

WALSH DENIES HE IS MCADOO TOOL TO DEFEAT SMITH

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Emphasizing that he had not altered the democratic presidential contest to "beat Smith," Senator Walsh of Montana, in a letter to the state central committee of his home state made public today, urged that the fight for the Houston nomination be conducted on a sportsmanlike basis free from recrimination.

Walsh, thanking the committee for its endorsement, said that the response to his entrance into the democratic contest "has been more generous than there was any reason to expect."

"It is needless to assure those who know me as well as you do," the Montana senator said, "that I could not be prevailed upon to participate in any contest to help wreak vengeance on any man."

Commenting on the support given his candidacy by William G. McAdoo, Mr. Walsh recalled his longstanding with the former treasury secretary and that their views on public questions are approximately identical.

"If any further explanation were necessary to account for the interest of Mr. McAdoo in my candidacy," the senator declared, "it might easily be found in the fact that above every issue of the campaign before us prominence will be given to the eradication of the revolting corruption shown to exist in our national life and to infest the republican organization, in the exposures of which it is fallen to my lot to have made a more or less conspicuous part.

"It would be reasonable, if not generous, to a great degree, to assume that he, in common with multitudes of others, entertains the belief that perhaps I would most fittingly lead in a fight to assure the cutting away of that cancer and that possibly the selection of another candidate might imply a tolerant spirit to it within the democratic ranks, a spirit approved by that exhibition among republican leaders with few notable exceptions from the president down."

Senator Walsh assailed the administration of the departments of justice and the federal trade commission, declared that restoration of agriculture "may well commend the utmost resources of statesmanship," urged the development of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway and the Colorado river and stressed the necessity of Mississippi river flood control.

"There are no great crying abuses to be corrected by national legislation, save in our fiscal system and except for the resurgence of government by injunction," said Senator Walsh, "the reforms demanded by the times are in the executive and administrative branches."

Mr. Walsh's letter was addressed to W. W. McDowell, chairman of the democratic state central committee in Montana.

Under the amendments now being considered, the various councils, to represent each commodity, would be named by the president with the consent of the senate rather than by the farm board. Furthermore, the board would be required to have the consent of each council before it could impose the equalization fee on a commodity under control of that council.

However, there are indications that Senator McNary, author of the bill, is not strongly opposed to the changes which could still clear the way for final disposition of the bill early next week.

Gardane recently received prominence as being one of the captors of William Edward Hickman. He is an experienced peace officer.

It serves about two-thirds of the state of Montana, which has an area of 148,000 square miles, with hydro-electric power.

SOUTHERN SOLONS POLE AND ATLANTIC CRIMP PROGRAM FLIGHTS DELAYED FOR McNARY BILL BY FOUL WEATHER

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Unexpected opposition from senators of the cotton producing states has upset the program of senate leaders for a vote this week on the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill.

The disfavor of the southern members toward the bill cropped up today when Chairman McNary of the agriculture committee sought agreement for a vote by next Tuesday but Senator Simmons, North Carolina, blocked the move with an announcement he wished to draft some amendments.

After a conference of the senators from the cotton section, it developed that Senator McKellar, Democrat of Tennessee, intended to offer some amendments restricting the power of the proposed farm board to use the equalization fee.

Under the amendments now being considered, the various councils, to represent each commodity, would be named by the president with the consent of the senate rather than by the farm board. Furthermore, the board would be required to have the consent of each council before it could impose the equalization fee on a commodity under control of that council.

However, there are indications that Senator McNary, author of the bill, is not strongly opposed to the changes which could still clear the way for final disposition of the bill early next week.

SEWARD, Alaska, April 6.—(AP)—Cloudy weather kept Captain George H. Wilkins from starting his contemplated 21000 mile flight over the top of the world yesterday.

This was the substance of a message received here last night from Point Barrow, the most northerly tip of Alaska, from which Wilkins will make his flight to Spitzbergen in the eastern hemisphere.

Wilkins' radio call came through very faintly and much of his message was lost. He said something about "tomorrow" which was interpreted to mean he would try again to get away this morning, probably about 9 o'clock Pacific coast time.

