

ATER LAKE IS EATURED IN A NEW MAGAZINE

The first issue of "The Pacific Northwest," a national magazine devoted to the industrial, commercial, agricultural and scenic possibilities of the northwestern states, reached Medford yesterday in the hands of its editor, Albert Reibel, former editor of Oregon, a state magazine, which has been discontinued.

preciation of these attractions that the "Pacific Northwest" has come into existence. Included in the first issue are articles by such well known characters as Governor H. C. Baldridge of Idaho, who writes an article entitled "Vision and Reality," and Harold Bell Wright, who has contributed an expose on the question of "Patriotism." Mount Hood and Crater Lake are among the Oregon attractions to be featured with beautiful colored cuts.

The magazine, issued monthly, will be sold on the news stands throughout the east as well as in other sections of the country.

OPEN HOUSE AT LOCAL HOSPITAL

Saturday, May 12, has been designated as Hospital Day throughout the land, the purpose being to better acquaint citizens with the work and operations of hospitals, and their relation to communities, so that hospitals may be better known and appreciated. Therefore, the Sacred Heart hospital invites the general public to visit the institution, after five p. m., Saturday, and all day Sunday. There will be no program.

GRAND DAUGHTER OF GENERAL LANE
WANTS TO CLIMB

It has always been the desire of Annie Blanche Shelby, national authority on auction bridge and one of the network radio players of the popular game, to climb to the top of Table Rock and, although she has passed through Medford many times, she has never had the opportunity to do so. Her well-known fondness for hiking, and her proclivity for attaining other heights, are not the principal motives back of this particular ambition. Annie Blanche Shelby wants to stand on the exact spot where her grandfather—the noted, General Joseph Lane—signed the peace treaty with the Rogue River Indians in the early eighties, and has made arrangements to accompany the local General Lane club, consisting principally of children between the ages of 6 and 14 years, to the top, during her present visit in Medford. Mrs. Shelby can remember her grandfather, the kindly, white-haired general, whose heart and soul were so wrapped up in the welfare of the present state of Oregon. Having distinguished himself in the Mexican war and won a name in the political history of the day, the general was appointed first territorial governor of Oregon by President Polk. It was largely through his efforts that the territory was made a state, and he was sent as the first senator from this section of the country to congress.

It was after his term of governor that the Rogue River Indians were committing so many depredations through the scattered settlements of whites in the Rogue River valley, and the general and his men came down into this district to put a stop to it. After a few effective battles, a treaty of peace was signed upon the top of Table Rock between the small band of whites and the tribe of Rogue River Indians.

The local General Joseph Lane club are planning on erecting on this spot a marker to the memory of the general in either the late summer or early fall. If sufficient funds can be raised by that time. A card party, with Mrs. Shelby as honor guest and principal speaker, is being held by the organization at St. Mark's Guild hall today, in order to replenish the fund and get the preliminary work under way. Mrs. Shelby will remain in Medford until the early part of next week, when she will visit for a few days in Ashland, and will then leave for the south. While here she is conducting bridge lessons.

DRESS REHEARSAL
OF Y. W. C. A. PLAY
MONDAY, MAY 14

Rehearsals for the Y. W. C. A. benefit play, "Clubbing a Husband," which is to be given at the junior high school Tuesday, May 15, will come to a close with the dress rehearsal next Monday night. Special mention should be made of the characters. Mrs. E. Iverson as the aristocratic "Mrs. Ashton from Boston," is a finished performer, while Mrs. Walters, as the bride, and Miss Marie Iverson, as the mischievous "Maud," and Mrs. McCuiston as the man-hating old maid doctor, are especially fine. Mrs. N. B. Newcomb, as Bridget O'Flanagan, and Mrs. Donna Taylor, as Helia, the cook, and Miss Marie Iverson as "Maud," supply the comedy and are excellent in their different parts. Mrs. Newcomb and Mrs. Taylor are perfect in their dialect, and are far above the rank of amateurs, as indeed are the entire cast of 12 ladies. Mrs. Maddox, Miss Gladys Frye, Mrs. Anderson, Parrot Cornwell and Woodford complete the cast who have worked hard for five weeks to make this benefit a success. Miss Melba Williams and the harmonica band and Geo. Maddox will entertain during the intermissions. These artists are well known and are giving their time and talent freely to this worthy cause. A. J. Anderson, Medford's popular photographer, who has made the posters for the Y. W. C. A. play, "Clubbing a Husband," has done some of his finest work in grouping and portrait study. The posters are to be seen in the different stores of the city and represent the old-fashioned costumes of 50 years ago. Mrs. Sarah Cornwell, as the dear old mother of the play, is especially striking in her old Palseley shawl.

