TALENT TRIAL IN JACKSONVILLE DRAWS CROWDS

The trial of State Traffic Officer Charles F. Talent, charged with the arrest of R. K. Metzger, city marshal of Jacksonville, began this afternoon before Justice of the Peace J. L. Roe.

The city marshal is represented by Allison Moulton, and the defense by Attorney Frank Desouza. Several quiet but learned controversies arose over the admission of evidence, and one debate with considerable spirit in it centered on the right of prosecution witnesses to journey half a block to the scene of the alleged traffic violation and point out where and how things happened.

It was indicated, by the questions of the defense counsel, that the defense would be performance of official duty, and hinted there was a conspiracy of truck drivers to embarrass the traffic officer.

City Marshal Metzger was the first witness, and testified to informing Talent he would have to appear in court, and he further testified that his car was parked in front of Jack Lyden's place, blocking the street crossing.

Under cross-examination, Metzger said he was with a bunch of fellows in front of the old U. S. when he noticed Talent's car and a truck parked on the opposite side of the street.

The witness said he did not know how many in the group were truck drivers, but knew that Bob Cook was not. Metzger denied any conspiracy to embarrass the traffic officer.

John Schumpf, a member of the group, corroborated Metzger's testimony relative to the position of the Talent car, and also testified he bore no ill-will against Talent. He was formerly a truck owner, and his brother had been arrested and fined $17.50 for a traffic violation, by Traffic Officer Joe McMahon and the defendant Schumpf spoke highly of his treatment at the hands of Talent, but admitted he had no admiration for McMahon.

Allen Doherty was called as a witness, but it soon developed he was at home in bed when the parking incident occurred, and was excused.

Robert Cook, a Jacksonville youth and member of the group, was called to the stand, and testified in corroboration of Metzger and Schumpf.

There was quite a crowd in the courtroom to hear the evidence, but there was a larger crowd outside, waiting for the verdict.

DAWES SHOWS HE IS A GOOD SPORT

CHICAGO, June 15.—(AP) Vice President Charles G. Dawes sent a message of congratulation to Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis today on their nomination to head the republican party ticket.

"I send you sincere congratulations upon your unanimous nomination, and best wishes."

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP) Secretary Hoover telegraphed to Senator Curtis of Kansas his congratulations upon the latter's nomination for vice president upon the republican ticket before the roll call was completed today at the Kansas City convention.

Senator Stanfield Finds Convention Costly, Loses $600

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—(AP) Former Senator Stanfield, a delegate from Oregon, may find the convention more expensive than he had reckoned. His wallet was relieved of about $600 while he was absent from his hotel. The pocketbook was found, but there was no money in it.

Oregon's 1927 fire loss was $5,022,065, against a year average of $4,922,827.

LOCAL OBSERVANCE FLAG DAY PRAISED

The best flag day observance ever noted in Medford was much in evidence yesterday, thanks to the efforts of the local post of the American Legion. Not only the business district but many residences displayed the national colors during the day showing a wide-awake and patriotic spirit which caused much favorable comment by not only tourists and strangers but local people as well.

The day's observance came to a fitting conclusion last night when the American Legion held a flag day parade through the main business section of the city. The new Legion flag, which is one of the largest in the state, was displayed for the first time and required more than 20 Legionnaires to carry it. It is planned to use this flag in the Legion convention parade next August.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK, June 15.—(AP) Heavy buying of the oil shares, particularly the Standard Group, dropped a shadow in today's stock market. Opening gains of one to seven points were wiped out by a general selling movement just before mid-day and in many cases converted into losses equally as large. The market was headed upward again in the early afternoon.

Trading was relatively light in volume, indicating that many traders and small speculators had withdrawn from the market at least temporarily. High priced specialties were rather hard hit in the morning reaction. Case Threshing, Curtis, and Coty fell two to eight points below yesterday's final quotations and Greene Cananea Copper, General Motors, Allied Chemical, International Harvester, International Telephone, DuPont, and Delaware and Hudson fell down four to nearly six points.

Among the scores turned in at noon for the first eighteen were: Mel Smith, Columbia 74; Norman Smith, Yakima 75; George Martin, Long Beach, Cal., 78; Hugh Haskon, Seattle, 79; W. H. Price, Olympic, 80; Frank Rodin, Seattle, 80; Rudie Wilhelm, Portland, 81; Monty Hill, Vancouver, B. C., 83; Fred Henwood, Seattle, 84; Jack Hueston, Medford, 79.

PRICES HERE ARE TOO LOW, BANKS TELL REALTORS

"Property values in the Rogue River valley are entirely too low considering the earning capacity. What owners need here is optimism and faith enough to put better prices on land," L. A. Banks, owner of fruit orchards in southern California and Oregon, told members of the Realty Board today at a noon meeting.

In comparing relative values of orchards in this state and California he pointed out that the Rogue River district is blessed with a generous share of natural advantages including unexcelled climate, soil conditions, and water. Property values should keep pace with development, he said.

"Since arriving in Medford a few days ago, I have heard of sales of orchard acreages at prices less than the value of the crops now on the trees. I have heard of other offerings where the price of the orchard about equalled the value of the crop now ready for harvest. Such cases are rare but the psychological effect on out of state people is bad," Mr. Banks said.

The cost of bringing an Anjou pear orchard into full bearing is considerably greater than that of an orange grove, as it requires longer for the pear trees to develop. A full bearing Anjou orchard will produce more tons per acre than will a grove of orange trees at the same stage of bearing, and the selling price of pears is greater on the average. The fruit grower told the real estate dealers.

"California has the most extensive system of advertising in connection with its orange industry of any place in the world. It is time that this valley awakened to the necessity and value of comprehensive advertising. Competition in marketing methods is a good feature and should be fostered here, concluded Mr. Banks.

An announcement of the national meeting of realtors which will be held at Victoria, B. C., July 16 was made. Ed. White was appointed to arrange an impromptu program to be broadcast from station KMGD tonight from 8 to 9. Wm. Gates who was to have given a travelogue having postponed his program.

LAKE OF WOODS EASILY REACHED

Not only is Lake of the Woods, that beautiful mountain resort lying near the base of Mount Pitt or McLaughlin, rapidly filling up with cottage owners there from Medford, Ashland and Klamath Falls, but others also. The roads to the resort via Ashland are in excellent condition for mountain roads and can now easily be negotiated by cars in two and a half hours from Medford. The fishing in the lake is fine, especially the bass fishing.

One need not own a summer home or cottage at the lake to enjoy a vacation there, as single or family furnished cottages are for rent by the concessions company, and the camp cooking house is functioning. Hence any person or persons visiting the resort can be sure of good sleeping and eating accommodations.

Information as to conditions at the lake can be obtained from Fred Wahl of the Farmers' and Fruit Growers' bank in Medford.

FIRST CAR CALIF. PEARS SHIPPED

A fruit shipping news item of interest to the pear growers and shippers of the Rogue River valley is contained in the report received here today by Guy Conner from the Pacific Fruit and Express company, which receives daily reports of California fruit shipments, that the first car load of California pears was shipped east from the Walnut Grove section of that state, on June 14th.

The report did not state what kind of pears this car consisted of, but Mr. Conner thinks they were of the Comet variety.
