

AL SMITH BACK IN NEW Y. AFTER HIS VACATION

HAMPTON BAYS, N. Y., Aug. 8.—(AP)—With an appreciative wave of the hand to the weather man, who had done all he could to make the vacation of a presidential nominee enjoyable, Governor Smith said farewell today to an old summer stamping ground and turned back to New York, Albany and his campaign.

Refreshed by a little more than three days at the shore, during which, if he had any political worries, he concealed them, the governor called for automobiles to be ready about noon. It was with reluctance that he pulled himself away from restful surroundings.

The democratic nominee's schedule provided for a stop as he, several members of his family, members of his staff, and other workers traveled along long island highways, at Deer Haven state park, near Babylon, created from private ownership after years of litigation.

The destination of the governor was the suite on the 14th floor of the Biltmore hotel, which is his home in the metropolis. There he expects to remain until Sunday, when he will travel up the Hudson to Albany, stopping on the way at Poughkeepsie to review National Guardsmen in camp.

Before his departure from Hampton Bays, where Smith and his family frequently spent summer vacations when it was known as "good ground," the nominee reiterated that he had no definite appointments booked for his stay in New York. He said, however, that he undoubtedly would talk things over with John J. Backus, who became head of the democratic national committee a fortnight ago, since then the governor and his friend have not seen each other.

In the meantime a campaign organization has been got together, and Smith and his chief lieutenants will have an opportunity during the remaining days of the week to map out with some degree of certainty the lines on which they will battle the republicans during the next three months.

Even though his vacation at the shore was at an end, Smith still showed an unwillingness to be bothered by the cares that come to all aspirants for public office. He looks forward tomorrow to a restful cruise down Long Island Sound on the yacht of his old friend "Bill" Field, the shipbuilder, who told a senate investigating committee some months ago that he was ready to dig deep into his pocket to provide the funds needed to put the man he admired in the White House.

Once he gets back to the residence of the executive mansion at Albany, the democratic standard bearer will find as the next order of business the presentation of his acceptance speech which will be delivered from the steps of the state capital three weeks from this evening and broadcast by radio to an expectant nation. Steadfastly he has declined to give any inkling as to what he will say, except that his address will touch on all campaign issues, including prohibition and farm relief.

In fact, the governor has had little to say about his plans. As the nominee looks at the situation, it is folly to talk about things that will materialize in a month or more and so he is keeping mum.

SHUBERT FIESTA IS COMING SOON

"A Night in Spain," the much-anticipated Shubert extravaganza which recently played the longest run ever, credited to a revival in Chicago, will be seen for the first time here at Hunt's Craterian, Monday night, August 13, Tuesday, August 14, and Wednesday, August 15.

Sending "A Night in Spain" to the most pretentious venture that has Shubert ever engaged in. The production and cast were framed for long runs in Chicago, New York and Philadelphia. Spurred on by the great success of "Gay Pares" earlier in the season, the Shuberts determined to route "A Night in Spain" to the coast and back to Atlantic City, carrying the full company and outfit seen in Chicago and New York. A special train of 12 baggage cars, Pullmans and diners is required to move the aggregation from point to point.

Phil Baker has returned to the east. With his co-stars, Ted Healy and Aileen Stanley, he heads to personnel of over 150 persons, including the 18 Gertrude Hoffmann Girls, the original Moulin Rouge troupe, Helma Huara, Cortez & Pezzy, Paul & Ferra, Paul Brown, Malcol Ash, Sid Silver, Bob Stanley, George Anderson, Glen Dalby, Barbara Vernon, The Coral, Halcyon Pinks, Sam Braun, Larry Pine, J. Collier Dunn, Lillian Smith and the Andrews brothers. Much is made by Chicago commentators of the loveliness of some three score and ten coryphees and the liberality with which they expose their charms.

"A Night in Spain" is especially spectacular. One of the most important of the many tableaux is "Columbus on the program as "Columbus and the Court of Ferdinand and Isabella." Judging from advance publicity, the production will have incentives to remaining at home as therein depicted, this wasn't so smart to sail.

SALEM MORNING PAPER SOLD TO NEWSPAPER MEN

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Oregon Statesman, state's oldest newspaper in the state, changed hands today.

R. J. Hendricks, dean of Oregon newspapermen, and one of the oldest members of the Associated Press, and Carlo Abrams, sold the newspaper, together with its affiliated publications and building, to Sheldon F. Sackett and Earl C. Brownlee.

Mr. Brownlee recently sold the Forest Grove News-Times, which he owned and published during the past four years, and Mr. Sackett recently sold his interest in the McMinnville Telephone-Register, which he published for several years.

