

CORRECTED SCORE SHOWS STANFORD WON 27 TO 14

SEATTLE, Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—George M. Varnell of this city, referee in a game of football between the University of California and Stanford University at Palo Alto Saturday, today stated that the score was 27 to 14 and not 26 to 14.

Varnell was on his way home from California and the Associated Press reached him through the courtesy of the Northern Pacific railway, which transmitted a query to him and delivered his answer here.

Varnell was asked: "Did the last kick by Murphy after a touchdown which California blocked, still earn Stanford a point because California was off-side?"

He replied: "Yes."

Varnell is a sports writer on the Seattle Times and the question of the accuracy of the score arose here when it was observed that although an article from him published yesterday gave the count as 26 to 14, which agreed with all press agency and newspaper reports so far as known in Seattle, a dispatch today from his pen stated that the tally was 27 to 14.

FLAX PLANT HEAD AT STATE PRISON OUSTED BY PIERCE

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 23.—In the same statement in which Governor Pierce announced formally the removal of Robert Crawford as superintendent of the state flax industry at the penitentiary and the appointment of John Quinlan in his place, the Governor announced that profits from the 1924 crop would be about $10,000 under estimates. The reason given for this is that the 350 tons of straw retted during the summer of 1925, mostly from the 1924 crop, was considerably damaged from over-retting. A considerable portion of it was too short to be used for other than tow purposes.

The large percentage that goes into the making of spinning tow will be worth from 10 to 20 cents a pound instead of from 10 to 33 cents that would come from the long fiber variety.

"The plant now has on hand," says the governor's statement, "1400 tons of long straw which will be made into long fiber. At the present time careful experiments are being made in artificially drying the straw after retting. There is every indication that this plan will be a success."

A judgment for $400,000 was obtained Friday by Attorney General Dan Moody against the American Road company, whose highway contracts and permit to operate in Texas were cancelled.

SOVIET SUED FOR VALUABLES TAKEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—Suit to recover $45,587,000 from the Russian soviet government was filed in supreme court today by F. Dudley Kohler, an attorney representing the United States. ### Oregon News in Brief

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 23.—After some difficulty during the past two weeks, due to mechanical problems, the new snow motor operated by the Eugene-Bend stage line proved its worth yesterday and negotiated the McKenzie pass Sunday, according to reports brought back here.

The snow tractor climbed the snow banks with ease, and the prospects of all-winter stage service between here and Bend brightened as the snow covered pass was conquered.

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Nov. 23.—Oscar McKenzie, alias M. J. Schmidt, was arrested here today noon on a charge of using the mails to defraud. McKenzie is alleged to have sent a spurious check for $1059 to an Oakland, Cal., mail order house for a diamond ring and watch. When the company learned the check was questionable they sent a dummy package and McKenzie was arrested when he went to the local office to sign for the package.

According to State Traffic Officer Foster who took part in the arrest, McKenzie admitted the check was worthless. He is being held for federal prosecution.

RED GRANGE JOINS PRO FOOTBALL AT $2000 PER GAME

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—Harold "Red" Grange, the reigning football hero of the moment, will don his fighting togs again on Thanksgiving day but he will not wear the famous "77" of college days.

For Red has turned professional, to follow, as he phrases it, "the business he knows best."

Declaring that he had no training that would enable him to accept other alluring offers, the strawberry blonde warrior of the chalked field, signed a contract yesterday that will place him in the Chicago Bears' lineup for a Christmas game after which he will invade Florida during the holidays.

Contract terms were not made public but it was understood that Grange was guaranteed $2000 a game with ten per cent on the first $5000; twenty per cent on the next $5000 and forty per cent on every dollar beyond that. On that basis, it was estimated Grange would receive between $20,000 and $30,000 for his first game.

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 23.—With everything to gain and nothing to lose the fall-end coast conference football team, Oregon, will entrain for Seattle tomorrow to meet the conference leading University of Washington Huskies on Thanksgiving day.

