GENE SO MAD OVER ARTICLE HE CAN'T BOX

Champion Denies He Called Boxing Board 'Thugs' Rickard Visits Camp With Notables—Tunney May Fly With Com. Byrd To Gotham.

SPECIAL L.A. N. Y., July 14.—The statement that the New York boxing commission was controlled by "thugs and politicians" attributed to Gene Tunney by one of the metropolitan newspapers so affected the champion today that he was unable to display his best form in the training ring.

Gene was so excited about the truthless report that he neglected his road work and was unwilling to put on the gloves with Harold Gaze and Billy Vinhook, his sparring partners.

The champion who is training for his title bout with Tom Heeney of July 26 was for one day, May 26, after him in the first round, landing several hard left and right hands to the champion's head and during the rest of the practice bout Tunney took many a body punch which he should have blocked or sidestepped.

Tunney looked better against Vinhook but the latter has great trouble avoiding a right hand punch and the champion had no rest difficulty landing this blow to all parts of his body. Gene's footwork was much slowed in early rounds, though he appeared in excellent physical shape, several hundred spectators paid 50 cents each to watch the work out, he proceeds going to church.

After reading the newspaper which featured the insubordination, Tunney issued the following: "I emphatically deny the statement accredited to me regarding the New York boxing commission being controlled and influenced by 'thugs and politicians.' It was a cowardly thing and most unfair to both the boxing commission and myself. It put me in a particularly embarrassing position with Commissioner William A. Muldoon, whom I respect more than I do any man I have ever known, and for whom my affection and admiration is genuine."

After issuing the statement, Tunney called attention to the fact that he had not boxed in New York state since 1925 and therefore could have no first hand knowledge of boxing in the empire state.

Tunney has not yet decided how he will travel to New York on the day of the championship bout. He decided not to engage a hydro-airplane for the 200 mile trip after being told that most sea-planes were much slower than land planes. Commander Richard Byrd, it has been said, will come here to pay the champion a visit and if he arrives by plane, Tunney may fly with him back to New York on the day of the fight.

Tex Eckard, promoter of the coming bout, arrived tonight with a party of 52, which included one railroad president and several prominent bank heads.

ELKINS, OLYMPIC HOPE TO DEFEAT FINN, IMPROVING

By ALAN J. GOULD Associated Press Sports Editor. ON BOARD S. S. PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, EN ROUTE.—(AP)—The possibility that Ed Elkins, former University of Nebraska all-around star, might be included on the American Olympic track and field team as one of four athletes in the decathlon competition at Amsterdam, loomed tonight as a result of the latest exchange of diagrams between the Olympic committee and the New York Athletic club.

Elkins, who had completely recovered from the leg injury that eliminated him from the final Olympic decathlon tryouts at Philadelphia, prompted the committee to radio to the New York A. C. a request that the "chick" make a test of his fitness in several of the decathlon events, and that a report of how he fares be sent to the Olympic committee. On the information contained in this report the committee probably will determine whether Elkins will be included in the final entries which are to be filed with Amsterdam authorities by July 15.

The inclusion of Elkins would mean the dropping of Tom Churchill of the University of Oklahoma, who finished fourth in the final tryouts. Strong opposition to this course has developed among some of the committee men, but the majority apparently feel that Elkins, if in condition, is the only American with a chance of defeating the famous Finn, Vegola. It also is pointed out that the decathlon team will be no worse off even if Elkins fails, since the inexperienced Oklahoma man is extremely unlikely to place.

Ross Nichols, the Stanford hurdler, who is making the trip as a guest, and Frank Messers, who was a star at the University of California, are doing more work than any of the other members of the squad. There's little chance, however, that either will see Olympic action unless accidents to other stars force their inclusion.

PADDOCK PROTEST INCIDENT CLOSED BY GEN. M'ARTHUR

By Alan J. Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor. ALBANY STEAMSHIP PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, EN ROUTE TO AMSTERDAM.—(AP)—Apparently the last word on the Paddock case for as the Olympic committee is concerned has been pronounced by Major General Douglas MacArthur, president of the committee, in reply to a statement issued by General Patton E. Pierce, president of the National Collegiate association, upholding the action on the famous sprinter's amateur status.

After a unanimous committee vote upholding Paddock's amateur standing, MacArthur outlined the following reply to General Pierce: "Your telegram apparently based upon complete misunderstanding of your part of the position and action. I request you obtain from the press the only statement which was given out in reference to the resignation of George W. Whistman of Boston from the Olympic committee. As you will see, most of the issues which were presented in your wire were resolved.

"As for the Paddock case, as in any other athletic matter, the committee would not hesitate to act had any evidence been submitted prejudicial to him. The selection committee, whose action is in no sense prejudicial and better than Paddock did not appear, were recommended by me that Paddock be declared ineligible and that his name be deleted and would be investigated before he was accepted.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 14.—(AP)—Curtis Hargrove, sculptor and artist, is in this section on a business trip, a subject for a magazine article which "has a story" Hargrove does not know his name, or what he does, or where he lives, only that it is somewhere in North Carolina. But he terms the boy a genius and is determined to find him. That is why he left his studio in San Antonio, Texas.

Some time ago the youth called into Hargrove's studio. He had come from the west from North Carolina to watch the sculpture in work. He brought with him a few poems, a sketch and a small model of two birds wanted sculpture to pass them on.

The sculptor was busy. The boy sat all day watching him. At midnight he left, saying there was a job in North Carolina that he had to get back to.

Three or four days passed before Hargrove paid an attention to the poems, the sketch and the small model. Then his search began.

"That boy has a soul," Hargrove said in amazement yesterday. "I've been looking for English to contribute his work. That boy has a soul and I don't even remember his name. I had him in my hands. There was life in what he did."
