Ye Smudge Pot by Arthur Perry

Several are suffering from spring fever, which they have had all winter.

Jackson K. Frost swooped down upon the floor of the valley early today, and the horizon in the neighborhood of the foothills, given the impression that a fleet of coal burning battleships had passed that way.

The case against Peter Harry, charged with driving his auto while soured, was dismissed yesterday. Harry was nabbed by the authorities when he was proceeding at a moderate rate of speed on the right side of the road, and had paid attention to the traffic signs.

Yesterday your corr. threw himself heroically into the breach, and straightened out the inclemency of the weather, without writing to Cong. Hawley, telephoning to Portland, conferring with Rep. Briggs, Jr., of Ashland, drafting the efficiency experts of Copco, or indulging in any heavy thinking in front of the Coif.

IS THAT SO? (Topeka, Kan., Capital) It makes no difference how smart you are, the old cow won't back up to you while you are sitting in the shade to be milked.

A quintet of Mendames futilely endeavored to out-talk a lone Portland drummer yesterday.

A STAR IS WRECKED Off in the bottomless chaos of the sky a star has broken in two. The scientists have seen it through their telescopes; they know the name of the star, for men on earth have given names to nearly all the hundred million worlds which fringe against the heavens.

IF GERMANY can be kept peaceful by means of a twelve-year enlistment period, which prevents training an army, it's strang that nations bent on peace don't adopt it.

Prisoners murdered by police; alleged law violators murdered by detectives. Wasn't Russia awful in the old days!

Correct this sentence: "The man who went wrong was a preacher," said he, "but the headlines didn't mention that."

THIS IS ROCKNEY FLINT'S SECOND DAY ON THE STAND AND NOT WITH STANDING JUDGE NIBLICK'S ORDERS TO TELL THE STORY OF HIS DAUGHTER—HE DIDN'T COME THROUGH.

AN UNSPEAKABLE OUTRAGE

FOR brazen effrontery and sheer contempt for all considerations of Law and Justice, this Remus case surpasses anything in the history of American jurisprudence.

When this leading bootlegger of Cincinnati was acquitted by a jury for the cold-blooded and brutal murder of his wife, on the "sole ground of insanity," we predicted that in a few years he would follow in Harry Thaw's footsteps, be released from the asylum as sane, and be free to shoot down the next victim of his homicidal wrath.

We predicted that outcome, but we never imagined it would take place in ninety days after the jury verdict.

Nevertheless, such is the case. And as far as we can determine such a nauseating travesty on justice arouses no active protest on the part of the people of the great state of Ohio.

In a country where such a thing can occur, how can anyone expect a decline of the crime wave, or expect that the United States will ever cease to be a Paradise for murderers and cutthroats.

How can anyone blame a boy like Hickman from declaring that he is a victim of a legal system, that has one law for the rich man and another for the man who is poor?

Does anyone deny that if Remus had been a poor man, without the power that wealth gives, he would now be facing the fate that faces Hickman, and the impecunious Nit-Wits, Willos and Kelly, in this state?

Unlike Willos and Kelly, Remus not only killed, but admitted the killing, gloried in it, and then fell back on that first-aid for every rich murderer without a defense,—the defense of insanity.

It worked. It not only worked, but in less than three months after a jury released Remus because he WAS crazy, one of the highest courts in the state of Ohio released him because he WASN'T crazy.

And this is in civilized America, the greatest nation the world has ever seen!

QUILL POINTS

A hick town is a place where a nude seems naked. In America, swank consists in using the word "swank." A natural-born sucker is one who thinks his money will be refunded. A woman killed her husband with a can opener. But what's news about that?

The political machines most apparent to the layman are a Reed planter and a Smith harvester.

If he can get into a union suit in an upper berth, doubtless he can light a pipe with a patent cigar lifter.

If he'd rather have a new $2000 car than a second-hand Rolls, his banker admires him and his tailor doesn't.

If Mr. Hoover isn't a politician, how do you explain his remarkable foresight in the selection of his enemies?

The old-timer made trousers last five years, but how did he make the waist expand five inches?

Americanism: Whooping it up for expansion; kicking about increasing taxes.

In the old days, the legs men studied while waiting at the barber shop were in the Police Gazette.

Another good way to keep from growing old is to try verifying the manufacturer's claim that she'll do eighty.

Mr. Sinclair has tried everything except an appeal to the precedent which entitles every dog to one bite.

"It is easy to stand still; still easier to go backward." Let try it in a busy cafeteria.

The average man can't see much wrong in a land where black stockings are coming back and red hats are already here.

If Germany can be kept peaceful by means of a twelve-year enlistment period, which prevents training an army, it's strang that nations bent on peace don't adopt it.

Prisoners murdered by police; alleged law violators murdered by detectives. Wasn't Russia awful in the old days!

Little book review: "Tragedy at Ravensthorpe," by J. Conington (Little, Brown & Co.) To be read in daylight if you're nervous.

Personal Health Service By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene... Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered here.

THAT SPRING SONG MAKES ONE TIRED The cutting of teeth is a natural normal, painless process and requires no treatment.

I fear that never in this world will the spring come when some fuzzy wishbone prophet doesn't remind us of the danger of going out without our heavy underwear on. There's no doubt in my mind about the cause of my tired feeling: it is that perennial spring song.

Had my editorial friend called upon me a paragraph earlier, I have suggested that while he was at it he ought to plant a few more things under the edges of the smudgy snowbanks.

But what has Dr. Brady to do with a question of fact? Either disease germs lurk or they do not lurk. As to that, I can assure my editorial friend that he is as muddled as he is muffed.

When I was a young man I didn't use 'I think nothin' o' holdin' a big 100-pound girl on my lap an' a bulky 15-pound photograph album besides," said Gabby Crew.

At the next annual meeting of the American Editorial association I'm going to try and read a paper advocating a change in the tempo of the spring song.

USE OF AFFLICTION You have a dark and concave pain, enough to drive a man insane; throughout the night you walk the floor and bat your head against the door,

I tried your way of making coffee and found it very good, but why wait half an hour for the coffee to soak? Please try mine.

Answer—It is not essential to wait half an hour. I merely meant that it is all right to let the freshly ground coffee stand in the cold water half an hour or longer, if convenient.
