ANFIELD PLAN S ENDORSED BY COUNTY COURT

connection with the discussion he O. & C. land grant taxes ned due Jackson county, as ex- ed by W. H. Gore at the Stan- meeting Tuesday evening, and ssed by the senator the follow- was adopted by the county court:

Preample and Resolutions.

hereas in 1916 the federal con- enacted legislation divesting S. P. railroad company of title 42,158 acres of lands in Jackson ty, Oregon, known as the O. & ailroad Land Grant Lands, and sting the title to these lands in federal government, and,

hereas said legislation was sub- antly approved, sustained and irmed by a decree of the su- e court of the United States, hereas, the said act and decree the effect of removing perma- ly the assessed value of the s from the tax rolls of Jackson ty, and hereas the assessed value of the lands, in 1916, being approxi- ly $4,000,000 their said removal the tax rolls entailed a loss the county in tax revenue, for ears succeeding, in the approxi- sum of $84,000 per year, and hereas the sum of $84,000 in ad- to all other tax revenues avail- was required to defray the cost dministration of county affairs also to pay the portion of state apportioned to Jackson county, hereas these conditions laid upon taxpayers of Jackson county an l burden of tax and increased 6 per cent to 18 per cent the le levies upon their properties state and county purposes, and hereas these excessive levies, by on of the conditions set out in, have in many cases proved catory to the extent that they contributory to a speedy and sure ription of the equity of the yer in the property assessed, hereas these conditions are such o render the necessity of an al for immediate relief impera- and hereas, in view of all the facts, itions and considerations here- oted, an undertaking has been ated, to enlist the co-operation ll other counties of the state ted in like manner, in an effort ecure an adjustment of the tax aues lost to the counties by vir- of the aforesaid federal action, uch appropriation of federal s for the purpose to be paid tly to the counties in proportion e tax revenues of which the sev- counties were deprived through federal action first above de- ed, and hereas, precedent is not lacking the appropriation of federal s for this purpose in that con- has given some recognition to claim by the appropriation of 000, which sum was paid to son county to reimburse the ury of Jackson county for taxes dy levied for the years 1913, 1915, upon the lands above red to, but not collected by son county.

erefore, be it resolved by the by court of Jackson county, Ore- this 26th day of November, 1925:

at we heartily commend and in- the undertaking initiated as ated and pledge our active co- ation and support in the effort complish the objects herein set and it further resolved, that we ed at once to obtain the co- ation of the county courts in all ties of Oregon affected as Jack- county has been affected in this er in a concerted effort to at- the purpose declared herein: ly, to secure reimbursement the tax revenues of which the ties have been deprived in the ner hereinabove recited.

The mother, Marie Andersen, is in the county jail, held on charges of manufacturing and possessing illicit liquor and the father, George Andersen, is being hunted by the police.

MINING NEWS OF SOUTHWESTERN OREGON

Edited by Southwestern Oregon Mining Bureau.

Opportunity for Prosperity.

GRANTS PASS, Nov. 28.—Prosperity depends on production and production depends on the employment of both capital and labor. Employment of labor depends wholly on capital; therefore, every city, town, and district continually seeking to interest capital in what they have to offer. With the natural resources of the west well along in their development those few districts which still have outstanding resources yet to receive the attention of capital are fortunate indeed, and districts where climatic and other conditions are ideal for work the year round are doubly fortunate.

Such is southern Oregon. Nature has been lavish, in providing abundant rich natural resources for the development, man, and furnishing the ideal setting in whic hto carry forward such development. To develop these resources requires capital, and abundant capital is available provided what we have to offer is brought to the attention of capital in a proper manner. One man, working alone, cannot make much headway, but cooperation on the part of all, if consistent, will bring the desired result.

One of the best opportunities yet presented to bring our resources to the attention of capital is through an adequate display of our ores at the Northwest Mining Convention at Spokane, Washington, on November 30th to December 5th, where upwards of 500 prominent mining men, or their representatives, from all over the country will be in attendance. As prosperity benefits all so the burden of bringing about prosperity is the burden of all. The expense of the Spokane exhibit and delegation is not excessive, and if every person interested in the prosperity of this section does his or her part, it will be no hardship on anyone.

The fund for this purpose is still short of the requirements. The work must go on, and you should arrange to help in making the results desired possible by sending in such sum as you may be able to do to the Southwestern Oregon Mining Bureau, Grants Pass, Oregon. Do not wait for some one to come and see you about the matter, but act promptly even though the amount is small, as the time is short.

Local Mining News

As fine specimens of cinnebar ore as mining men in this locality have been privileged to see reached the Mining Bureau this week from the Golden Fleece mine at Ashland, owned by Mrs. L. A. Phillips. Part of the specimens will be taken to Spokane for the exhibit of the Northwest Mining Convention to be held on November 30th to December 5th.

