D. M. LOWE TELLS HOW TO SOVE RABBIT PROBLEM

The Southern Oregon Mutual Rabbit Breeders' association met last night in the Knights of Pythias hall on West Main street with over fifty present.

Mr. Lowe said: "The wholesale price to butchers in Los Angeles is 40c a pound, these prices prevailing now. Producers of rabbits received from 16 to 20 cents per pound live weight.

"The change of the situation is due to the work of the American Rabbit association of Los Angeles.

"Rabbit producers in the Rogue River valley can secure the same market if they will organize and work with the American Rabbit association.

"The first requirements will be the production of enough rabbits so that they can deliver at the Medford plant ten tons of live rabbits every month beginning about the first of September.

"The American Rabbit association is organizing on the coast now and will have branches in Medford and Portland, Medford to be the receiving point for all southern Oregon.

"Canvassing is now being made to secure enough to do this which will put the rabbit industry on a sound financial basis in southern Oregon.

Mr. Lowe said that he saw the American Rabbit association ship in one day 125,000 rabbit pelts and one carload of frozen rabbit meat to New York City.

WEATHER HELPS FISHING; MANY WILL TRY LUCK

Because of the recent warm weather the Rogue river and smaller streams are steadily falling from the high point reached during late spring rains.

Salmon are reported all along the river, a heavy run having come upstream during the high water of late March, but fishing is especially good at the Savage Rapids dam.

The trout fishing is also getting better right along, and reports received in the city are that the little fellows are beginning to rise to a fly.

"The best fishing in the Rogue river for the past ten years" was the statement issued in a bulletin by J. H. Harvey, secretary of the Grants Pass chamber of commerce, the other day.

According to the bulletin, the Chinook salmon are running from 12 to 40 pounds. Trout fishing is improving, continues the bulletin.

"Fishermen are having the best luck for trout with Governor, March brown, red and blue upright flies. Brass or copper spoons are used for salmon."

PREDICTS RECORD BREAKING CROWD FOR CONVENTION

Medford will have between 1000 and 2000 American Legion members from the various sections of Oregon, Washington and California here to the state convention in August.

Harry N. Nelson, former state adjutant, who spent the past week in Medford on business, Mr. Nelson, who is now connected with an insurance company and travels continually through the three states mentioned, said that never before had he seen such wholehearted enthusiasm expressed over a state convention, and that posts in every city in the state were genuinely glad that Medford was to have this year's convention.

Many families, according to Mr. Nelson, are planning on coming to Medford in advance of the convention in order to take in the various pleasure points in southern Oregon. Crater Lake and the Oregon Caves are the two points he had heard mentioned most often.

Samuel Lewis Wins. SALT LAKE CITY, May 5.—(AP) Ed (Strangler) Lewis retained his heavyweight wrestling championship title here last night by defeating Howard Cantonwine, Iowa wrestler specialist, in straight falls. The first fall came in one hour and 14 minutes and the second in six minutes. Both were taken with a headlock.
