expenses provision as a means to avoid the game, on technical grounds. The offer from Salem was not definite.

CHILD SLAYER TO DIE IN 'CHAIR'

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—Harris W. Noel, kidnaper and slayer of 8-year-old Mary Daly of Montclair, was sentenced to die in the electric chair during the week of January 10 for the murder of Raymond Pierce, negro taxicab driver, whose car he used in abducting the child.

After Judge Caffrey had pronounced sentence, William Wachenfel, counsel for the 20-year-old youth, announced that he would seek a writ of error from Chancellor Walker at Trenton tomorrow. Such action automatically would stay the execution.

Noel showed no emotion and his eyes were downcast throughout the entire proceedings.

2 Farmers Battle to Death in Long Fued Over Open Gate

BERTHOUD, Colo., Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—Ralph Bennett, 35, secretary of the Chimney Hill low school board is dead and Edward Hertha is dying as the result of their pistol duel early today west of here.

The duel took place in a lonely gully and was the climax of a feud which has lasted for several years, neighbors say. It started, they declared, when Hertha left the gate to Bennett's farm open. Hertha, who was shot in the abdomen, told officers that Bennett started the shooting.

18 CHILDREN ARE ORPHANS FROM AMBUSH SHOTS

Three Men Slain at Butte, Mont., in Mystery Murder—Enemy One Held, Admits Shooting at a Couple—Caught in Hills.

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—Tony Veteri, aged 50, whose three alleged slayings in Meaderville last night left eighteen children fatherless, was captured today by sheriff's deputies in the hills eight miles south of this city.

He admitted that early last evening he shot several times at a young couple near his home, but gave no reason. He admitted he took a shotgun to Meaderville, but said he did not arrive there until several hours after the killing of Joe Ciccarelli, Antonio Favero and John Deriana. It was declared Veteri and Ciccarelli had trouble several years ago but that the former was only slightly acquainted with the other two slain men.

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—Shot under ambush of darkness, three men were slain under mysterious circumstances near here last night. The dead: Joe Ciccarelli, 50; John Deriana, 50 and Antonio Favero, 50.

Ciccarelli and Favero were shot as they stepped from the doorway of the Favero home in Meaderville, on the outskirts of Butte. Their bodies were found lying in the front yard. Deriana was found dead on a bridge nearby. The slayer's weapon was a shotgun, police believe.

CUT DOWN RELIGIOUS WINE PERMITS, TOO MUCH OF PRODUCT 'BOOTLEGGED'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Another relic of pre-prohibition days has been nipped off for a swift end by prohibition officials.

Some several hundred thousand wine-making permits which have enjoyed a quiet and untrammelled prolongation of life since the years of the Volstead act have come under the searchlight of the new prohibition regime and will be revoked under a regulation to be promulgated probably within the next day or two. The permits as issued allow a maximum annual production by the holder, tax free, of two hundred gallons. They are held largely in the foreign quarters of the larger cities and are suspected of contributing heavily to the illicit supply.

Leaks of sacramental wine into illicit channels also are to be plugged up. Assistant Secretary Andrews, the treasury's prohibition field marshal has reached an agreement with Jewish leaders, whose churches are the largest users of sacramental wine, for new regulations, expected to be issued this week, sharply reducing the amount of wine now permitted to be withdrawn for religious purposes.

'ANGEL' TRAILS AGED FORGER YEARS, AND MAKES GOOD HIS 'CHECKS'

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—A mystery forger left Milwaukee last night for an unknown destination after writing one of the most unusual chapters in local police history.

Charged with forgery under the name of Peter Daley, 60, from "nowhere," he vanished under orders of Judge George A. Shaugnessy after the latter had given him a suspended sentence.

By his own admission, Daley has cashed hundreds of worthless checks in many cities, but the police say never once has his intended victim been the loser. From some mysterious source every check has been paid, dollar for dollar until the total has reached a tidy fortune.

Daley declared that he does not know who is picking up his worthless paper or why. He only knows, he said, that private detectives have trailed him constantly for years, never molesting him but keeping him under surveillance and paying him bad checks as fast as he passed them.
