O. S. C. BAND AND ORCHESTRA TO PLAY TOMORROW

The Oregon State College Concert band of forty pieces and an eight-piece college orchestra will arrive tomorrow noon on a special car attached to the Shasta from Glendale, where the organization will present a concert and dance tonight. According to telegraphic news from R. W. Coopey, manager of the band, from Roseburg this morning, the band played to a packed house at the armory in that city last night.

The band will play a one-night engagement at the armory tomorrow night and after an hour's concert an eight-piece college orchestra will entertain with dance music until midnight.

The high school band, under the directorship of F. Wilson Wait, will join the O. S. C. band in playing the last two numbers. Mr. Wait will direct one number and Captain Beard the other.

The O. S. C. orchestra of eight pieces will broadcast over station KMED tomorrow from 12:15 to 1:15 p. m.

POST OFFICE BURGLAR TAKEN TO PORTLAND

Deputy United States Marshall C. C. Wells left this forenoon for Portland with John Oscar in custoday for the burglary and robbery of the Eagle Point postoffice over two months ago. Oscar has been held in the county jail here for several weeks and is now facing a federal charge which was filed against him by government post-office inspectors. Oscar will stand trial with James O'Neil, who is accused of working with him in the burglary of the postoffice, which netted approximately $30 in loot. Deputy Wells will return to his headquarters here next Monday.

PROF. HUSSONG FINDS ELEPHANT FOSSIL REMAINS

Prof. E. M. Hussong of the biological department of the high school, reports anohter rich find of fossil elephant bones from the beds of the Oswald ranch, Antelope Creek. These bones, with many others, were dug out recently by Herman Oswald and brought in to the high school for identification and preservation. A layer of blue clay is extruding upward through the overlying strata and in this these aged fossils are found. Another perfect molar tooth 2x8x10 inches, a ball from the upper joint of the right hip femur eight inches in diameter, and a trapezoidal bone from the ankle are among the ones found. Part of the skeleton of a smaller one, probably a baby elephant, has also been exhumed from its pleistocene burial vault.

Charles Oswald and his sons, Herman and Victor, have added a new chapter to the book of nature by these discoveries. This ancient cemetery of the Elephas Columbi may reveal many buried treasures of that remote period of living things. Tusks, backbones, skulls and other skeletal remains could possibly be found by further digging. The Oswald fossil beds may be an added attraction to Medford visitors in future years.

TERRY TALENT WILL REMAIN ON THE JOB

After having testified yesterday afternoon before the grand jury, which has been in session for nearly two weeks on special investigation work, Federal Prohibition Agent Terry Talent left last night for his temporary headquarters in Portland. According to present plans, he will return to southern Oregon to resume duties in three weeks as the federal enforcement agent for southern Oregon, this section still being his post of duty.

MEDFORD PLANS TO ENTER BASE BALL LEAGUE

Formation of a baseball league composed of Weed, Dunsmuir, Klamath Falls, and this city, looms as the result of a meeting held Wednesday at Yreka, Calif., when representatives of eight southern Oregon and northern California towns conferred. There were representatives present from the four above named towns, and Gold Hill, Grants Pass, Shasta City and Yreka.

A meeting for the formation of the league has been called for April 18, when a schedule will be adopted. It is planned to have a season of 16 games, to start May 13.

J. Court Hall of this city, has agreed to manage the local team, and is mapping his plans. He says he cannot do it all alone, and asks that he be given some assistance from baseball enthusiasts like Chris Gottlieb, Al Piche, et al.

At the Yreka meeting it was agreed that each club put up $100 to pay for umpires and balls, etc.

Mr. Hall says that he intends to ask each business house to render financial assistance to the extent of a dollar a month, and that others will be assessed 50 cents per month. If the club does not need the monthly fee, it will not be collected.

Manager Hall believes that with one team in the valley, he can make a success of it, by receiving the undivided support of all the fans. He has started dickering with players, and has his eye out for a pitcher with a "fast ball and a sudden curve." Bill Force is a good enough catcher, says Mr. Hall.

Manager Hall expects to have have his team out practicing in a month.

MULLINS STORE WILL OPEN SOON

Mullins, Medford's newest store, will open its doors next week to Medford and southern Oregon people who are anxiously awaiting the enjoyable opening party which has been promised by H. R. Jacobs, manager of the new store. The former location of the Crater Lake Hardware has been completely remodeled and carpenters and painters are busily putting on the finishing touches in time for the opening next week.

Those who attend the opening of Mullin's will be agreeably surprised as this new store will be exceptionally attractive. Chic ready-to-wear, personally selected by Mr. Jacobs in New York, will be on hand for the formal opening. These garments, according to Mr. Jacobs, will be moderately priced. Novelty slippers will also be another specialty of Mullin's new store and millinery will also be presented.

The formal opening has been delayed a few days owing to the failure of a shipment of fixtures to arrive. As soon as this shipment is received the store will be presented to Medford and southern Oregon shoppers at a formal opening party at which time favors will be given to guests, a fashion revue will be held and a musical program presented.

ASHLAND ELKS FAIL TO GIVE PROGRAM

Because of the fact that so many of the Ashland Elks could not attend the meeting of the local Elks lodge last night and provide a special entertainment, as planned, being detained at home through a big style show under American Legion auspices, that part of the courtesy visit of the Elks of the neighboring city had to be dispensed with.

However, the large delegation of Elks present from the Ashland lodge were profuse in apology and volunteered to give the entertainment program planned for last night at next Thursday night's meeting of the Medford lodge, which offer was accepted.

The officers of the Ashland lodge, however, conducted the initiation B. P. O. E. rites last night.

UMATILLA FAMILY TO RESIDE IN MEDFORD

Another desirable family will locate in Medford from eastern Oregon next month, according to a letter which City Superintendent Fred Scheffel has just received from H. M. Schilling, resident manager of the Umatilla irrigation project, and who has been in the employ of the reclamation service for years. He recently resigned the manager position.

Engineer Schilling, who with his family has been residing for years past at Hermiston, Ore., writes that they will arrive in Medford in April to make their home here. Mr. and Mrs. Schilling have two sons and one daughter, and the letter states that all are looking eagerly forward to soon becoming residents of the Rogue River valley.
