

EXPECT 100,000 VISITORS AT CRATER LAKE THIS YEAR

Col. C. G. Thomson Makes Prediction That 1928 Will Break All Records at National Park—More Than 20,000 Visitors to Date.

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., July 7. (Special.) Over one hundred thousand tourists from every highway and byway in the United States, and from scores of foreign nations, will stand at the rim of Crater Lake this season and drink in the deep, deep blue of the most beautiful body of water in the world.

This is the prediction of Colonel C. G. Thomson, superintendent of the Crater Lake park—and, what's more, it is the first forecast he has ever made publicly since he has held his position in the national park.

"The reason why I make this prediction is that up to last night over 20,000 people had passed through the entrance gates of Crater Lake since the opening of 1928. On the same date last year, 14,822 had been checked at the entrance gates."

Optimistic Prediction. "The banner year was 1926, and I certainly believe I am safe in saying that this figure will not only be exceeded by the close of the 1928 season, but that over 100,000 visitors will have been checked at the various entrances."

"The south of Klamath entrance to the lake is booming as never before. Its popularity with the Crater Lake visitor is assured. On one day, cars from 24 different states were checked in or out of the lake."

No Inlet or Outlet. "You ask about the possibility of an underground inlet or outlet, or both, to Crater Lake, and I answer that such a thing has been definitely disproven. The bottom of the lake is charted by government specialists, even as the surface of the park is outlined on a topographical map. It is 1194 feet deep."

"By various tests it has been determined that the evaporation is only a fraction greater than the inflow from melted snow and that there is no outlet to the lake."

"The water of the lake is protected on all sides from the wind and because the sun is not so hot, and because it is often cloudy at the park, the evaporation at the lake is not as great as on other lakes. Klamath lake, for example, it fits in with the ideas of some theorists that the sources of certain upper Klamath basin streams have their origin in a subterranean outlet of Crater Lake. In so far as paleontological government research can determine, there is no inlet and no outlet to Crater Lake."

Morton Hoyt Jumps Into Sea From Rochambeau. But Yells for Help and Is Rescued—Cause for His Action Is Not Explained.

NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP) The steamship Rochambeau, due here Monday from Havre, has among other passengers, Morton Hoyt, a member of a socially prominent Washington family, who jumped overboard off the Grand Banks and was rescued in twenty minutes.

At eight o'clock last night when the ship was plowing its way through a dense fog, the cry "man overboard" was raised and it was learned that Hoyt had plunged into the Atlantic.

The vessel immediately turned in a complete circle and started back along its course with Captain Leon Rollin directing the search from the bridge. Within twenty minutes Mr. Hoyt was located and heard crying for help. A lifeboat was lowered and he was picked up completely exhausted from his struggle with the waves. He said he suggested jumping overboard and asked that he be allowed to sleep. The jump and the rescue were described in radio advices to the Associated Press.

Mr. Hoyt is the son of the late Henry M. Hoyt, who served as collector general of the United States in the Taft administration.

MRS. FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT IS AL'S DEFENDER

Wife of Smith Supporter Answers Mrs. Clem Shaver—Smith Asks Reed to Help Him in Middle West—Tammany Fuss Denied.

NEW YORK, July 7.—(AP) Governor Smith has called on his chief opponent for the democratic presidential nomination—Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, for aid in the coming campaign.

He wrote Senator Reed an invitation to come to Albany as his guest and confer on the campaign. The letter was made public by Smith headquarters this afternoon.

"Now that the storm of battle has cleared away from the governor's words, I hope that I can prevail upon you to spend a night at Albany at the executive mansion and confer with me on conduct and issues of the campaign in which we are engaged together. Please let me know what your plans are for the near future so that we can perhaps get together soon."

The Missouri senator, who waged a strenuous campaign for the nomination, only to be swept aside by the Smith landslide at Houston, publicly endorsed his aid to Governor Smith immediately after the latter's nomination. It was believed the governor would ask Mr. Reed, who is a forceful speaker, to take the stump for him in the middle western states, where the senator is best known.

