TO SING AT DEMO CONVENTION

Houston's own prima donna, Miss Malvina Pasmore, formerly with the Chicago Opera company, opens the Democratic national convention with a song.

"PINCHOT" HAS FAMOUS TRIPLETS

Last year this full-bred Holstein cow gave birth to twins, and several days ago she presented her owner, Aaron Risser, farmer near Elizabethtown, Pa., with triplets. Risser calls the mother "Pinchot," because she is dry at present and her three calves are "Al Smith," "Herbert Hoover" and "Ma Ferguson."

GOVERNOR SMITH AND HIS MOTHER

This is one of the latest pictures of Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, and candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, with his aged mother. It was taken at her Brooklyn home in 1924, shortly before her death.

ALSO HAS EYE ON WHITE HOUSE

"Tut," pet police dog owned by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, may be the next White House mascot, if his master succeeds in winning the presidential election in the autumn. "Tut" would like to romp on the White House lawn. He's shown here in front of the Hoover residence at Washington, D. C.

BEEES SWARM ON CITY STREET

Bzzzz! These bees, swooping down on the business section of Cincinnati, O., are the talk of the city. Above, a few brave individuals are scooping them into a box, while curious city folk look on.

AMONG FIRST AT CONVENTION CITY

This group from Ohio was among the first of the arrivals at Houston, Tex., for the Democratic national convention. They are, standing, left to right, Mrs. Nan R. Albert, of Canton; Miss Marie McCurry, of Columbus, secretary of the Democratic executive committee of the Buckeye state; and, seated, John R. Woods, treasurer of the Ohio committee, and W. A. Julian, regional committeeman.

WHERE G. O. P. CANDIDATES LIVE

There's rejoicing in the west since the Republican national convention selected Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, and Senator Charles Curtis, as its standard bearers, because it is the first time in the history of the party that both candidates have been chosen from states west of the Mississippi. It also is the first presidential from states west of the Mississippi. Map, above, shows Palo Alto, Cal., Hoover's home, and West Branch, Ia., his birthplace; and Topeka, Kan., where Senator Curtis lives.

PRINCIPALS OF INDIA FLIGHT

MAYOR JIMMY'S KING AT HOUSTON

As floor leader of the Smith forces on the convention floor, Mayor Jimmy Walker, of New York, above, is at once one of the most important figures and one of the most popular delegates to the Democratic gathering.

ANOTHER "PERFECT" FRENCH GIRL

Mrs. Regine Bouet has been "crowned" by a mixed committee of artists, photographers, theatrical managers and men about town, as the perfect French type of 1928.

Girl Conqueror of Atlantic

Sketch of Miss Amelia Earhart, Boston welfare worker and first of her sex to cross the Atlantic by airplane, as seen by Brunjulf Strandena, Norwegian artist, just before she departed from Boston

CHILD "FIREMAN" A REAL HERO

Ever since Buddy Hight, eight, got a toy water tower last Christmas, he has dreamed of being a real fireman. Now he's a hero in Seattle, Wash., and may be made an honorary member of the department. While playing on his truck, he saw a puff of real smoke coming from a nearby apartment. He pounded on the door and getting no response went inside, awakened Mrs. H. F. Summers and led her from the burning building. Above, Buddy, in search of more fires to conquer.

CLAIMS HE'S CHAMP COMMUTER

In point of railway mileage covered, W. Taylor, of San Jose, Cal., claims to be the world's champion commuter. For more than 45 years Taylor, left, has commuted between San Jose and San Francisco, a distance of 100 miles for the round trip. He estimates he has traveled 1,348,234 miles. Taylor is shown receiving the congratulations of Station Master George Knipe at San Jose.