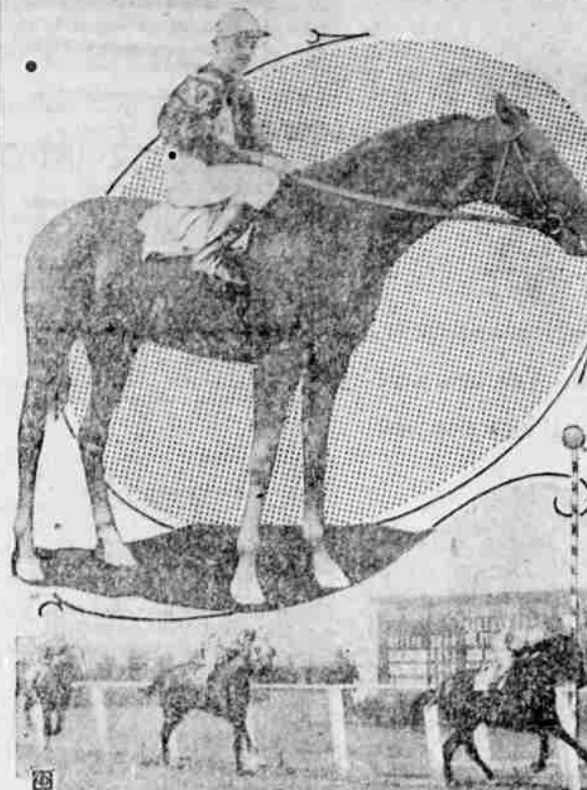

DUBLIN, April 6.—(AP)—Snow, sleet and fog over the Atlantic today kept the German plane Bremen in its hangar at Baldonnel air-drome and the fliers utilized their time in further preparations for the hop-off for New York.

Part of the duralumin was removed from one wing and mechanics tested the wings for any weakness that might have resulted from the heavy landing on a test flight Monday.

"All we can do is to hope from day to day," said Baron Von Huenefeld, sponsor of the flight, as he busied himself with plans for taking off from the sodden air field with his heavily laden plane.

DOCTOR HELD FOR BREAKING NECK

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—Louis Hoffman, a physiotherapist, held since early in March on bond while the death of Miss Eleanor M. Lehman, was being investigated, was re-arrested today on a first degree murder charge as the result of a story told to District Attorney Rover by Dorothy Monroe, who was present in Hoffman's office when his patient died.

Miss Monroe said that while Hoffman was operating on Miss Lehman the girl suddenly went into convulsions. She charged that Hoffman then rolled his patient over and deliberately broke her neck. Then she said, the man threatened her with imprisonment if she divulged the real cause of Miss Lehman's death.

Hoffman has maintained that the girl came to him for treatment for a headache and died while on the operating table.

EUGENE RAID NETS RICH BOOZE HAUL

EUGENE, Ore., April 6.—(AP)—Seventy-five gallons of liquor, 177 quarters of it bottled and "banded" for the local trade, was confiscated by county and state prohibition operators this morning in a raid on an alleged retail distribution depot.

W. W. Johnson, 27, is in the county jail facing a liquor possession charge as a result of the raid.

Fights for Dogs

Mayor Ralph S. Bauer, of Lynn, Mass., is a lover of dogs. So much so that he defied the entire state of Massachusetts when authorities passed an edict ordering the muzzling of all canines for a period of 90 days. Bauer warned policemen in the city not to heed the state edict and ordered them to arrest any state agent who entered Lynn with intent to shoot unmuzzled dogs.

VOLUNTEERS TO GUARD POLLS IN CHICAGO VOTING

CHICAGO, April 6.—(AP)—Assurances that 5000 men will guard the primary election polls next Tuesday were given today by Police Commissioner Hughes. This regiment of police will be augmented by 25,000 volunteer watchers and challengers recruited from civic organizations. The majority of volunteers was called in response to demands of rival Republican factions that each have two representatives in each of the 2755 precincts.

While bitter contests have been made by the Deeneen-Thompson groups, it is the battle over the election of ward leaders from which trouble is expected. Many ward candidates planned to sleep in hiding Monday night to avoid attempts to kidnap them.

While the army of watchers of the polls will serve as volunteers, the cost of the election will be more than $250,000, the largest ever paid in the history of the county.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 6.—(AP)—Ohio senatorial representation today was split between republicans and democrats with the appointment of Cyrus Lecher, of Cleveland, a democrat, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Frank B. Willis, who had sought the republican presidential nomination.