Mr. Hendricks became owner of the Oregon Statesman 44 years ago. He will remain with the paper in an editorial capacity. Mr. Abrams became associated with Mr. Hendricks in 1923, and was active in the business until his appointment as secretary of the board of control four years ago.

The Oregon Statesman was established in 1856 at Oregon City, then seat of the territorial government of the Oregon country. As the seat of government and the state of government moved to Salem, the Statesman was successively published at Oregon City, Salem, Corvallis, and then back in Salem, where it has continued uninterrupted since.

When the supreme court resumes work September 1, after a month's vacation, it will be only four months behind schedule, Arthur S. Lenon, clerk of the court, said yesterday. This is a better condition of the work than has prevailed in the court for years.

Since January 1, this year, 261 cases have been argued or submitted on brief, an average of 27 a month. Now appeals taken to the court since the first of the year total 293. There are 122 cases ready to be argued and by September 1 about 15 more will be ready.

Since January 1, a total of 249 opinions have been written. Thirty-two appeals have been dismissed by opinion and 23 appeals have been cleared from the docket on their merits.

MR. & MRS. CALLISON VISIT IN PORTLAND

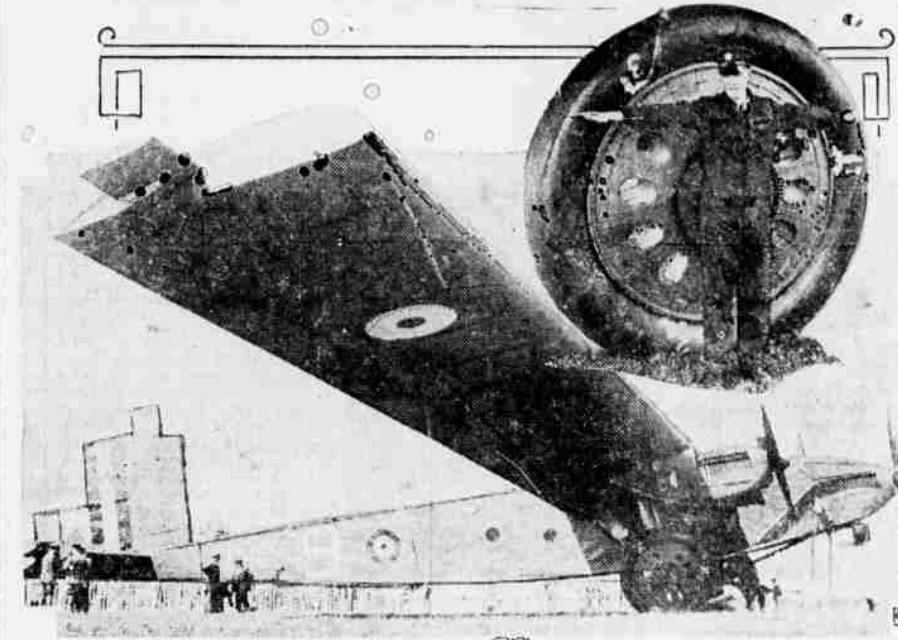

A huge crowd is expected in Medford for the American Legion state convention this week and the city for months has been preparing to show the visitors the finest hospitality that can be offered. Automobiles are already arriving in Medford with legionnaires and the presence of Herbert Hoover in southern Oregon is drawing an even larger number than was expected for the convention. P. G. Callison (Prink), athletic coach at Medford high school, was at the Matmoham hotel yesterday with his wife. A month ago Mr. Callison married Miss Margaret Donovan of San Francisco and after visiting in Medford and Eugene, Mr. Callison's former home, they made a trip to Canada, staying some time in Victoria and Vancouver. B. C. Mr. Callison is one of the best known coaches in Oregon and in the three years he has been in Medford he has coached high school football teams there have been regarded as the strongest in the state and every year his basketball team has been entered in the Salem state tournament. Mr. Callison played on Shy Huntington's University of Oregon team that met Harvard at Pasadena and his last year at Eugene he was all-conference center. After leaving college, Mr. Callison played two years on the Olympic eleven in San Francisco.—Oregonian.

'Lights of New York' Begins Tomorrow

"The film fan will soon be saying: 'I fell in love with his voice!' when a screen hero is introduced to the world in talking motion pictures. Instead of the time-worn expressions regarding the hair, eyes or profile of the cinema star of the silent drama," says Hlene Coxello, who plays the leading female role in "Lights of New York," the first feature-length production to reach the screen with spoken dialogue from start to finish.

