A Vanished Bugaboo.
Some Real Calvinists.

Poor Burns, He Drank.

Dread of Big Business fades. Raskob, financial head of the four billion dollar General Motors company, is Democratic national chairman. Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of the General Electric company, one of the biggest corporations in America, is asked to run for governor by Democrats in New York.

William Jennings Bryan, where he dwells in bliss, doubtless shudders at all this. But these are practical days. Big Business is practical and it is well to recognize things as they are.

Some Calvinists, it seems, are still Calvinists like old John, Queen Wilhelmina, of Holland, will not attend the Olympic games. Calvinists in Holland are urged to stay away from what stern preachers call "a carnival of the flesh."

Dutch Calvinists say the Olympic games turn men away from Golgotha to Greco-Roman paganism.

A majority of human beings have abandoned the John Calvin theory, which included the burning alive of Dr. Servetus on slight provocation, believing that the good Lord wants people to enjoy themselves occasionally.

Crime organization seems to reach almost everywhere. On Saturday night two dangerous man-killing gunmen escaped from Sing Sing prison.

The next morning two Sing Sing prison guards were arrested, accused of blackmailing motorists on the highway. No wonder prisoners escape, when the jailers by night are highwaymen and blackmailers by day. A fine example to the prisoners. In "reforming" prison atmosphere.

The Rev. Dr. Wylie, chaplain of Robert Burns Memorial association, regrets that Burns drank so much. It is too bad, but it is not certain that he would have written the same poetry on an ice water diet.

Strangely enough, good writing and alcohol have gone together. Beaumont and Fletcher, Shakespeare, Dr. Johnson, Coleridge, practically all the great ones, drank. As for Latin writers, Dante, Cervantes, etc., and old Greeks and Romans, they would have thought water plain poison.

Jeritz will talk and sing in a "talking movie." "The talkies" make a good start with this artist. The singer will get $10,000 a week or more. And while she rests the film will go on singing millions hearing it. Wonderful invention, time and labor saving.

Russian scientists, newspapers and poets continue bitter attacks on the Italian North Pole aviators because of the alleged abandonment of the scientist, Malmgren, in an ice grave, left to die. A Russian poet writes about "the fascist general who took the cross to the pole, but deserted his comrades."

Noble's experience shows that theodolite is not the airship for polar flights. Ice on the "Italia" bag forced the ship down head first. Who will find a way to prevent ice formation on flying machinery?

HOOVER TO WIN IOWA BY 200,000

Governor Hammill, Farm Leader in Corn Belt, Declares Hoover Has Plan of Farm Relief That Will Sweep Rural States—No Hot Air, But a Specific Program.

OMAHA, Neb., July 18.—(AP)—A prediction that Herbert Hoover will offer a plan of farm relief more practical and intelligent than any heretofore advanced, was made today by Governor John Hammill of Iowa, after a conference with the republican presidential candidate aboard the special train.

This is the message which the governor said he would take to the republican state convention today at Des Moines, to which city he is to fly by plane from Council Bluffs to address the state political gathering. After half an hour's conference with Hoover, during a ride between Missouri Valley and Council Bluffs, Governor Hammill declared that the farmer has in Hoover "a real champion."

"When his final explanation of his platform is made it will challenge the admiration of all those interested in agriculture, and the nation, as well," Hammill said. Asked upon what he based this conclusion, he said he believed the Hoover standard bearer was "going to be specific and is going to have a relief program that is worth while."

"I can speak with a knowledge that is specific," he said. "Mr. Hoover is going to make farm relief the first principle of his administration. He regards it both as a moral and positive obligation of the party and of himself. He recognizes that there is a problem and that it is an obligation upon the whole people."

"The farmers are going to have faith in Hoover and his program. In my judgment, he is going to offer a plan more sound and intelligent than any offered to the American people." It is to be said he would deliver this message to the convention in much more elaborate form, explaining that he would outline the definite things which Hoover would present in his acceptance speech at Palo Alto on August 13.

Carry Iowa by 200,000. The governor declared that the qualification fee had been definitely thrown into the discard, but he declared that the farm leaders of Iowa were surrendering to principle and to cause, but were agreed that there were more ways than one by which the agricultural problem could be solved.

Finally the governor predicted that Iowa would go for Hoover by 200,000. After his conference with the candidate, Governor Hammill issued this statement on the action of the corn belt committee recently in commending the democratic agricultural plank and condemning the republican farm plank:

"The corn belt committee which met in Des Moines composed of a majority of democratic leaders passed a series of resolutions, from which it appears they believed the democratic party, Governor Smith and Mr. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, have promised them the equalization fee legislation.

"It is important to the people of Iowa to know whether the corn belt committee has any assurance from Governor Smith or Mr. Raskob upon which to base action.

"The corn belt committee, Mr. Smith and Mr. Raskob owe it to the people of Iowa to clear up this question."

