

P. COAST NEGRO SENSATION OF COLLEGE TRIALS

SOLDIER FIELD, CHICAGO, June 8.—(AP)—Under a cloudy sky 329 athletes from 28 universities and colleges throughout the nation competed in the preliminaries of the national collegiate individual and team track and field championships in Soldier field this afternoon. The finals will be held tomorrow.

As the first events were run a hot rain fell. Steve Anderson of the University of Washington, who tied the world's record of 14.4 seconds for the 120-yard high hurdles in the Pacific coast conference meet a week ago, failed to qualify today because he had the misfortune to trip over a hurdle in his trial heat and fell. He was running shoulder to shoulder with Harold Trumble of Nebraska, winner of the heat when he fell, sprawling face downward.

Henry of Ilco institute, Houston, Texas, equalled the meet record of 28 for the 100-yard dash, held by Dehart Hubbard, former University of Michigan sprinter, in winning his preliminary heat with ease. Jack Elder, the Notre Dame sprinter, sustained his first defeat of the year when he was beaten out in his trial heat of the century by Foster, negro sprinter of Washington State, Pacific coast champion. Elder, however, qualified for the finals by finishing a close second.

NATIONAL TEAMS PRESS GINCY HARD IN PENNANT CHASE

(By the Associated Press) Halted by Brooklyn rifle fire, the Cincinnati Reds today found most of the National league pack yelping uncomfortably close upon their heels.

Old Bill Dook, who gave up baseball to dabble in real estate and then decided it was a mistake, pitched the Dodgers to a sensational 11-inning 1-0 victory over the Reds at Ebbetts Field yesterday. Meanwhile the New York Giants nosed out the St. Louis Cardinals 4 to 3, at the Polo Grounds and moved up to within a game and a half of the league leaders.

Pete Scott's home run, a single by Sparky Adams, and Lloyd Warner's double gave the Pittsburgh Pirates two runs in the twelfth inning and an 8-to-6 triumph over the Boston Braves. Five home runs were made, Scott getting two, the others going to Hornsby, Barnhart and Taylor.

The Philadelphia Nationals broke their nine-game losing streak at the expense of the Chicago Cubs, Italy being turning in a 4-to-2 sixth victory. Hack Wilson hit his tenth homer of the season and went into a tie with Del Hisonnette of Brooklyn for league leadership.

The New York Yankees stretched their American league lead to ten full games by defeating the Cleveland Indians, 8 to 2. Babe Ruth hit his twentieth homer of the season and Lou Gehrig his twelfth.

Crowder allowed but four hits as the Browns defeated the Philadelphia Athletics at St. Louis, 4 to 1. Ty Cobb finished third.

The Boston Red Sox found Owen Carroll a puzzle and Detroit took a 3-to-2 win at Navin field.

Chicago fell into last place in the standing when the Sox bowled to Washington, 7 to 5. Ducky Harris returned to the lineup.

AROUSSED OVER NO-STOCKING FAD

When Anne Ramon, above, freshman at the University of Washington, Seattle, introduced the no-stocking fad to the campus, she startled the president and the dean of women into hurried consultation. Before they could act, the fad had spread all over the campus.

Nobile

Do you remember the Norge? Raold Amundsen and Lincoln Ellsworth, experienced Arctic explorers, planned a trip across the North Pole in an air ship.

They had no ship. They didn't know how to operate one. But Italy agreed to furnish the ship, provided Colonel Nobile be taken along to operate it.

That arrangement was made. It was an Amundsen-Ellsworth adventure; Nobile was merely the engineer taken along to drive the ship.

But Nobile tried to take command. He wanted all the glory. He told Amundsen and Ellsworth they could not take large Norwegian and American flags to drop over the Pole because all unnecessary weight must be sacrificed.

Yet when the Pole was reached, Amundsen and Ellsworth dropped the flags they had brought. Nobile brought forth a great flag of Italy and dropped it. The flag narrowly missed, catching in a projector.

So it was that the only disaster narrowly averted. Once Nobile had the ship almost aground when Amundsen's warning cry brought him to his senses.

Nobile, on that trip, proved himself unfit for great adventure. He knew nothing of the Arctic. If the ship had been forced down, and neither Amundsen nor Ellsworth had been along, he would have been helpless. He would not have known how to obtain either food or shelter. He would have perished almost at once.

Yet he took all credit for the trip. When the three adventurers had triumphed and had reached America, Amundsen and Ellsworth went ashore in their rough Arctic clothes—all they had. But Nobile walked down the gang plank in the gorgeous uniform of an Italian colonel—carried across the Arctic in a ship that could not bear the weight of Norwegian and American flags.

He accepted the honors of the world. He took all credit for the triumph. He gave his story to the press, though he had previously agreed that no one of the three should give out press matter without the knowledge and consent of the others.

Thus ended chapter one. Nobile was made a general. His head swelled as a result of praise of 18 and 17 in a 72-hole match held prior to the open tournament.

Spanish Premier Breaks Engagement When Girl Gambles

MADRID, June 8.—(AP)—Announcing his decision to break off his engagement to marry Mercedes Castellanos, Premier Primo de Rivera issued a note today stating that his action was caused by her appearance on the stock exchange Monday in company with two men buying stocks.