"Lights of New York," which opens at Hunt's Craterian tomorrow, is a gripping melodrama of mystery, murder, love and daring. Miss Coxello believes that the voice on the screen is just as important as the personal appearance of the artist. In many cases the speaking voice of screen stars will greatly enhance their "screen personality" to a point where their voice will become their outstanding power of attraction. Cullen Landis appears opposite Helene Coxello in "Lights of New York." Gladys Brockwell, Mary Carr, Eugene Pallette and Wheeler Oakley stand important roles. With such incentives to remaining at home as therein depicted, this wasn't so smart to sail.

WORLD'S LARGEST AIRPLANE SHOWN AT CROYDON

This monster plane, exhibited at a Croydon airport, England, air pavant, is said to be the largest in the world. It is all-metal, weighs 14 tons and has a wing span of 150 feet, and is 75 feet long. Inset, one of the plane's giant landing wheels, eight feet high.

BRENNAN GIVEN GOOD CHANCE OF QUICK RECOVERY

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—(AP)—George Brennan was given a good chance for recovery today, but there was a general sentiment among democratic leaders that "the Napoleon of Illinois democracy" might never again be able to resume the political leadership he has held since the death of Roger Sullivan.

There was no single personality outstanding among the state's democratic chieftains who appeared as a natural successor to Mr. Brennan, who is fighting for his life at the John H. Murphy hospital following operations necessitated by infected teeth. There were a dozen or more men, however, any one of whom might fall heir to the democratic dictatorship should Mr. Brennan's health compel the abandonment of the mantle.

Brennan's rise to power from breaker boy to banker was being retold today by his friends as they kept in touch with reports from his bedside which early today declared that he was "getting better every hour."

NEW SPIRIT OF CO-OPERATION IS NEED OF FARMER

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Marketing experts from all parts of the United States, returning from the annual convocation of the American Institute of Co-operation at Berkeley, California, inspected cooperative plants in Portland.

On their way north the delegates stopped at Medford, Eugene, Corvallis, Tillamook and other Oregon cities, inspecting cooperative plants. This afternoon they will go to Hood River, as guests of the Hood River Apple Growers' association, and tomorrow they will return here and cross the Columbia river to inspect Washington organizations.

"Co-operative marketing is not so much a matter of contracts, laws and procedure as it is a matter of heart, spirit, ideas and ideas," declared L. S. Hurlbert, senior marketing economist of the division of cooperative marketing, Washington, D. C., last night at a dinner at the Matmoham hotel, where the visitors were guests of the Oregon Cooperative Council.

In a series of three-minute talks visiting experts were unanimous in declaring that in efficient mass distribution through cooperative associations lies the solution of many of the difficulties of the farmer.

Warmer Weather. Oregon: Fair tonight and Thursday; warmer in the interior; increasing fire hazard. Moderate north and northwest winds on the coast.

NUN DENIES SHE INFLUENCED LAD TO KILL OBREGON

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Plat denied that she had in any way influenced Jose Delon Toral to kill General Alvaro Obregon, was made here today by the Catholic nun, Concepcion Arechondo de la Lata, who has been accused by the police of fostering in the mind of Toral a belief that he could solve the religious problems of Mexico by his crime.

She gave this denial in an interview with a group of newspapermen, whose next question was: "The next influence Toral to kill General Obregon?"

"I do not know," she replied. "Toral himself has stated that nobody knew of his intention and that nobody influenced him. His father, mother, wife and brothers say they knew nothing of his plan and if anybody had admitted knowledge of his intention, that admission has not been made public."

"The police, however, still think that he was influenced by somebody who knew of his intentions."

"The nun said if she had done any wrong she wished to be punished, for she could find happiness in God's will."

Syd Chaplin Riot In Rialto Picture

Film fans who reveled in Syd Chaplin's comical female impersonations in "Charley's Aunt" and in other Syd Chaplin comedies will have another laugh fest when "Skirts," Syd Chaplin's latest picture, comes tomorrow to the Rialto theatre. Chaplin again dons feminine garments to garner a mirth-quake of laughs in this new film.

"Skirts" is an adaptation of a popular London stage success, entitled "A Little Bit of Fluff." Walter W. Ellis is the author of the original stage play. The wise cracking titles are by Ralph Spence.

Seal-Kaps keep pure milk pure until you use it

The ordinary milk-bottle top leaves the rim of the bottle exposed to whatever germ it may accumulate. To overcome this very real danger of contamination, we have adapted Seal-Kaps.

Seal-Kaps fit over the entire pouring surface of the milk-bottle and keep the milk pure and good up to the moment you drink it. They effectively prevent germs, dust, dirt from being deposited on the rim.

Seal-Kaps are much easier to remove. No picks or knives necessary. No milk splattering on your clothes. A twist of the fingers and this sanitary top is off the bottle. Afterwards, it makes a handy—and safe—bottle cover until all of the milk is consumed. Insure the safety of your milk supply. Telephone for your first bottle tomorrow morning.
