

MOVIE THEATER MANAGER SLAIN SUSPECT KILLED

Holdup of Movie Theatre in San Diego Followed By Wild Chase—Speed Cop Shot—Police Shoot Down Suspect in House Basement.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 7.—(AP)—Joey Malloy, assistant manager of the New California theatre in this city, one of the West Coast chain, was fatally wounded last night when shot by a holdup man in his office on the mezzanine floor of the theatre. He died in less than an hour after the shooting. The bandit immediately backed out of the office, covering two other theatre employees with his revolver, and escaped in an automobile in which a confederate was waiting near the entrance.

In an outlying district, three miles north from the theatre, Archie Comstock and Tios Remington, motorcycle patrolmen, had just received notice of the holdup when they recognized the bandit car speeding by and started in pursuit. When Comstock pulled up on it, some one inside shot him through the shoulder. Remington got into the car and stopped with Comstock.

Details of police in pursuit found the car abandoned near a canyon and began a close search on both sides. Detectives Hugh Rockford, with Deputy Sheriff Mason and Patrolman Chaveaux entered an apartment house basement on the bank. They saw a man crouched in a dark corner and opened fire, shooting him five times. He died soon afterward. An envelope in his pocket bore the name of O. P. Morrissey, with a local apartment house address.

The abandoned car bore a number registered to Bert Hood of San Pedro as owner. A blood stain in the car indicated that the bandit was probably also wounded.

GIRLHOOD'S GREATEST BEAUTY CHOSEN

Film world says most appealing charm is smooth skin

LOS ANGELES, CALIF.—Speaking eyes, enticing lips, beautiful hair—all these the movie star may have but they avail her nothing, say directors, if she is not possessed of smooth skin. "Studio Skin" must be exquisitely smooth for Klieg lights are all-revealing in the close-ups.

Herbert Brenon, director for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, says, "The most appealing single beauty a girl can have is certainly exquisitely lovely skin." And all Hollywood agrees that every actress who has become a star has had skin of exceptional loveliness.

Nine out of ten stars find Lux Toilet Soap marvelous for smooth skin. Betty Bronson, enchanting young star, enthusiastically declares, "I find this lovely soap wonderful for my skin."

MUSIC WEEK IS CHIEF TOPIC AT KIWANIS LUNCH

In keeping with the observance of national music week, the local Kiwanis club presented a varied program of music at the meeting today, under the direction of Miss Juvenese Butler. The entertainment features were introduced by Miss Butler and interspersed with the latest records, played by Henry Fluhrer on one of the Palmer Music House orthophonic electrolas.

The high school girls' quartet, who recently captured second place at the state music tournament was introduced by their coach, Miss Esther Church, and sang their prize-winning numbers, which included, "O Heart of Mine," "Will o' the Wisp," by Sprague and "Thine Flower Petal." They were accompanied on the piano by Miss Genevieve Brown. Members of the quartet are: Miss Elbow Mae Wilson, Miss Betty Jones, Miss Mildred Lawrence and Miss Lucille Crews.

A. J. McDonough, well known local singer then contributed two numbers by American composers: "At Dawning," by Charles Wakefield Brown, and an encore number, "My Lassie," by Edward Walt, accompanied on the piano by Miss Butler.

Miss Leona Marsters, superintendent of music at the Southern Oregon Normal school at Ashland gave an interesting outline of the plans for the music teachers' state convention to be held here May 21 and 22. Concerts and musical programs are to be held during the afternoon and evening of both days, to which the public is invited. A varied program of music will be held on Monday night at the Presbyterian church, May 21, at which time Billy Boone, well known organist of Portland, will play. His numbers will be supplemented by other instrumental numbers and vocal selections.

Miss Marsters said that she expected at least 150 musicians here from the various sections of the state. The guests are to be entertained by the various service clubs at a dinner on Monday night.

Preceding Miss Marsters' talk, Jack Thompson spoke in behalf of the Music Teachers' association of Medford, and urged that every member contribute $1 to defray the expense of the Monday night dinner. The Kiwanis club went over 100 per cent in their contribution.

Following a message read the club from Mrs. John C. Mann, who is recuperating from an operation in a Portland hospital, in appreciation of flowers sent her by the organization, President R. B. Hammond expressed the best wishes of the club for her speedy recovery. To Mr. Mann, a member of the organization.

Guests at today's meeting included: H. C. Galey of Ashland, R. W. Guse of Crescent City, W. Singleton, E. C. China, Esther Church, Mildred Lawrence, Elbow Mae Wilson, Lucille Crews, Genevieve Brown, Betty Jones, O. B. Edgett of Portland and W. H. Fluhrer. The attendance prize, a necktie furnished by Mann's Department store, was given to Vernon Vawter today.

PERSONALS

Some good "close-ups" of the "bewhiskered and unbearded" beauties of the House of David ball team were taken for the Copeo news reel by Horace Bromley, local cameraman, yesterday. Pictures of the exciting plays of the "house of David" ball team were also taken for early showing by this popular local film service.

Much interest is being taken in tomorrow night's Copeo radio program, which will be presented by the musical organizations of the Junior high school. This will be a special program in keeping with "Music week." And every local music lover is urged to tune in promptly at 9 p. m. in order not to miss the opening numbers. Miss Melba Williams, instructor of music for the Junior high school, will be featured in several delightful groups of soprano numbers accompanied by Miss Esther Church, music instructor for the Senior high. In addition, there will be many instrumental and vocal numbers by the talented pupils of the Junior high school.

