JUNIOR HIGH GIVES COPCO EMPLOYES HARMONICA CONCERT

The Copco employes club enjoyed a fine program at the regular weekly forum meeting this noon featuring the Junior High School Harmonica quartet. Preceding the musical program, Miss Melba Williams gave an interesting talk on the development of the harmonica band movement which has swept the nation. The move was started in Philadelphia when Albert Hoxie became interested in the advancement of music among the youths of America and selected the harmonica as the best means of interesting the American boy in music.

The movement spread rapidly in that city and today there are 70,000 boys and girls playing the harmonica in Philadelphia. Other large cities as well as the smaller communities took up the work in the east and it is now getting a start in the west. Miss Williams has accomplished wonders in starting the movement here and is placing Medford in a position to pioneer the work in this state. With the splendid interest which is being taken here it is reasonable to assume that Medford will be in a position to capture the state title for the best harmonica band when the first contest is staged in Oregon.

Miss Williams complimented the Copco organization upon the fine spirit of cooperation shown in the movement and thanked the company for its support in helping put it over in this community.

Following the introductory talk, a diversified program of solos, duets and quartet numbers was put on by the following members of the Junior High Harmonica quartet: Bob Schreeengost, Tingley Champie, Bob Dietrich and Woodrow Shaw. Each number met with hearty applause from those present.

At the conclusion of the musical program, Horace Bromley in behalf of the Copco organization presented each member of the quartet with a "chromonica," which is the "last word" in harmonicas and wished the boys success in their work. Needless to say the youthful musicians were overjoyed to receive the type of instrument they had all been longing for.

An added attraction at the meeting was a talk on India by Hans Prossar of Lahore, India, now affiliated with the California Oregon Power company. Prossar who is a graduate of electrical engineering of the University of Washington gave some interesting sidelights on his native land which is populated by over 320 million people, one-fifth of the world's population.

The next Copco "smoker" will be held May 9th, according to an announcement made by Jack Partridge and an excellent program has been arranged for the occasion D. S. Daniels acted as chairman of today's meeting and guests included Miss Williams, Miss Ford, Hans Prossar, C. R. Braley and the members of the Junior High Harmonica quartet.

SHRINERS DINNER AT NOON TOMORROW

The Medford Shriners club, which is the only distinctive knife and fork club of the city, at which no serious matters are permitted to come up during the dining period, will hold its monthly luncheon at the Hotel Medford tomorrow noon, for which an unique entertainment has been prepared. A big attendance of Shriners is looked for.

Another event of unsual interest to the local Shriners is that tomorrow night the regular monthly meeting of Hillah temple of the Mystic Shrine will be held tomorrow night at Ashland, and this will be the last meeting of the temple prior to the ceremonial to be held May 26th, also at Ashland.

A large delegation of the local DeMolay chapter comprising the drill team or patrol, and their recently elected queen, Edna Mae Wells, left for Portland last night to attend the state convention of the DeMolay, where they hope to capture the honor of having the handsomest queen and the best drill team. Other Medford DeMolay members left for the Portland convention today.

ANNOUNCE PROGRAM FOR CELEBRATION AT KLAMATH FALLS

SELL WATER BONDS AT A PREMIUM TO PORTLAND HOUSE

The sale of the $29,000 in city water main bonds, which when bids were opened at the city council meeting last Tuesday night was deferred until the council could get in touch with various bidders to verify their understanding of the bids submitted, automatically was consummated yesterday when the Pierce, Fair company, a Portland bonding house, and the best bidder telegraphed to City Recorder Alford the affirmation of their submitted bid.

This firm paid a $464 premium for the 5 per cent interest bearing 10 year assessment bonds, redeemable by the city on and after the first year from date. This is the first time that assessment bonds of the city have ever been sold at a less rate than 6 per cent.

Keith Baughman, a former employe of the First National bank, arrived in Chile during the early part of April to beign duties as assistant observer with an astronomical observatory located on the summit of Mt. Montezuma. He will probably be located there for several years and succeeded in obtaining the position following two years of persistent applications to the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, D. C., where he spent several months before leaving for South America. A postcard from him was received here yesterday.

