150 KIWANIAN ENTERTAINED AT CRATER L. LODGE

Travel to Crater Lake national park this season passed the 2000 mark, when that number registered, according to Superintendent C. G. Thomson. Ninety per cent of the travel has been cars from east of the Mississippi river to date. Heretofore, California and Oregon led.

All the roads in the park, with the exception of the rim road, are now open, and it is expected to be opened not later than July 10. An extensive program of road and trail improvement will be carried on this season, requiring the services of two resident civil engineers, who are now on the job. A force of 80 men are now employed in this work.

Prof. E. T. Hummett of the University of California, has been assigned as park naturalist, and will arrive today to assume his duties. He succeeds Prof. Miller of the University of California. Prof. Hummett will conduct nature walks through the park and around the lake, and give two lectures daily on the geological formations and the fauna and flora of the scenic wonder.

James Lloyd, head of the public relations department of the park service, will arrive tomorrow for an inspection and visit.

A party of 150 Kiwanians, en route home from the national convention, will visit the park tomorrow. They will disembark from their special train at Chiloquin, and will be taken to the Crater Lake lodge by Klamath Falls citizens. A luncheon in their honor will be given at the lodge. The dining room and other departments of the lodge were opened this week, many University of Oregon co-eds and collegians being employed. The lodge opens its season tomorrow.

All the base oiling on the Crater Lake highway has been finished, and the road is in excellent condition. A heavy Sunday travel is anticipated.

For the first time, the park service purchased most of its opening supplies and materials and equipment from local business concerns. Among the heavy purchases was a Cleare tractor, which will be sent to Yosemite park, for service. Another Cleare, bought from Hubbard Brothers, will be used in the Crater Lake park.

Other purchases here include a Graham-Paige sedan, for the use of the superintendent, a G. M. C. truck, bought of the Highway Motor company, a speed boat from the Brown Hardware company, a large White truck, sold through Ed Webber two Ford trucks and a large consignment of miscellany.

A Wright snow-plow is also in use in the park, and proving well-nigh invaluable, according to Superintendent Thomson in the clearing of roads and removal of snow.

Mrs. Jessie C. Davis of Omaha, Neb., formerly of this city and Ashland, has arrived and will assume a position on the clerical force of Superintendent Thomson.

WORK STARTED ON BUILDINGS FOR COUNTY FAIR

Work is in full swing on the construction of five buildings on the fairgrounds in preparation for the biggest fair in southern Oregon history, to be held September 12, 13, 14 and 15, according to H. O. Frohbach, member of the fair board executive committee.

Included in the group will be a stock barn, rabbit exhibit house, educational building, automobile pavilion and a large comfort station, all of be painted cream with trimming, and of attractive architectural design. Structures now on the grounds will be enlarged in several cases with additional improvements for effective showing of exhibits.

This fall the educational feature including boys' and girls' club work will be stressed more than ever before with plans under way for an especially complete exhibit in the new building. Programs will be broadcast from station KMED previous to the fair date to advertise the event.

Harry Turner is in charge of the construction work and the contract for painting has been let to Code Hall of the Hall Paint company. Bids are now being received on paint materials.

ALL NOW READY FOR COMING OF CALIF. EDITORS

In order to determine whether the Crater Lake highway would be in good condition for the caravan of cars taking members of the California Editorial association to the resort Monday, June 25, L. G. Garlock and Bob Bett made the trip last evening.

The road from Anna Springs to Government camp is in excellent shape, and the oiling process above Prospect does not bother in driving, they reported today. Last year cars couldn't get to the lodge before July 2. Yesterday there were at least 50 autos at the lake.

From Government camp to the rim the road is under control, with one-way traffic in force. All snow is cleared off so that cars may go direct to the hotel for the official opening.

Between 20 and 40 local cars will make up the caravan which takes the California newspapermen to the lake next week. A service car will be in the party to assist in case of trouble.

GIVE FLOWERS DURING LIFE, NOT WHEN LIFE ENDS

Another interesting program at the Adventist camp at Jacksonville was given last night, with Elder Obera, secretary of the home missionary department of the union conference, leading out in a layman movement in which the delegates all heartily consented to take part. This will mean a visiting of every home in southern Oregon. The session was one of intense interest to every delegate present.

At the afternoon session S. J. Abegg, representative of the publishing department, took up the important work that is being carried on throughout the world with church books and magazines. Literature amounting to several million dollars was sold last year. He exhibited a map showing that church publishing houses have now almost belted the world but many places remain to be filled in. A number of books were sold at this meeting and pledges made to support this important branch of our work.

