

MEDFORD TRIO FLY FROM S. F. IN CABIN PLANE

Dr. J. J. Emmens, Attorney Geo. M. Roberts and Ralph Bardwell arrived in Medford this noon in the big cabin plane from San Francisco, making the journey in four hours with an hour's stop at Redding.

EX-MEDFORDITE HAS LOCAL FOOD SENT BY PLANE

That it is now possible for a Medford resident sojourning in Portland, and who tires of the food served in Portland restaurants and hotels, or for even former home-sick residents of Jackson county, to have freshly cooked or prepared lunches of good old Jackson county chicken and other edibles sent to them by the morning air mail and express carrying plane in time for them to eat it in place, was developed today.

It remained for Cal Webber, the young author who has been holding down the position of telegraph operator at the Western Union here for months past while he attended the Medford high school, and who recently broke into the Atlantic Monthly with a short story, to invent the idea and be the first to put it into effect.

Now Cal, who is very notional in his eating, before leaving last week for Portland to accept a position with the Bell Telephone company in its electrical department, and who during his Medford residence cluttered up the Franklin cafe at his meal times, went into conference with Dale and Doyle Franklin and Virgil Martin, its proprietors, during which he spoke thusly:

"You see, fellows, my main dislike to locating in Portland is because of the change in the food and water. I may get so tired of eating in the Greek joints and lunch stands of the state metropolis that it is liable to undermine my health. Now, here's the idea: As soon as I tire of the Portland feed houses I will send you a letter or telegram to that effect, and next day you shoot me a nice dinner lunch by plane."

The plaintive letter came from Cal last evening and this morning, Dale, Doyle and Virgil sent him by air mail chicken sandwiches, a ham sandwich with "the works" on it, some strawberry shortcake, a hunk of pumpkin pie and a cigarette.

Other friends of Cal will tomorrow morning send him a big helping of sauerkraut, wienies, Medford made pop and some half-burned cigarettes. If his friends can help it they do not intend to let Cal suffer until he becomes acclimated in Portland.

H. D'AUTREMONT'S ACTIONS IN PEN CAUSE COMMENT

Word has been received by local authorities and the people of the conduct of the three DeAutremont brothers, serving life sentences in state prison for the confessed Skisvovus tunnel train robbery and murders.

Hugh, according to the information at hand, has become a pal of a life term, who before the arrival of the DeAutremonts was a "lone wolf," shunning acquaintance with all other prisoners, and keeping much to himself. The pair meet in the middle of the prison yards, whenever opportunity presents, and converse earnestly, until a guard or another prisoner approaches, when they maintain silence. These conversations and meetings have caused a stricter watch to be placed upon Hugh, though it is noted by the prison officials, as a desire to be "mysterious."

COUNTY HEALTH NOT CONNECTED WITH ANY PAPER

"I am positively not connected with any circulation paper of a Portland paper," Mrs. Lydia King, county health nurse, said today, after having received a number of citizens who told her that they had received telephone calls from a woman who called herself Mrs. King and who attempted to solicit subscriptions from them by phone. The woman claimed subscriptions were solicited for the benefit of the state blind school, or another woman connected with the party, also called Chief of Police McCredie and attempted to sell him a subscription, but when he wanted her to report at the police station to completely explain the matter she failed to appear and has not been heard of since.

PRIZES AWARDED AT OPENING OF NEW CREAMERY

Gold Seal Creamery is the new name by which the former Jackson County Creamery will be known, as a result of a contest, which lasted several weeks, and for which $50 in prize money was awarded last night at an open house held by that establishment from seven to 11 o'clock.

Clayds Harrison, who first submitted this name, was awarded the first prize of $25. Among the six other contestants, who suggested the same name, prizes were also given, in the order of their appearance. They were: Mrs. George M. Knowles, route one, Medford, $10; Myrtle Nelson, route 2, Medford, $5; and C. E. Dunlap, S. M. Cleven, Mrs. Harold Crowl, route 1, Medford, and Lithia Springs Hotel, Ashland, each receiving $2.50.

The choice of this prize winning name is based upon the dairy products, which are carried by this local creamery, and which have proved of such popularity among local shoppers. Speakers during the evening consisted of J. D. Mickle, state dairy and food inspector; History Porter J. Neff, who gave a history of the dairy industry in the valley, and stressed particularly the development of the present Gold Seal creamery.

NEW PIANO STYLES ARE BROUGHT BACK BY LOCAL DEALER

Pianos are sounding a new note this season not included in the thirteenth scale. It is the thirteenth note—the note of fashion. Style and beauty are now taking their place alongside of tone quality in the requisites of a modern piano. So says Clayton Isaacs, who attended a monster meeting of piano merchants at the Heathman hotel in Portland. The meeting was under the auspices of the Gulbransen Piano company of Chicago, world's largest producers of pianos. One of the principal topics of discussion was the new trends in the favored of all musical instruments for the home.

132 REPUBLICANS VOTED FOR NORTON FOR DIST. JUDGE

The canvassing board was still wrestling today with the frivolity of the voters at the primary, wherein they "grope in" the names of everybody they knew. It apparently was considered the height of jollity, to suggest the name of a close friend for constable, all of which makes the canvassing board about two days extra work. It is expected that the work of tabulating this vote will be completed today, and the work of counting the vote on the county fair measure begun.

On the republican ballot, Harry D. Norton of Grants Pass, democratic candidate for circuit judge received 132 votes, his name being written in. The count has been completed on the republican ticket.