Work on the Little Wonder Mine on the Applegate, owned by Al Love and W. T. Wright, developed a vein of high grade ore last week, the ore showing free gold in generous quantities.

The Alameda mine sent in specimens of its characteristic ores this week for the Bureau's mineral display. This property has a large amount of development work done with an enormous tonnage blocked out.

John A. Burgess, mining engineer of San Francisco, spent several days in southwestern Oregon last week, investigating several properties for Los Angeles capital.

Jim Ryno of the Pleasant Creek mining company, was a business visitor this week purchasing supplies for his property.

Lack of fall rains is still holding placer operations up. The Mount Reuben mine, where the long tunnel is being driven, was compelled to close down awaiting additional water supply.

More outside mining men have called at the Mining Bureau during the past week to examine the display of ores than have done so in any like period since the display was started.

L. E. Klump, owner of the Greenback mine in the Greenback district, is in San Francisco this week in connection with mining matters.

J. M. Whorton, president of the Metals Extraction & Refining company, is spending the week in Portland and Seattle, in connection with black sand matters.

Several mining men from the Coos Bay district have visited Grants Pass this week investigating the process of Metals Extractions & Refining company for the recovery of the fine gold and platinum values from the beach sands.

The delegates from the southwestern Oregon Mining Bureau to the Northwest Mining Convention at Spokane will leave Saturday night accompanied by a good display of our ores. The high grade specimens will be sent through banking channels properly insured. Have you done your bit?

Mining Truth, official organ of the Northwest Mining Association at Spokane, will publish an enlarged edition December 1st, on account of the convention to be held there the coming week. The Southwestern Oregon Mining District will be represented in this issue, as usual.

The November 10th issue of Engineering and Mining Journal-Press carries a front page cut of one of the big pipe lines used in dydraulic placering in Southern Oregon.

Weight of Metals.

"To settle an argument, will you please let me know the weight of a cubic foot of gold; also of lead and platinum."

A cubic foot of gold, platinum and lead weighs:

Gold	(troy)	1465
Platinum	(troy)	1621
Lead	(avoirdupois)	710

The above weights are average values, the density of metals being somewhat greater when they are rolled, compared with when they are cast.

This is reminiscent of the old query as to which is the heavier, a pound of gold or a pound of feathers, a pound of feathers being the heavier because it is weighed by avoirdupoise weight, in which a pound consists of 7000 grains, whereas gold is weighed by troy weight, in which a pound is only 5760 grains. This variation in the meaning of the word "pound," "ounce" and "ton" causes many misunderstandings and is one of the chief arguments for the metric system.—Engineering Mining Journal-Press.

Seattle Club Delegates

Trustees of the Seattle Mining club have announced the election of Maurice D. Leehey, W. C. Shaw, Falcon Joslin and Milnor Roberts, dean of the School of Mines at the University of Washington, as delegates to the thirtieth annual convention of the Northwest Mining Association to be held at Spokane next week.

The Screen

By Ye Press Agent.

Hunt's Craterian.

"Pretty Ladies," at the Hunt's Craterian tomorrow, is a story based on life in the follies and gives an intimate closeup fo the artists before the footlights, in the wings, dressing rooms, back stage and in their homes.

The leading roles are played by ZaSu Pitts and Tom Moore. The other members of the cast are Conrad Nagel, Norma Shearer, Lilyan Tshman, Anna Pennington, Roy D'Arcy and Helena D'Arcy.

Raymond Ballard has arranged a wonderful program of the latest popular hits to accompany this new feature.

"Sally of the Sawdust," a classic of comedy, closes at Hunts Craterian tonight.

A circus waif and her guardian, as lovable a scalawag as ever picked a necessary pocket are the principal characters, with love amounding and adventures galore.

The story is alive with joy and gaiety, tinged with pathos, but never for an instant heavy in its tread, and galloping to a close.

At the Rialto.

The love of a press room employee for his gigantic singing, whirling multiple press; his love for his son and his family; his devotion to duty, and the love of his daughter for a young reporter, form some of the human elements that enter "The Last Edition," a driving melodrama of the newspaper profession. But beyond these human elements, the picture is redolent of the spirit of newspaperdom, and catches with rare insight the fascinating atmosphere of that engaging business. "The Last Edition" will be seen at the Rialto Sunday matinee and Monday.

"Black Lightning," the famous dog story of the Ozark mountains, closes at the Rialto tonight. It has a cast of five men and but one woman, with the star role being taken by "Thunder"—The Marvel Dog.

Charming little Clara Bow, is the only woman in the cast.