WEST COAST PLANES TO RESUME FLIGHTS

The West Coast Air Transport company expects to resume regular air schedules between Seattle and San Francisco via Portland and Medford some time this week. The schedule was discontinued some time ago owing to the continuous rains that rendered inter-coastal fields too soft for the big planes to land.

Graveling of Medford's original runway 2100 feet long is now completed and is capable of handling any ship that flies. The new summer runway, 2500 feet long, is also completed and ready for use.

DOGS SUFFERING FROM MYSTERIOUS DISEASE CURED

Fright disease, which many local dog owners have mistaken for rabies, and subsequently made away with their valued pets during the past few weeks, is a new canine affliction, prevalent all over the United States, and can be dealt with satisfactorily by an expert, according to Dr. D. W. Stone, local veterinarian this morning. One of the fright-disease patients is now occupying a bed in the dog hospital on Sixth street, and is well on the road to recovery.

To the inexperienced hand, fright disease is identical to the dangerous and hopeless rabies, for which there is no cure, but a speedy death. In this new disorder, the victim usually has from 5 to 25 attacks, which can be treated with good results, and there is no need to kill the dog, he said. Aside from the fright disease patient in the local veterinary hospital, the majority are patients from car accidents or major operations. One of the finest patients, according to the doctor, was a large black and white shepherd dog, the victim of a merciless attack with an ax, in which the dog's shoulder was split open. The nature of the wound necessitated an intricate operation, entailing the stretching and stitching of muscles and ligaments, through which the large dog sat patiently, often gritting his teeth to stand the pain. He was by far the most appreciative dog I've ever had here, and during the operation, he would often reach down and lick my hand, in acknowledgment of what was being done for him. The shepherd dog, like several others now in the hospital, was brought in by the humane society, who have started in earnest to care for the dogs and other afflicted and homeless animals throughout the county.

LINDY FLIES OFF AFTER NARROW DEATH ESCAPE

CURTIS FIELD, N. Y., May 7.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh took off in his new Ryan monoplane for an unannounced destination today. He was accompanied by Lieutenant Commander P. V. H. Weems, his instructor in navigation.

Landing on the field here last night after a hop over to Mitchell field, Lindbergh narrowly averted a tragedy as 2000 people streamed out upon the field in imminent danger from the swirling blades of his plane's propeller. Motorcycle police charged the crowd with screaming and special guards attempted to ring off a clear space for him to land, but their efforts were not enough to stop the rush. Two women were knocked down, receiving cuts and bruises which required medical attention.

Lindbergh saw the human avalanche come toward him, swerved his ship after a run of only a few feet, almost causing the machine to tip over. Using his wheel brakes as much as he dared, he turned his plane completely around and shut off the motor while it cooled. He and his passengers were imprisoned in the plane's cabin as the mob milled around. Finally an automobile was forced through and ducking hands of those who sought to touch him jumped into the car. Policemen stood on the running board pushing away persons who sought to climb on, as motorcycle police cleared a lane to the road to New York.

100 POUNDS SALMON FOR ELKS' FEED

Because of the unusually large attendance expected at the Elks lodge fish day forum, tomorrow noon at 12:15 o'clock, and at which fresh Chinook salmon will be served, by order of officers of the lodge P. C. Licham caught another large salmon for this big piscatorial feast, which insures over 100 pounds of fish that will be served.

The diners are requested to bring their pennies along to toss into the collection that will be made to reimburse the official lodge angler for his loss of tackle, while catching salmon for the fish dinner. There will be a program of short speeches on fish subjects, and all Elks are urged to be on hand with reliable fish stories.

CAMPAIGN QUIZ STARTS

(Continued from Page One) "No, sir," he replied. "I expect to win." Borah Is Questioned. After Senator Curtis had been on the stand half an hour, he was excused and Senator Borah of Idaho, was called. He said he was not a presidential candidate, although the Idaho delegation to the Kansas City convention has been instructed for him. He had received no campaign contributions and had spent no money.

"Do you know of any one who has spent money to elect you president?" Mr. Borah was asked by Senator Bratton. "No. I'm of the opinion no money has been spent in my behalf as a candidate for president," Barkley brought up Senator Borah's prohibition questionnaire, and asked whether it was aimed to promote him as a candidate or affect the candidacies of others. "It had no relation to any aspirations of my own," Borah responded. "It may have some effect on the candidacy of others." He explained that he had replies from all as to their views on prohibition, except Frank O. Lowden.

Walsh Gives Facts

Senator Walsh of Montana, who has withdrawn from the democratic race, said he received $250 from E. T. Meredith, former secretary of agriculture; $500 from Fred E. Coe, George F. Milton, Chattanooga newspaper publisher. He turned Meredith's and Coe's contributions over to Milton for advancement of his candidacy and sent Milton's donation to W. W. McDowell, a Montana supporter.

Postage and stationery charges brought Walsh's total outlay up to $1190.65. He referred the committee to John Elliott and others for information as to expenditures in the California primary. He thought J. E. Hamilton of Madison, Wis., had spent or contributed $500 in his behalf.

Walsh said that letters were sent out under his congressional frank. He referred to a letter by William O. McAdoo, which he said had been made a part of the Congressional Record. He had no agreements with other candidates. "Did any oil companies contribute to your campaign?" asked MacMaster.