stalled in the desert

Death Valley is well named—many a motor has "gone dead" trying to conquer its vast expanse of shifting sand dunes. Like so many of the West's most interesting places, the desert is hard to get to and offers real tough going. It's on trips like this that you notice how a super-lubricant like Castorlube improves the performance of your car. Castorlube makes all the difference in the world, and tough going proves it. Long acknowledged the premier lubricant, castor oil; when treated by the exclusive Castorlube process and blended with the finest mineral oils; becomes the most efficient motor oil it is possible to produce—veritable motor magic. Castorlube gives more power; more compression; more mileage and less carbon; less crankcase dilution and less vibration. You may expect 50% more mileage from Castorlube. ALLAN CURRIER 100 HOURS BEHIND IN N. Y.

MARATHON STRUGGLE

BUTLER, Ind., May 10.—(AP)—C. C. (Cross Country) Pyle's caravan of callouses, 61 survivors of an original field of 139, pushed ahead from here today for their 84th control station at Wauseon, Ohio, 42 miles eastward. Peter Gavuzzi of England, race leader, who has traversed the 2579.7 miles from Los Angeles in 441:02:06, jogged on even terms with Andy Payne, youthful Oklahoman in second place, Wednesday over the 41.8 mile lap from Logansport, Ind., for third place. Philip Granville of Hamilton, Ont., led the way in 5:38:28. Gavuzzi's margin of six hours nine minutes and 23 seconds over Payne has remained unchanged the past four days. John Salo Passaic, N. J., remained in third place. Allan Currier, Rogue River, Ore., made yesterday's lap in 7:44:21, elapsed time 542:56:08.

Mary Pickford at Hunt's Craterian

Amid the flood of new productions, superspectacles, would-be epics and the like that have appeared on the screen this season, "My Best Girl," Mary Pickford's new comedy romance of the 5 and 10-cent stores, is at Hunt's Craterian. Unlike so many recent film dramas, "My Best Girl" makes no attempt at pretentiousness, nor at imposing (and hollow) magnificence. It is purely a simple, human, absorbing story of a shy little girl employe in a "nickel-and-dime" store, who falls in love with the son of the millionaire owner of the establishment. This simplicity and human quality are what make the real charm of the picture. The essential realism of the characters make them life-like, and likeable. They look and think and act as you and I and our neighbor would do under similar circumstances. The more nearly a motion picture reaches the goal of absolute naturalness, the more nearly it reaches the hearts of the audience. Ann, that is just what "My Best Girl" does. Much of the laughter can be attributed to the excellent comedy cast. Mack Swain, is a scream as the police judge, Lucien Littlefield as the hen-pecked father; Sunshine Hart as the funeral-loving, hypochondriac mother, and Carmelita Geraghty has the role of Mary's wild and wayward sister.

Famous Horse Drops Dead
NEWMARKET, Eng., May 10.—(AP)—The turf is mourning the famous sire, Lemberg, winner of the derby in 1910, who dropped dead at Hamilton House stud, to which he had been retired in 1913, after winning for his owner over $200,000 in stake money. He was 21 years old. Lemberg was bred by his owner the late A. W. Cox, who raced under the name of Mr. Fairlie.