Secretary Hoover continued his farm relief discussions with Charles A. McLeod, republican national committeeman for Nebraska, who boarded the train at Council Bluffs and also with Judge W. B. Green of the federal court of claims, a native of Iowa, and former chairman of the house ways and means committee. Governor Adam McMullen of Nebraska, who is a supporter of Frank O. Lowden in the present campaign, joined the train at Freeport to ride across the state with Hoover and discuss the farm problem with him.

News of Father's Death. First news of the death of Mr. Henry was conveyed to Mr. Hoover by Omaha by the Associated Press. As soon as the news left Omaha, the secretary broke the news to Mrs. Hoover, who

RENEW SEARCH NEW CATHOLIC FOR AMUNDSEN CHURCH TO BE & COMPANIONS ERECTED HERE

Ice Breakers Malign and Ground Will Be Broken July 29th for $45,000 Steel and Brick Structure at Corner of Oakdale and West 10th—Open By Christmas.

Ground will be broken with appropriate ceremonies Sunday, July 29, for the erection of a new Catholic church at the southwest corner of Oakdale and West Tenth streets. The new edifice will cost approximately $45,000 and will be 22 by 102 feet in dimensions, 62 feet in the rear and of the Romanesque type of architecture. The framework will be steel with a brick body and buff terra cotta. Construction will start the first week in August, the bids being closed July 25, and the concrete services will be the first week in September. The church, one of the finest in Medford, should be completed and ready for occupancy by Christmas.

The designing architect is Robert E. Barrett of Portland. Building of the church was made possible through the efforts of Father P. W. Black and the contributions of the congregation. Plans for the building of the latest addition to the city's many beautiful houses of worship have been under consideration for several months.

At the cornerstone-laying and dedicatory exercises, high Catholic churchmen of the Pacific coast and the northwest will take an active part.

BRITAIN READY TO SIGN KELLOGG TREATY OF PEACE

LONDON, July 18.—(AP)—Sir Austen Chamberlain announced in the house of commons today that British acceptance of the Kellogg proposals for the outlawry of war has been deferred to the American charge d'affaires.

Replying to a question, the foreign secretary said: "I handed this morning to the United States charge d'affaires the reply of the government of Great Britain, the commonwealth of Australia, New Zealand and the union of South Africa and the reply of the government of India accepting the proposals of the United States government for multilateral treaty for the renunciation of war."

NO CHANCE FOR MRS. HOOVER'S FEDERAL AID OF FATHER. PASSES ORE. IRRIGATION AWAY, AGED 84

Oregon Delegation at Washington Unit in Believing Govt. Aid of Irrigation Has No Chance—May Be Later.

SALFEM, Ore., July 18.—(AP)—At the present time there is no possibility of federal aid for distressed irrigation projects in Oregon. This was the unanimous opinion of members of the Oregon congressional delegation, who were today called into conference by the state reclamation commission.

Federal aid, it was said, would require new legislation and a complete change in the existing reclamation policy of the government. It was agreed that federal aid to existing projects, rather than the appropriation of money to new projects would be good business, but that it was beyond the realm of possibility at present.

Senator McNary expressed the opinion that the state reclamation commission is now working along the right lines in reorganizing the distressed projects under authority granted by the state legislature. This also was the opinion of Dr. Elwood Mead, federal irrigation commissioner, who met with the state commission at a few days ago.

While Dr. Mead offered no encouragement that federal aid would be extended, he said it would be good business and that he would not oppose it. It was largely a result of his attitude that the conference was called today.

Those meeting with the commission today were Congressman Hawley of the first district, Congressman Korb of the third district, Senators McNary and Stowler, Amelie Smith of Portland, who is a member of the bondholders' committee of the Grants Pass district, and W. G. Ide, secretary of the Portland chamber of commerce.

OREGON WOMAN ATTACKED BY 2 MEN ON A DRUNK

EUGENE, Ore., July 18.—(AP)—Without a single cuss on which to base a search, Sheriff Frank Richards of Albany, is attempting today to unravel the mystery of an assault on the person of Mrs. John Matson of Halsey, who was attacked in her home yesterday by two strange men and carried away in her husband's automobile to be left by the side of the highway alone.

A critical observer, "We are drunk and out for a good time. You will find the lady on the highway" was scrawled on a piece of note paper and left on the kitchen table of the Matson home.

Mrs. Matson was rational last night, according to Sheriff Richards, but could give only a meager description of the men. "We are drunk and out for a good time. You will find the lady on the highway" was scrawled on a piece of note paper and left on the kitchen table of the Matson home.

Mrs. Matson said she had never seen the men before. Her only description was that they were "dark and scary looking men." She said that she had fought desperately to get away from the two who attacked her in the home.

During the last few years, after retirement from the bank, he spent much of his time at Hoover's Palo Alto home and made trips to the high Sierras in summer.