Oregon, losing every coast conference game she has played this year, has reached a devil-may-care attitude. The men are primed to pull startling plays at startling times in a last effort to do something this year.

The fans expect Oregon to get another crushing, and a bad one this time. The team doesn't expect it. That, the coaches say, is at least one good indication.

PRESIDENT'S FATHER HAS RELAPSE

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—President Coolidge's father, Colonel John C. Coolidge, who is seriously ill here with heart trouble, today entered the second week of his fight for health, faced with the necessity of regaining ground lost yesterday.

After having made cheering progress for several days he failed slightly Sunday, suffering a number of heart blocks. Major James F. Coupal, the president's personal medical adviser, was plainly disappointed by the patient's failure to show continued improvement.

He was unwilling to discuss the number of heart blocks suffered or to say anything of their severity or of their effect upon Colonel Coolidge. Instead he indicated that his decision not to call Washington to report on the case ought to signify that no ground existed for alarm.

Commenting on Lieutenant Sheridan's testimony that three scout planes were totally wrecked while attempting to land aboard the Langley, Lieutenant Gurley said the accidents referred to were but minor mishaps such as blown out tires and ripped wings.

Gurley said that Sheridan refused to "take a chance" when offered opportunity to fly off the Langley, but that he was "content to watch us land and take off day in and day out and expressed amazement that there were no casualties."

The reported testimony of Lieutenant Sheridan said he observed six crashes in fourteen landings made on the decks of the Langley.

As pilot of the plane which Sheridan testified had crashed into other planes on the deck of the Langley, Gurley said that all ships which figured in the accident were reported ready for duty three hours later.

AIR CRITIC QUESTIONED

that a complete change be made in our national defensive policy in the Pacific, so as to utilize Alaska as an offensive and defensive point."

Another request on which no action was taken, he said, was for the building of a plane with a speed of 200 miles an hour, at an altitude of 3000 feet and a cruising radius of 1500 miles.

Asked if he was in command at Langley field, Virginia, in 1921 when the eagle airship left for Washington and crashed in a storm, killing six persons, Colonel Mitchell said he was not.

The defense turned Colonel Mitchell over to Major Allen Gullion, assistant trial judge advocate, after less than two hours of questioning. No mention was made of the San Antonio statements on which charges against him were based.

Major Gullion took the witness over subjects dealing with the Hawaiian maneuvers and during this phase of the examination Colonel Mitchell said Japan was the "theoretical enemy in these war games."

The trial judge advocate also remarked that a plan for the defense of the Pacific announced by Colonel Mitchell on September 5, would cost $24,700,000,000, or twice the entire wealth of the United States.

"Your plan," Major Gullion said, addressing the witness, "would require 125,000 submarines to make the defense of the Pacific effective against Japan."

"It would require twice the wealth of the United States, and since the United States is wealthier than Japan, don't you think Japan would be embarrassed in trying such a plan?"

HONOLULU, Nov. 23.—(A. P.)—Statements made by Lieutenant H. W. Sheridan before the court martial of Colonel William Mitchell at Washington were branded as misleading and inaccurate today by Lieutenant D. D. Gurley, a naval flier stationed at Pearl Harbor. The lieutenant was a pilot aboard the U. S. S. Langley during maneuvers off the Hawaiian islands.

Gurley said that Sheridan refused to "take a chance" when offered opportunity to fly off the Langley, but that he was "content to watch us land and take off day in and day out and expressed amazement that there were no casualties."

The reported testimony of Lieutenant Sheridan said he observed six crashes in fourteen landings made on the decks of the Langley.

As pilot of the plane which Sheridan testified had crashed into other planes on the deck of the Langley, Gurley said that all ships which figured in the accident were reported ready for duty three hours later.

"Yes."

"You were willing to marry a girl who stayed with you at the Marie Antoinette and confessed that she was an impure girl, but you were not willing that she should have a tinge of colored blood?"

"As to the color, I drew the line."
