THIS IS LONGEST WEEK OF YEAR

Today is the longest one of the year and is usually regarded scientifically as the beginning of the summer solstice. At 7:50 a. m. the sun reached the farthest point north and then began its slow retreat south.

Not only is today the longest one, but this week from last Sunday until next Sunday is the longest week of the year, each day having the same number of minutes of possible sunshine, 15 hours and 14 minutes, and the various days differing from each other only in length in the number of seconds.

BOY SCOUTS AT CAMP TAKE HIKE TO SQUAW LAKE

This morning there was the staccato "first call" at Camp Applegate and sixteen feet belonging to half that number of scouts came out onto the floor of each pyramid tent which forms the circle on the shore of the Applegate river. A hike was the program of the day and every one was keenly anxious to "hit the trail". The grub had been carefully prepared the night before and was divided into four pound lots so that each scout shared in the transportation problem.

All too soon the call for assembly came and the scouts hiked to leave off packing and fall in for "inspection". Neck and ears, hands, fingernails, teeth, toothbrush drill and personal appearance are checked systematically at the scout camp to the end that the eleven law, "A Scout is Clean" be not overlooked. The scouts marched out on to the parade field and stood at respectful attention while "The Colors" was sounded by the camp bugle corps. The beautiful flag rose briskly towards the clear blue sky and the scouts were dismissed by patrols. The popular call, "soony" followed immediately and in just an hour and a half from the time of first assembly the dishes were all washed, the packs made up and the line of march taken up.

The boys in the party are from Ashland, Medford, Jacksonville, Grants Pass, and other sections of the Crater Lake council. They plan to sleep out under the blue sky tonight and to have many thrills, among which will be cooking over the open fire, fishing, swimming, and boating on the secluded Squaw Lake, and the adventure, or ghost story around the camp fire to top off a great day. The home camp and wonderful food of a real cook will look better than ever when the boys return tomorrow night.

The last period of camp is to open on Sunday, June 24. The camp is now filled and the director states that if registrations continue to come in at the present rate the last period will soon be closed. Registrations may be made at Scout Headquarters, Medford on Saturday or by mail, care of Scout Camp, Medford. Scouts and parents are advised to register at once.

LINDBERGH SEES HEAD OF HILL LINE

ST. PAUL, June 21.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today terminated his second visit to the Twin Cities since he flew across the Atlantic ocean, when he hopped off from the St. Paul air port for an unannounced destination.

L. W. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern railway, who conferred with Colonel Lindbergh on aviation matters during the "Lone Eagle's" stay here, declared that the flier expected to travel "about a thousand miles," but his destination was not revealed.

Earlier in the morning Colonel Lindbergh had taken M. Hill, Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern, and others on sight-seeing flights over the Twin Cities.

JUSTICE M'BRIDE IS HURT IN ACCIDENT

SALEM, Ore., June 21.—(AP)—Justice T. A. McBride of the Oregon supreme court is confined to his home for a few days with a splintered rib, cut on the head and bruises as the result of an automobile wreck on the Pacific highway near Amity Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. McBride was not injured. The McBrides were returning from Walla Walla, where they had attended commencement exercises at Whitman college, when their machine was crowded into the ditch by a passing car. The McBride vehicle was overturned but was driven to Salem by another driver, the McBrides making the trip in the machine.

The Noted Dead

HELENA, Mont., June 21.—(AP)—Dr. C. M. Lanstrom, republican national committeeman from Montana, died suddenly at his office here last night. He was 58 years old and came to Montana in 1885.

NOTED ORGANIST THRILLS REPORTER AS HE PRACTICES

Just a sample of what Medford people who attend the pipe organ recital tonight at the Presbyterian church will hear was enough to send the Mail Tribune reporter, who came upon Frank Sealy of New York, as he was practicing this afternoon, down the street telling everyone she met about the thrill.

Mr. Sealy arrived here this morning after attending a three-day convention of the National Organists of America at Detroit, Mich. The visiting artist is warden of the organization.

On the program tonight will be the following numbers: "Overture to Athalia" —Handel; "Adagio" from "Nocturno" —Spohr; "Allegro Grazioso" —Holloway; "Evening Song" —Brahms; "Rondo Francese" —Hilbertson; "Christmas Bells" —Dieckmann; "Sur Le Nil" —Becker; "Volga Boatman Song" —Russian.

MISS BOLL FLYING BACK TO NEW YORK

HARBOR GRACE, N.E. June 21.—(AP) Miss Mabel Boll took off here at 5:27 local time this morning in the monoplane Columbia for Curtiss field, New York.

At the controls was Oliver Le Boutillier, pilot, and also aboard were Arthur Argles, co-pilot and Andrew Surin, mechanic.

The start for New York was at 3:07 eastern standard time. Miss Boll said she intended to investigate an alleged difference in weather advice received by her and those furnished Miss Amelia Earhart at Trenton last Saturday just prior to the latter's successful flight. She failed to elaborate on her charges.

FEAR FOR AMUNDSEN

It is feared that the Russian ice-breaker Malign, which was in the neighborhood, should go to the seaplane's assistance.

The polar fliers, Captain Sir George H. Wilkins and Carl B. Eielson, who arrived at Bergen last night, expressed no anxiety when informed that nothing had been heard since he started from Tromsø.

A telegram to the Afterposten from Kings Bay said it was thought Amundsen might have flown to Franz Josef land.

FLYING CLOUD WINS

POMO, June 21.—(AP)—Flying Cloud, the winner of the event, declares that he has never felt better in his life. Now that the $5000 is his, he has made his first declaration concerning its disposal.

"I'm going to put the $5000 in the bank. The car I bought with last year's prize money is plenty good for me," he declared. He registered an emphatic "No" when asked if he intended to get married. Flying Cloud will not be 21 until October and is a handsome Indian youth. He disposed of the marriage question with one short word.

Flying Cloud must remain here for several days to keep in condition, as he has been warned against a sudden cessation of running.

JONES AT BEST

Bobby got a big cheer when he sank a 16-footer for a birdie three on the fourth, after trying a beautiful pitch shot to the green. Farrell's second was short, barely reaching the carpet, and he took three putts for a five. He was trailing Jones by three strokes and par by two.

Jones' bid for another birdie was three inches short on the fifth green and he took the regulation four while Farrell, his putting touch still missing, took a five for the third straight time.

Farrell just missed a deuce with his 20-foot putt on the 155-yard sixth. He was down in three. Jones, in a trap, took two putts after a fine explosion shot and a larded a four.

After a bad start on the first three holes, Le# Diegel of New York, one of the favorites, played par golf the rest of the way in for 27, two over par.

Chick Evans, Chicago amateur veteran and former title holder, also had trouble getting started, taking a six and a five on the first two holes.

He settled down and bagged birdies on the seventh and eighth after a fine explosion shot and a larded a four.
