The book includes 65 pictures, of which 20 are of southern Oregon scenes in Klamath, Jackson and Josephine counties, showing views of Crater lake, Diamond lake, Rogue River valley and the Rogue river.

WARN ORCHARDISTS OF SPIDER MITES, OIL SPRAY NEEDED

Pear growers should be on a constant watch for now on for spider mite infestations. The first outbreak of this pest was found in the Talent district a few days ago. Since that time infestations have been found in other parts of the valley, which indicates that the presence of this pest is pretty general.

The D'Anjou variety will probably show indications of an infestation first, followed by the How. If mites are noticed, they may be seen with the aid of a magnifying glass by looking closely over the under surface of leaves taken from the lower branches, close in to the tree trunk.

Summer oil emulsions will give excellent control, if applied thoroughly to the under side of the leaves. The recommended dilutions range from one to one and a half gallon of emulsion to the hundred gallons of water or spray solution if mixed with arsenate of lead. In case of mixing oil with arsenate of lead, it is always advisable to use a caseinate emulsifier in the combination.

VIOLIN STUDENTS HERE PRESENT AN INFORMAL RECITAL

An interesting event last week was an informal recital on Thursday evening, when Thore H. Folkenberg presented his orchestra and others of his students of the violin.

The orchestra rendered many compositions from the masters, including Brahms, Paderewski, Beethoven and others. The Hungarian Dance No. 5 was artistically rendered. The program also included solos and duets, both by advanced students and also by some little people who were making their first appearance before the public.

The beautiful "Sounds from Home," from the Alpine Melody played by Miss Esther Miller and Mr. Folkenberg, was especially applauded, not alone because of its sweetness, but also for the distinctness and accuracy of the Swiss yodel which came out clear and strong—rather an unusual accomplishment for the violin.

MUSIC CONVENTION OPENS HERE WITH BURST OF MELODY

One hundred and five delegates to the state music teachers' convention registered at the Presbyterian church at 9 o'clock this morning and other delegates from various sections of the state continued to arrive by auto throughout the day. Enthusiasm over the reception accorded them by Medford officials and citizens was expressed throughout this morning's session and soon period when the visiting delegates gathered at a "no-host" luncheon in the church parlors.

During the luncheon the following program numbers were enjoyed by the members and guests: "Nocturne" by Curran, and "Let My Life Be Music" by Sprague, both by Miss Carlisle Strang, Roseburg, who was accompanied on the piano by Frances Lintell. This number was well received and was followed by a group of violin numbers played by Carlotta Jones, with Mrs. Jones at the piano. These included "Hymn to the Sun" by Rimsky-Korsakov, and an encore, also enthusiastically applauded by the large audience.

GOPE TRACTS SELECTED FOR LOCAL AIR PORT

The air port committee of the Chamber of Commerce has reported the selection of the property owned by W. H. Gore, adjoining Medford of the north and across the southern Pacific railroad from the lumber mills for the new aviation field.

This property is nearly a mile long and a half mile wide and contains about 225 acres. It has been examined by a number of government officials of the air service and pronounced one of the best locations on the coast for an air port in many ways.

It will be possible to get runways 2000 feet long, which are only excelled on the coast by two or three air ports and will be ample for many years to come. The location of the runways, administration building, hangars, lights, aerial weather bureau station office for Department of Commerce and other necessary buildings and parking space for ships, has been sanctioned and approved by W. T. Miller, superintendent in charge of airways extensions in the western division. The committee will now get estimates on the cost of the buildings and grounds and will have a definite proposition to present to the people of Medford in a very short time.

POPPY SALE FOR AMERICAN LEGION STARTS FRIDAY

In keeping with the opening next Friday of the sale of the Memorial poppies, which will be sold until after Decoration day by members of the American Legion Auxiliary, a history of the poppy is given today for the auxiliary.

In 1920 Dr. Pender Jensen of Tacoma, Wash., went back overseas to search for his "buddy's" grave in the cemeteries of France. He was so impressed by the crimson masses of poppies waving over the graves that when he returned he had his post adopt the poppy as its memorial flower.

The disabled service men in the hospitals are paid one cent each for making these poppies—exact paper replicas of those in the fields of Flanders—and for many this is the first money earned since the war. No service work accomplished with the poppy profits can exceed this service to the disabled, which brings to them the realization that they are again able to take their place among the wage-earning citizens.

The petrified trees and animals discovered near Prineville in Crook county, while unquestionably what they are purported to be, are not unique as specimens found in Arizona, and therefore are not deserving of preservation by the federal government.

Many registered voters discovered last Friday that they could not vote when they came to the polls to cast their ballots, causing some to become highly indignant and others sorrowful. When he appeared in circuit court today in connection with the issuance of a permanent habeas corpus, W. M. Wilkie, star witness in the Chaney trial who was arrested here last week on a charge of defrauding an innkeeper at Salsbery, was released today. Wilkie claimed that the bill was only for $1.50 at a restaurant and was not paid because of his haste in coming to Medford for the trial. District Attorney Chaney recommended that Wilkie be set free, releasing his bondsmen, Attorneys Eddy and Johnston, who were special prosecutors in the trial.
