LITTLE AND BIG GIRLS CAN ENTER DOLL PARADE ENTERTAIN FRIDAY

Several girls who are above the age limit set for the doll buggy parade entrants, seven years, have come to the playground asking if they could take part. Miss Melba Williams, supervisor, announced today that there will be two groups, one under seven and one for all those over that age. This means that anyone who still loves dolls and has a buggy may get out the family chariot and polish up the cart for the first doll buggy parade in Medford's history, which will leave the Chamber of Commerce Friday afternoon, June 29, at 3 o'clock and travel from there to the city playgrounds on Main street.

Judges will award blue, red and green ribbons for the most beautiful, as well as the cleverest, entries, which will be selected by judges from the P. T. A., Lion's club and Greater Medford club.

Following the parade, which will be followed by volunteers from the Boy Scout order, the children will display their dolls in booths and more prizes will be given. Home-made dolls, grandmother's favorite toy, in fact, any type of dolls may be included in the show. Miss Williams told about a contest in California where one little girl won a prize with a Chinese model made by using a milk bottle topped with a lemon, cleverly painted for a head. Additional entertainment during the afternoon will be a peanut hunt, miniature truck meet and free ice cream. Miss Marjorie Kelly is assisting with plans for the event.

Boy Scouts who will help pilot the parade are requested to leave their names with one of the women in charge of the playground.

3 RURAL SCHOOLS NOW IN SESSION

There are three schools under the supervision of the Medford office which are open during the summer and began in March because of the impossibility of children getting from their homes to the school buildings in the winter. One is at Redman, with Miss Geraldine Redman in charge; Clatsop, taught by Miss Blair, and Spring Creek, with Bernice Johnson the teacher, are now in session.

LAKEVIEW.—Bernard Daily educational foundation has $1,041, 529 available for university scholarships.

Don't Make a Toy Out of Baby —Babies Have Nerves—

By RUTH BRITAIN

Much of the nervousness in older children can be traced to the overstimulation during infancy, caused by regarding baby as a sort of animated toy for the amusement of parents, relatives and friends. Baby may be played with, but not for more than a quarter of an hour to an hour daily. Beyond that, being handled, tickled, caused to laugh or even scream, will sometimes result in vomiting, and invariably causes irritability, crying or sleeplessness.

Fretfulness, crying and sleeplessness from this cause can easily be avoided by treating baby with more consideration, but when you just can't see what is making baby restless or upset, better give him a few drops of pure, harmless Castoria. It's amazing to see how quickly it calms baby's nerves and soothes him to sleep, yet it contains no drugs or opiate. It is purely vegetable—the recipe is in its wrapper. Leading physicians prescribe it for colic, cholera, diarrhea, constipation, gas on stomach and bowels, feverishness, loss of sleep and all other "upsets" of babyhood. Over 25 million babies used it year shows its overwhelming popularity.

With each bottle of Castoria, you get a book on Motherhood, worth its weight in gold. Look for Castoria, if Fletcher's signature on the package so you'll get genuine Castoria. There are many imitations.

Dix Comedy Causes Laughs at Rialto

Again Richard Dix, whose recent farce comedies have struck a new, high note in motion picture entertainment, makes a decided hit. His latest picture, the farce comedy, "Easy Come, Easy Go," opened at the Rialto theater yesterday, and was hailed with rapturous applause of laughter.

This latest Dix picture is the screen version of the Owen Davis play and the production is excellently staged and developed. The theme is light and wholesome, the acting cleverly appealing and the situations handled with all the finesse of which veterans are capable.

Dix takes the role of an American youth, honest and industrious but temporarily downcast and in need of a job.

Vaudeville Bill at Craterian Tomorrow

There is something for everyone in the Association Vaudeville bill at Hunt's Craterian theater tomorrow. Vaudeville fans who crave variety and something rather different from the usual, will enjoy a solid hour of stage entertainment.

Instrumental and song numbers rendered with the fervor of the Italian artist will be the offering of the Royal Venetian Five, the headline act. They are singers of operatic and popular songs, and also play violin, harp and guitar.

Winnie Hennings, are to be heard in an eccentric musical, singing, dancing and talking act.

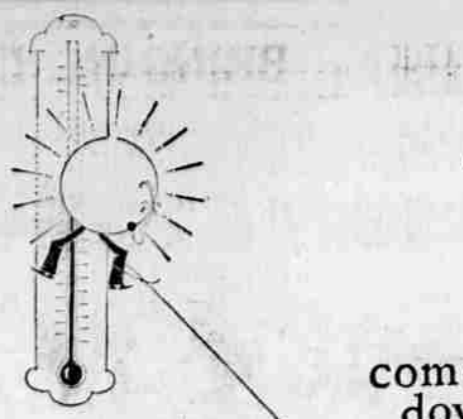

Miss Hennings with a cornet and Mr. Hennings with trombone invariably stir up gales of merriment.

Bright, clean, comedy chatter, especially written by Jack Norworth, is utilized by Sylvia Snow and Dan Sigworth, in their skill, "Gobs of Glee," a little comedy which is entirely for merriment and song.

Valentine and Bell are bicycle and unicycle riders. More correctly, they ride pieces of furniture which adorn the home, such as a picture on the wall, a portable Victrola, and a grandfather clock.

Ralph Seabury, the illustrating iconologist, will mingle singing, conversation and cartooning in an interesting way. Making pictures from the names of persons in the audience is but one of his accomplishments.