The attack on Governor Smith made at Washington by Mrs. Clem I. Shaver, wife of the democratic national chairman and leader of the Women's Democratic Law Enforcement league, a dry organization, drew instant response here from Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Mrs. Shaver's attack is well in line with the extreme and frequently untruthful statements made by the little group of women represented by the Women's Democratic Law Enforcement committee of Baltimore," said the wife of the man who nominated Governor Smith at Houston. She said she believed Mrs. Shaver had been misled by a group that considered enforcement of the National law "more important than truth or fair play."

Mrs. Shaver said the governor had "stamped himself as a charlatan and a faker," and that the dry democratic women of the country would not support the ticket.

Reports that there was dissension in the Smith camp between Tammany leaders and friends of Governor Smith, not identified with that organization, are denied by James J. Hoey, a close friend of the governor's.

"The report of friction among Governor Smith's friends is undoubtedly propaganda, intended to cover up and draw attention away from the dissension in the republican ranks," he said.

Senator Will R. King of Utah was one of the callers at Smith headquarters yesterday. He predicted that the Rocky Mountain states would be in the Smith column in November. "I am confident that the party will carry many states this year that it has not carried in the last few campaigns," he said.

PIRATES DROP 5 STRAIGHT GAMES

(By the Associated Press) Experts who made Pittsburgh a favorite to win the National league race again look bad, but the Pirates look worse. After dropping their fifth straight game yesterday to the New York Giants, 11 to 2, the Pirates were imbedded more firmly in sixth place.

The Giants pounded Fred Fausell, Johnny Miljus and Joe Dawson for seven runs in the first inning yesterday and the Pirates, although always trying, never were able to overcome this handicap. The victory put McFay's men only two games back of the pace-setting St. Louis Cards.

The Chicago Cubs, led by Hack Wilson, hammered out a 14 to 3 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers and consolidated their position in third place. Wilson got four hits, including his 24th and 25th home runs. He upped Bottomley of the Cards by three in their battle for leadership in four-batters.

A four-run rally in the ninth by the Washington Senators just failed of a tie and the Chicago White Sox won their fifth straight game of the week, 9 to 8.

Rain washed out the rest of the day's major league card.

Garland Hakey, a major league pitcher recently released by Cleveland of the American league, has been signed by the New York Giants.

DENY DEATH OF LOWENSTEIN A MARKET HOAX

Reports of a Fake Tragedy Not Supported by Facts Belgian Financier Seen to Never Arrived in France. Enter Plane at Crocyden.

LONDON, Eng., July 7.—(AP) Captain Drew, pilot of Captain Alfred Lowenstein's private airplane, returned to Crocyden today after a fruitless search in the English channel for the financier's body and emphatically denied rumors that the captain's disappearance was a market hoax.

"It's all utter rubbish," he declared. "There is absolutely no truth in the rumor that he did not enter the plane or that he left it on the French coast. It would have been impossible for him to leave the machine after we landed without being noticed. I don't think for a moment that it was a case of suicide."

An official at the Crocyden air-drome said: "You can take it from me that Captain Lowenstein was seen to leave the machine by air ministry officials."

R. F. Little, mechanic of the plane, said that he saw the financier in the machine several minutes before it reached the coast, adding: "And when we landed he was definitely not in the plane."

Tests made at Lebourget air-drome, France, to determine whether it was possible to open the door of a plane in flight showed it was not easy to do so. Two mechanics using a plane similar to that from which Lowenstein disappeared with the motor running full force was so great that the combined strength of the two men was just sufficient to open the door wide enough to permit one of the men to pass through.

it. Yet friends of Lowenstein maintained that he often opened the door of his plane to look out over the sea and the landscape. He was said to have possessed great strength.

Rumors that the whole affair was a gigantic hoax were circulated in brokers' offices and in other centers of interest in dealing on the stock exchanges of London, Paris, Berlin and Brussels. One suggestion was that Lowenstein never left Crocyden. Another rumor was that he landed with the plane "sorey" where between Crocyden and Dunkirk where it was first seen to land, and disappeared, or that he vanished in a fast motor car after landing at Dunkirk.

Newspapers recalled that the mysterious deaths of prominent persons had always been followed by such reports.