The note says that having learned that his fiancée was seen on the exchange buying stocks in company with Count Camero and the Duke of Alcala, he considered her action inexcusable, and he has decided to break off his engagement irrevocably.

With fifteen companions, all inexperienced, he chartered the Arctic in the ship Italia. He reached the Pole, turned, and started back to his base.

Silence. Hours and days passed. Then a call for help. The Italia was down. The men had enough emergency food for two months, but they were not clothed or equipped for disaster.

Amundsen forgot his hatred and agreed to lead an expedition to save the lost crew. Ellsworth called and volunteered his help. Two great sportsmen, these!

But their chances of success? "Where is the land—on land or floating ice? How badly is she damaged?"

In any case, Nobile and his crew are helpless. Experienced men would be helpless.

Because he was ignorant, Nobile chose the worst time of the year for his flight—the time when ice is breaking up, when fun is continuous.

When disaster loomed, and Amundsen or an Ellsworth would have known what to do. Properly equipped for the worst, they would have landed on solid ice or land and fought their way out again.

Nobile and his crew can't. They don't know how. They aren't hard-boiled to it.

Providence may have them. If they are saved, surely Nobile will have learned a lesson. You can't steal honors. Cheers and medals are not sufficient equipment for the conquering of the Arctic. A swollen head and a few inches of food are not sufficient substitutes for experience.

That sounds bitter. It is bitter. I hope Nobile and his innocent crew are saved. But saved or lost, he is a man lost to great sportsmanship.

His disaster is poetic justice. (Mountain Lion Tribune.)

Statement Denied. ROME, June 8.—(AP)—Osservatore Romano, official Vatican organ, publishes a statement today denying that Pope Pius ever intended a apostolic benediction to Mexican Catholics fighting the government, or undertook to raise funds for them.

The denial makes clear that the pope's sympathy was always with those persecuted, but he has not taken a single step calculated to foment civil warfare, which he deprecates.

NIGHT LIFE CAFE OF FILM CAPITAL EXPLOSION SCENE

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 8.—(AP)—An explosion which wrecked the Rialto Cafe, a picture house part of the night life of the film colony, injured eight persons and caused a property loss of $75,000 today to the desire of one man to collect on a week-old $10,000 insurance policy.

That theory of the fire and explosion of early yesterday morning resulted in the arrest in San Francisco of Michael J. Tocco, owner of a small gift store—on charges of having set a dozen or so small fires on the roof. Although these fires were extinguished before they gained headway, fire warden's investigators already suspicious of the intent behind the obtaining of the insurance policy, and the officers failed to take into account the gas pouring out of two windows. As the public feet of his came contact with the flames

PORTLAND GRAIN RATES DISCOURAGE MILLERS, CLAIM

SEATTLE, June 8.—(AP)—Regarding his testimony at the interstate commerce commission grain rate hearing today, O. D. Fisher, president of the Fisher Flouring mills, said that the 18 per cent rate differential to Portland has the effect of discouraging the milling of grain in the northwest.

Mr. Fisher said the differential on grain grown south of the Snake river also had the effect of encouraging the export of wheat in the Orient, thus discouraging industrial activity on the north Pacific coast.

The flour mill president declared that Portland was primarily a grain exporting port and associated that because of the differential to Portland his company had stopped contemplated activities for the erection of a flour mill there. Under cross-examination he reiterated that millers should have the privilege of drawing grain from

Now There's Another Lucky Winner of Race Sweepstakes

BOMBAY, British India, June 8.—(AP)—The Evening News states that Harish Chandra Javed, a timber merchant and race horse owner here, has received a telegram from W. H. Webb, proprietor of a Calcutta firm, informing that he had drawn Kolstead, winner of the derby in the Calcutta sweepstakes.

It is understood that Kolstead was purchased from Webb for $1,316,000, which was the great prize of $1,316,000.

NAME CHINNOCK FOR LEGISLATURE. GRANTS PASS, Ore., June 8.—(AP)—James T. Chinnock, local attorney, was last night named by the republican central committee as nominee on the party's ticket for representative from Josephine county. The selection was made necessary by the removal of Theodore P. Cramer, Jr., nominated at the primary election, to Portland, where he will be executive secretary of the Oregon Bankers' association. It now appears that Mr. Chinnock will have no opposition this fall, as Mr. Cramer had received the democratic nomination as well as the republican, and the democratic slight inclination to select a republican. Railroad President Gets $1000 Cash As Conscience Fund. PORTLAND, Ore., June 8.—(AP)—Charles E. Donnelly, president of the Great Northern railroad, opening his mail here today, found a letter containing $1000 in United States currency, with a six-word unsigned note: "For under charge in freight years ago." The letter, marked "personal," had been forwarded from his St. Paul headquarters. Mr. Donnelly said the $1000 would be deposited in the Northern Pacific conscience fund. Mr. Donnelly leaves tonight for Lewiston, Idaho, whence he will go east. Walter Hagen Returns. NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP)—Welcome by the cheers of a big delegation of golfers and the tunes of a brass band, Walter Hagen returned today as British open champion for the third time. Accompanying the American home-bred star were two of his professional rivals, Audrey Boomer and Archie Compston. Compston beat Hagen by the top-added margin of 18 and 17 in a 72-hole match held prior to the open tournament.
