CITY TO HASTEN DECISION UPON AIRPORT BONDS

Altho Mayor Alexander, Councilman A. C. Hubbard, Councilmen H. B. Hammond and A. J. Cross are still away from the city, and there was only a quorum present at the council meeting last Tuesday night, due to the fact that City Attorney John H. Carlin had returned home and the fact that Councilman Hubbard, vice mayor, had telegraphed his resignation as vice mayor, from the east, the city council at its adjourned meeting last night was able to transact business legally, by electing one of the quorum, E. H. Janney, as vice mayor.

Because of the absence of Mayor Alexander and Vice Mayor Hubbard, who is on a several months vacation jaunt in the east, and who by law officiates as mayor and chairman of the council whenever the mayor is away, it was necessary, in order to have the council's transactions legal, to appoint another councilman to serve as vice mayor until Mr. Hubbard's return.

BERT BATES IN WAR WITH COPS

Bert Bates of Roseburg, well known in this city, extrajudicially in American Legion circles, is the storm center of a rumpus in his own home town, according to the following item from the Roseburg News-Review, of which Bates is part owner.

"Varying out his threat that he would arrest Bert Bates if the News-Review 'guzzled' him for his hot-headed actions at the city hall following the raid of the private home of Fred Schwartz, Chief of Police Vaughn has issued a complaint charging the newspaper man with the crime of resisting an officer. The complaint alleges that the reporter resisted him while he was attempting to place him in jail. The 'throwing in jail' process following an attack by the officer on the person of Mr. Bates, who fought Vaughn off as he leaped across the table and attempted to choke him. The officer when he made the attack, said nothing about placing the reporter in jail but was merely angry because he had been crossed for his action in invading the private domicile of a peaceable citizen."

NEED CLOTHING FOR CHILDREN OF SERVICE MEN

Twenty-five thousand disabled veterans of the late World war, 21,000 orphans and countless thousands of little children who belong in the families of ex-service men are still the care of the Legion and Auxiliary. When the four million or more of returning ex-service men came back to the United States, their places were no longer open. Their objectives were gone. So what did happen? The best spirit of the American Expeditionary force and our United States army formed that widely known organization of veterans, the American Legion.

All through the first decade of our reconstruction period this organization has done all in its power to preserve and maintain the highest ideals of Americanism. Not a militaristic body, but still not asking for peace at any price and profiting by the ever present sacrificial results of lack of preparedness, the American Legion is asking for adequate legislation to prevent any such things as were possible before.

June 25th at the Armory will be the business meeting when applications for new members will be presented. Wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of legionnaires are cordially invited to come and unite in this worthy service for the boys and their comrades. Mrs. Frank Waite, chairman of the child-welfare committee, asks that any clothing which has been outgrown but is still in good condition be donated for a box to be sent to the children of the disabled veterans in Hospital 77 in Portland. Mrs. Wm. Offutt, Mrs. Roland Smith or Mrs. Lyle Thurman will call for any packages on receipt of a call by phone. Auxiliary members can bring bundles to the meeting at the Armory, Monday night, June 25th, as the committee plans to pack the box Tuesday.

OREGON CAVES RD. IS BOUND TO COME, SAYS C. E. GATES

An enthusiastic delegation from Williams creek attended the open forum meeting of the Realty board today noon, the question of a road from that point to Oregon Caves being discussed. Expressing the sentiment that it is now time to start fighting again for the right of good roads in the field which will benefit not only Medford but all of southern Oregon, R. F. Lewman, of the Williams district said, "It's the squeaky wheel that gets the grease."

At present a letter being sent from Williams to Medford and around through Grants Pass before reaching here, one of the men said in stressing the importance of the new road as a time and money saver.

The cooperation of the local realtors was pledged and a committee will be appointed in the near future to perfect plans. "The Oregon Caves road is bound to come, and just as every road in Oregon leads to Portland, so does every road in southern Oregon lead to Medford. This being the case the proposed road would benefit all of the neighboring towns," C. E. Gates said. Among the guests present at the meeting were R. F. Lewman, W. C. Pkley, George Spaulan and George Fields, all of Williams creek; Harry Floyd, Holland; G. W. Godward and A. T. Norris, Jacksonville; Victor Bursell, W. H. Gore, Fred Baker and C. E. Gates, local men interested in the project.

Camerman Shoots Marathon
Some fine movies of the finish of the Indian marathon were secured yesterday for the Copco news-reel by H. L. Bromley, local cameraman. Flying Cloud was "shot" in various stages of the finish as he completed the last few miles of the 47 mile marathon. Mr. Bromley having left here early yesterday morning and having gone out the Redwood highway to meet the winner, some good close-ups of Flying Cloud as he received his $2000 prize and other interesting shots were taken for early release here by the Copco advertising department.

Bromley also secured some good pictures of Melika, the aged Zuni on the last lap of the long grind, accompanied by his trainers playing a mouth organ and singing to keep up the old Indian's spirit.

SKAGGS SAFEWAY STORES Distribution Without Waste

Usually food passes from producer or manufacturer to the broker, from broker to wholesaler, wholesaler to retailer, retailer to consumer. Each of these operations involves investment, labor, warehouse and storage facilities, wastage and spoilage—a tremendous tax upon the family budget. This roundabout, expensive method of distribution is no longer necessary.
