

Tomorrow Is Poppy Day

Buy
A Poppy!

THE CLOUDS of war have rolled away from the fields of battle where men, prompted by that supreme motive—love of country—fought and died for a great cause. Little scarlet poppies, drenched in the blood of fallen heroes, were trampled into the mud of Flanders field.

The sun now shines again on these same fields that only a decade ago were torn by bursting shell and ground by the grim heel of marching legions. And this sun has brought forth new poppies "between the crosses, row on row;" poppies that bloom with deeper color because of the blood of fathers, sons and brothers who went across the seas because of a great ideal.

We, in southern Oregon, are reminded of the days of tragic suffering, when the storm of war rocked civilization to its very foundations, by a little Memorial Poppy, a replica of those which grow on the battle fields of France. Memorial Poppies are fashioned by the hands of heroes who fought and whose suffering has not ended. In buying them we honor those who died for us; honor the living, blind and disabled in the service of their country and honor ourselves who are yet mindful of our obligations. As the scarlet poppies in Flanders are brightening the battle-scarred fields, the Memorial Poppy is brightening the lives of disabled veterans and their families.

The American Legion Auxiliary of Medford Post 15 are selling these Memorial Poppies—giving us an opportunity to express our gratitude and reverent love to both the living and the dead. To buy is to keep faith—YOU must wear a Memorial Poppy!

These Public Spirited Medford Men Are Cooperating to Assure the Success of Medford's Poppy Sale.

Colvig Drugs
J. C. Penney Co.
Exchange Tire Co.
Brophy's, Jewelers

Swems
East Side Pharmacy
Hall Paint Co.
Mutual Mill & Seed Co.
Hubbard Bros.

Nichols & Ashpole
Medford Domestic Laundry
White Sewing Machine Co.
O. C. Boggs, Lawyer

Hotel Jackson Dining Room
Phipps Auto Park Service
First Insurance Agency
20th Century Stores
Medford National Bank

Medford Electric Co.
James McNair Pharmacy
Medford Pharmacy
Jarmin & Woods Drug Store