SAILOR JACK TO WRESTLE HERE LAST OF MONTH

Medford wrestling fans are promised a good card at the Hillary hall March 26 when Sailor Jack Wood of this city will meet either Bull Montana of Loveland or Karahick of Portland, where he is known as the Russian Lion. Sailor Jack made preliminary arrangements with Montana in Fresno, Cal., Tuesday night when the wrestler appeared on a card there. I tell you the Medford wrestler that if he works on a motion picture, in which he is now appearing, is completed at an early date he would appear in Medford, and said that indications were good at this time, as he has only one more piece of acting to complete. Sailor Jack wrestled Alex Leoff in Fresno and threw him in 15 minutes, while Bull Montana wrestled Ray Castle. An interesting feature of the card was the fact that Jack Dempsey, the world's heavyweight champion fighter, acted as referee for the entire evening.

TED THYE WINS HECTIC MATCH FROM KAUFFMAN

PORTLAND, Ore., March 15.—(AP)—One of the shortest and most spectacular wrestling matches ever staged here was awarded Ted Thye over Cleve Kauffman here last night. It required eight minutes and forty seconds of actual wrestling. Thirty-seven seconds after the men shook hands, Kauffman had Thye pounding the floor, when Kauffman grabbed his legs and had Thye in a wicked crab hold. The second fall went Thye in three minutes, 42 seconds, when Kauffman, sitting set for another crab hold, was sent on his back from the force of Thye's feet opening on his chin. Thye piling on top. The final fall came after four minutes, 29 seconds, during which Rudy Warner, who was refereeing, took a wild swing from Kauffman on the chin and while he was out Kauffman crashed Thye to the mat with a flying headlock. Kauffman started looking for the referee, which gave Thye his chance to get out from under and turn the tables, rolling Kauffman on his back. Warner, over Kauffman's bitter protest awarded the fall to Thye. Clean rags wanted at the Mail Tribune office.

JUSTICE F. IS FAVORITE FOR SUNDAY DERBY

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 15.—(AP)—With only three days more in which to complete conditioning for the Coffroth handicap to be run at the Tilamook track Sunday, a score of candidates for the rich turf prize which is worth more than $100,000, will settle down this morning to a period of very easy workouts. With the return of clear skies after light showers Tuesday evening, the indications today were that the field will go to the post on a fast track allowing a real test of speed and endurance. The judgment of expert horsemen some time ago installed as favorite W. Danle's Justice F., winner of the New Orleans handicap, where he showed his worth by packing a heavy impost to a convincing victory. That he will have plenty of contention was indicated by the arrival at Tilamook the other day of Handy Mandy, great race mare, who last summer set a new American record for a mile and a half. Others who have attracted close attention of horsemen are Carlaris, winner of the 1926 Coffroth; Bob Rogers, just in from New Orleans; Crystal Pennant, Can-

AL MELVIN WAS STAR OF M. H. S. FIRST VICTORY

SALEM, Ore., March 15.—(AP)—Medford and The Dalles high schools went into the lead of the state high school basketball championship fight by winning the first two games played. The Tigres picked up a 22-16 victory over The Dalles team from Medford in the first game. The second game was a drab affair of mediocre basketball, from which The Dalles picked up a 22-16 victory. The exciting performance of Earl Gibson, who rolled up 19 points, was the only bright spot in this tilt. This morning at 9:20 o'clock Wagona will play Marshfield, and at 10:20 o'clock Washington high school of Portland will mix with the Enterprise high of Eugene. Astoria and Salem make their debut in the first class at 7:29 o'clock tonight with Medford and The Dalles playing the second game at 8:20.

ELY, Nev.—George Eagle, Chicago, knocked out Jimmy Ross, Pocatello, Idaho (4). REPORTED RESCUE FALSE (Continued from Page One.) The Endeavour's gasoline supply must have been exhausted for several hours as there was no hope that the plane was still in the air. The vague reports that arrived during the day of planes landing or being sighted at various points were hopelessly soiled upon by an anxious public but lack of confirmation of each soon caused these fleeting hopes to fade. The deepest anxiety, naturally, was felt in the London homes most intimately associated with the flight—that of Lord Incheape, the father of Elsie MacKay, and that of Captain Hinchcliffe in Purley. Mrs. Hinchcliffe was said to be bearing up well under the strain, but in contrast with her willingness to discuss her husband's flight yesterday she denied herself today to visitors. Harvey Lloyd, the flier's agent, met all inquirers at the door. "She is endeavoring to keep as cheerful as she can," he said, "but naturally she is becoming really anxious and also is very tired and weary, as she has been waiting up all night for news." The absence of Lord and Lady Incheape in Egypt, watch at the Incheape mansion was being kept by the household staff and news of the flier's being awaited with the greatest concern. BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Mar. 15.—(AP)—The possibility that Captain Hinchcliffe and the Honorable Elsie MacKay may not have been able to get far out to sea because of a snow storm raging when the Endeavour passed over Ireland Tuesday has been advanced here. Acting on this theory General O'Duffy has issued instructions to the civic guards of Kerry and Cork to be on the alert in the hope, however slender, that the fliers may have been picked up. Sketch of Elsie M. Kay LONDON, Eng., Mar. 15.—(AP)—The attempt of the Honorable Elsie MacKay to fly the Atlantic with Captain Walter Hinchcliffe stirred recollections today of her adventurous career. From childhood the 25-year-old daughter of the noted ship owner, Lord Incheape, led an active life. She was a good rider and a keen follower of the fox hounds, showing complete fearlessness in hunting. Her love for the theatre, when she was quite young, led her to become an actress on both the stage and in motion pictures. When she was 17 in her twenties she was leading the "Grumpy" with Cyril Maude under the name of Poppy Wyndham. At that time she was married to the actor, Captain Dennis Wyndham. She had met him while visiting in her mother's hospital during the war. The marriage was subsequently annulled and she resumed her maiden name. The actor did not suffice in satisfying her astounding energy, and she took up flying. She was a pupil of Sir Alan Cobham, Britain's aerial taximan. Soon she became proficient in the handling of planes and got a flying certificate in 1922. Since then she had been an enthusiastic aviator, frequently making trips by plane to Paris, Scotland and other points. She also took a close interest in her father's business and was reputed to know as much about shipping as Lord Incheape. Lord Incheape was proud of his clever daughter and she was said to adore him but not without some awe. She was of a fearless and generous disposition and it was believed she looked forward to being able to cable him from America: "Am here, flew across with Hinchcliffe." She felt sure he would be proud of her achievement when he had learned she was safe. Lord and Lady Incheape at present are in Egypt. Lady Hailley Lauda. VALETTA, Malta, Mar. 15.—(AP)—Lady Hailley, British aviator enthusiast, now on a solo flight to Capotown, arrived at 2 o'clock from Cattania, Sicily.