Medford, as well as Ashland, was represented by a delegation of lodge members at a special meeting held last night by the Central Point Rebekah lodge in honor of the state department president, Mrs. Sanderson of Potrland.

The installation of the new fireplug on the corner of Central avenue and Sixth street having been completed, the work of installing one at Bartlett and Main streets and another at Fir and Main streets is scheduled to begin early next week. The old hydrants, which had served for 22 years for fire projection in the business section of Medford, will be installed on the 16-inch main along the outskirts of the city, where there is now no ample fire protection.

State executives of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the merican Legion met with members of the state convention commission at the regular Wednesday meeting last night to discuss the coming convention. The annual auxiliary convention will be held here at the same time as the Legion conference and the combined attendance of the two groups will bring thousands of visitors to this city next August. The Auxiliary executives report having found statewide interest in the Medford convention in their travels over the state, and predict the largest attendance ever registered at a Legion gathering in the department of Oregon.

A fine program of Copco movies was enjoyed at the Independence school last night, in connection with an entertainment put on by the "Four H" girls' club. Pictures, shown through the courtesy of the Copco advertising department included a number of recent current events of interest to all present. Pictures of the girls' sewing club of the independence school, taken at last year's county fair, made a hit with the audience.

CONG. HAWLEY NOT TO RETURN FOR PRIMARIES

"Owing to matters pending in Washington of great importance to the country and specially to Oregon and this district, both legislative and departmental," says Congressman W. C. Hawley, "I will be required to remain in Washington attending to official duties and will not be able to make a primary campaign for renomination. I would like very much to go to Oregon, confer with my constituents and render an account of my services in person to the voters, to whom I am profoundly grateful, but official duties will not permit me to."

Congressman Hawley

Congressman Hawley is accredited with holding a high place in the confidence and judgment of the members of the house and, owing to his experience, information and acquaintance, says he is in a position to render his state and district services of value and importance.

Congressman Hawley was recently appointed chairman of the committee on ways and means, which is one of the important committees in congress, and is also the chairman of the joint committee on internal revenue taxation, chairman of the republican caucus of the house, and is on several other important committees.

Popular Coast Product on Local Market

Castorlube motor oil, a coast product, has been placed on sale in Medford and southern Oregon and the Lewis Super Service Station of this city is distributor. The Mail-Tribune is being used as the advertising medium to cover this territory.

Castorlube is advertised as "the scientific mixture of castor and mineral oils; gives 15 to 30 per cent greater power and 10 per cent more gas mileage, less crankcase dilution, friction, vibration, carbon. It won't become overheated and it will give 50 per cent more mileage than any oil you've ever used. Extravagant claims, we admit, but we can back them up."

In this issue appears one of the ads for this popular product.

Social Notes and Meetings

The Children of the American Revolution, like all other patriotic societies, are working for American ideals. All national patriotic organizations have committees whose functions and aims are alike. Among these can be mentioned welfare, caring for and improving the physical conditions of the less fortunate, thrift, saving in the time of plenty for the time of famine, student loans. The Daughters of the American Revolution alone have $172,000 in their loan fund; this in addition to the sums put aside by many other organizations enables thousands of boys and girls throughout our land to prepare themselves for a higher citizenship and greater service to future generations. Preservation of historic records and marking historic spots are other ways these societies have for serving their country. Many hundred years hence much of the present history will be crowded out of our school studies, the deeds of early pioneers will be recorded in only a few books in libraries, the only a few books in libraries. The school history of today makes very little mention of some of the noble men and women who endured untold hardships to settle and claim Oregon for the United States. Local societies are endeavoring to teach children of these pioneers and preserve records and mark historic spots. General Joseph Lane Society C. A. R. is preparing to aid in this work. Everyone is asked to cooperate and attend a card party —bridge and "500"—to be given at the Guild hall on the afternoon of May 10. A musical program and refreshments will furnish additional entertainment. For table reservations, phone 297-J.

LOWDEN FAILS TO TIE UP ARKANSAS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 3.—(AP)—After a heated debate the republican state convention voted 255 to 71 today to send the state's four delegates at large to the national convention uninstructed. Supporters of Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illonois, who is a large land owner in Arkansas, sought to have the delegation pledged for him. He is a candidate for his party's presidential nomination.