One of the best sermons was preached last night by Professor C. A. Russell, in which he pointed out that the Christian life was not a profession, but was a life of perpetual kindness, love and generosity. He urged that if we had any flowers to the graves of our loved ones that we present them in life and not wait until death's cold hand silences all emotion. A harsh work spoken can never be recalled and has sent many a young boy or girl from their home forever.

NOT YET DECIDED ON NEW AIRPORT SITE

Four possible sites for Medford's proposed new airport were inspected yesterday by the local committee of nine men, who came to no definite conclusion as to the best location. Grover Tyler, general superintendent of the Pacific air transport of San Francisco spent Wednesday in this city looking over the air field situation. He also visited the various sites and left this morning by plane for Seattle.

NOTED TEACHER OF BIBLE AT CENTRAL POINT CONFERENCE

The federated churches of Central Point will hold the second session of conference for Bible study this summer beginning Wednesday, June 27th and continuing over Sunday, July 1st. The first session was held last year in the month of July. These conferences will emphasize the need of bible study, will deal somewhat with methods of work, and will give unusual opportunity to hear some of the great bible questions discussed by one of the truly great bible teachers of the day.

Dr. B. B. Sutcliffe of Portland, Ore., will be the chief teacher, and will give the services each day. Dr. Sutcliffe is at the head of the Portland Union Bible classes where literally hundreds are engaged in bible study. There are seven hundred boys and girls alone connected with this work at the present time. The classes are growing. There is a growing appreciation of the need of the study of the bible, and these conferences are designed to stimulate and direct that need.

Last year the Federated church held such a conference, and into it came a goodly number of young people from the country places, who joined the local young people in study and service for the five-day sessions. The work was so much appreciated that it was soon planned to repeat the call and enlarge the work. This year there will be not only the regular work for the older groups of young people, but there will be one session each day for the intermediate groups, and in the evenings there will be a popular mass meeting for all who will come. Central Point Federated church stands in a peculiarly favorable position to foster this work. Denominationalism is not stressed, and all are welcome. The church and community will bear the responsibility of taking care of those who come, without cost, and will see that every precaution and care is given. Any young people desiring to attend these conferences should write immediately to the pastor, Rev. J. M. Johnson, box No. 375, or to the secretary of the Christian Endeavor society, Miss Ruth Webster.

It is desired that some older person come with a group of the younger folk from each community, which will help insure confidence in the minds of the parents. Older people are urged to attend the evening services at least, which will be made of special interest to Christian workers in general. Some social and recreational work will be a part of each day's program.

SONG AND DANCE ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY HERE 23RD

George McMurphy, a nationally known director formerly with Gen. Olsen, of Portland and New York, is bringing to Medford an orchestra which will be a treat to everyone interested in dancing or dance music. This organization is said to be distinguished from the ordinary dance band in that the members are all adept in some form of orchestral music as well as being artists upon their individual instruments. The band has within itself a vocal trio which is considered to be the best on the Pacific coast, several dancers and such prominent musicians as Billy O'Bryant, director and producer of the musical comedy drama, "Dream Follies," and Claude Burch, formerly with the Vancouver, B. C. hotel orchestra. Mr. Burch recently appeared in the Paramount picture, "Dancing Daughters," and is a former resident of Salem.

Mr. McMurphy has a two-year contract with the Columbia Phonograph company and has just returned from Seattle after recording several records with the band to be released next month.

George is taking his orchestra to Los Angeles for six months and has consented on request to play an engagement at the Oriental Gardens, Saturday, June 23.

CHURCH QUARTET TO GIVE CONCERT

The quartet of the Presbyterian church is planning a sacred concert for Sunday evening as the last Sunday together before the summer vacation.

These well known singers always attract a large audience of church people and townspeople who love the best in church music. After the pipe organ concert of this (Thursday) evening by Frank L.

Sealy of New York City, who for 20 years was organist at the large Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church of that city, everyone will appreciate and love the organ music more than ever. Mrs. H. E. Marsh, organist for the past nine years, ranks among the best of church organists in the state and will add to the inspiration of the evening by her music at the organ. The singers will be Florence Hazelrigg McElrose, soprano; Nina Cole Mulholland, contralto; George Maddox, tenor, and Dr. W. W. Howard, bass. The program will be given in Saturday evening's issue of this paper.

At the morning service the children of the daily vacation Bible school which closed Friday will take part in the opening service with songs and scripture and other forms
