

BOY RUNS AWAY RATHER THAN FACE MOTHER

SALEM, Ore., March 21.—(AP)—The story of a little boy who ran away from home rather than face a disillusioned mother was slowly unfolded to Salem police officers today.

The flaxen-haired youngster was taken into custody late last night as he wandered aimlessly on the streets without a hat and clad in overalls, but it was not until today that officers found that his name was Bitney Ellingford, and that his home is in Hillsboro.

All he would say last night was that he was nine years old and that he had beaten his way from Portland to Salem on the rear of a motor bus. Officers attempted to frighten him into giving up the desired information by a threat of detention in the State Reform school. He said he would rather go there than tell his mother about his trouble.

A little later he weakened and called for an officer to whom he admitted he had run up several small bills on merchants in Hillsboro.

No charge will be made against the boy. His parents say they will pay the bills gladly, and will come to Salem for him today.

ROBINSON IS RAZZED

"I am talking about the governor of New York now," Robinson shouted.

"But the senator says birds of a feather will flock together," Dill, democrat of Washington, interjected.

Robinson was asked by Senator Harrison, democrat of Mississippi if he was not the attorney for D. C. Stephenson, now serving a life term in Michigan City, Ind., penitentiary for murder.

"I was," Robinson replied.

"Rather my law firm was attorney for Mr. Stephenson on some city matters. That is a matter of record and the senator does not have to ask me about it."

Senator Barkley interposed to remark that he did not hope the analogy of "birds of a feather flock together" went back that far.

Senator Copeland of New York asked the Indiana senator when he makes his promised speech on Friday to inform the senate "if it is so common to have republicans approached in matters like this that he has lost his sense of decency to insinuations such as were made about Governor Smith."

Obtaining the floor as half a dozen other democrats sought it, Senator Harrison of Mississippi laid that in the light of Governor Smith's answer, "it will seem to the country that it came in poor grace from the senator from Indiana to make such wild insinuations."

Asserting that Robinson soon is to come up for reelection, the Mississippi recalled that Will H. Hays is a resident of that state and adverted to the testimony at Chicago by James P. Connery before the Teapot Dome committee that the $5,000 in securities which Sinclair had refused to Hays out of the celebrated political pool had been used to cover Hays' speculation on the stock market.

"But the senator thinks he must bring to his aid the influence if not the bond of Mr. Hays," Harrison declared. "Birds of a feather flock together."

"The recent campaign of the senator from Indiana was run by Clyde Wall, who is under indictment for fraud."

"Birds of a feather flock together."

HARDING ESTATE CLEARED

Washington, D. C., March 21.—(AP)—The committee of the House on the Harding estate today cleared the name of the late president's son-in-law, saying that the late president's estate was not defrauded by the late president's son-in-law.

Senator Walsh read from the testimony of George White in 1924 that Dooley gave $90,000 during the 1920 campaign and in 1921 gave $25,000 to help liquidate the deficit after the Harding-Cox campaign.

White testified that Sinclair was a republican and so was not solicited.

WIFE RESCUES SHERIFF HUBBY WITH 6-SHOOTER

DEL RIO, Tex., Mar. 21.—(AP)—Effective use of a six-shooter has enabled Mrs. H. S. Cloud to rescue her husband for the second time this winter after he had been overpowered by convicts he was escorting to the state penitentiary.

How Mrs. Cloud, wife of a state penitentiary agent, probably saved her husband's life Friday was revealed when they arrived here yesterday en route to the prison at Huntsville with 20 of the 21 prisoners they were transporting.

Mrs. Cloud was driving one of the three machines used to carry the prisoners, when the four men in her husband's car attacked him. The prisoners apparently had planned the attack and waited until the cars reached the arid country near Marfa, when they seized Cloud's pistol and attempted to shoot him. Finding he had removed the cartridges, the men beat him with the weapon and when he produced a knife, they took it from him.

Her attention attracted by the shouts of her husband, Mrs. Cloud escaped from her machine, sprang into her auto, and she approached Cloud's car, she opened fire with a pistol on two of the men who started to run. She wounded one and he was surrounded, as did two others. One escaped.

S. F. Birth Rate Drops

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 21.—(AP)—Slump in the San Francisco birth rate from 9620 to 8244 annually since 1924 was reported by the city health bureau. The decrease was blamed in part on the fact that San Francisco has become a city of apartment house dwellers.

BOOTLEGGER WHO SHIELDED SLAYER IS SHOT IN BACK

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Mar. 21.—(AP) Morris Nadel, bootlegger who shielded Pat McDermott, one of those convicted of the killing of Don R. Mellett, Canton editor, and an unidentified companion, were found slain in their automobile on a lonely road near here this morning.

Nadel's head and shoulders had 13 bullet wounds while seven bullets had entered his companion's body. Authorities said they apparently had been shot from the rear seat after being induced to take at least two gunmen for a ride. The killers escaped in another machine, investigators said.

Officers believed the slayings were an outgrowth of southern Ohio bootlegging feuds dating back to liquor investigations which followed Mellett's killing at Canton nearly two years ago.

Nadel, convicted of hiding a felon through hiding McDermott before the latter's capture, was free under $25,000 bond pending his trial.

"I do not propose," continued the letter, "that either you or Senator Robinson shall escape public humiliation for the infamous insinuations you have made.

You evidently calculated that people would be misled into believing that I was in some way a beneficiary of the oil scandal. This, no doubt, is a republican council of desperation."

PORTLAND BANK LOSES $9000 IN J'VILLE FORGERY

PORTLAND, Ore., Mar. 21.—(AP) Ladd & Tilton bank was held liable for $9000 in government gold notes, which were negotiated through the institution in 1929. In March and April of that year there was $9000 worth of gold note certificates deposited for safe keeping with the bank of Jacksonville, having been deposited there by Andrew Cantrell and George Fisk, the owners of record.

W. H. Johnson, ex-president of the bank, which later became defunct, forged the signatures of the owners to the notes and sent them to the Portland bank. Ladd & Tilton paid for the notes and then negotiated them through the federal reserve bank at San Francisco, the treasury department issuing coupon notes in lieu of them.

When the forgery was discovered, the government purchased gold notes on the open market and re-

The special meetings being conducted at the Presbyterian church are very inspiring and enjoyable to those in attendance. Rev. Mell sang a solo Monday night that was worth going a long way to hear. The services start promptly at 7:30 and close promptly as well, so that an hour at this time of the evening will not greatly interfere with other duties you may have to do. The Medford pastors are going to a great deal of sacrifice to come out here and give us of the best of their talents, and the community should respond by giving them a hearing. Mrs. Patterson will have the service Wednesday evening, assisted by the pictures illustrating the song, "Holy City." There has been some misunderstanding about this service, owing to the conflict in the first announcement. The church should be packed for this service Wednesday evening.
