Reunion Held
Honoring J. H. Cochran
 A most enjoyable event took place at Hutton's grove July 22, when former students of Prof. J.
 H. Cochran of the Oakland and Willur schools honored their former teacher with a home-coming picnic.

Prof. Cochran served as principal of the Willur schools for four years, then for four years at Oakland. During this time these schools were foremost in the country in all forms of school activities.
 The educational work of Prof.
 Cochran was such that it was carried to all parts of the state, for during his regime more teachers were turned out from these schools than from any two of the state normals. Many of these students are still in the profession, carrying on with the zeal that they inherited from their former instructor.
 The wonderful power of Prof.
 Cochran to develop in his students their best ability has made for him the sincerest lifelong friends of his students.

The morning was spent in visiting and reminiscence of the happy school days.
 Noon found the tables laden with a spread of good eats equal to banquet of the kings. Needless to say, ample justice was done to this.

Later, Charles Clark, Roseburg photographer, shot the bunch of students and their instructor. They followed old school songs, and a talk by Prof. Cochran in which he expressed his great pleasure for what the pupils had done for him, saying that it meant more to him than all the trophies and prizes that it had been his pleasure to receive in other ways.

Prof. Cochran is now living near Medford, Ore. He is manager of this district for the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company.
 The event proved so enjoyable that it was decided to make it an annual event. It is hoped that former pupils who were unable to Social Events of Church Societies

The Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church will hold a joint meeting in the church parlors Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. The Foreign society will act as hostess.

Central Point Federated Churches
 J. M. Johnson, pastor.
 The lesson in the bible school tomorrow is entitled: Paul in a Pagan Country. The reference is in Acts 14:1-28. The church has always had to meet and deal with pagans. There are more pagans in the world now than there were at the time of this lesson. We should never be surprised nor discouraged. The gospel is to go to all men. Learn Gen. 2:16-17, for the devotional part of the school hour. School begins at 9:45.

The young people are invited to join our fine Christian Endeavor groups. There are places for all, and you will be made to feel at home in this work. The older group will be responsible for the music in the evening church service, as they have been for several months. Seven o'clock is the time for the evening service.

D. D. Randall will bring the message in the morning church service, and will present the work of the American Sunday School Union. This grand old Sunday school and home mission society has taken the gospel to hundreds of thousands, where no other agency was, or could be responsible.

The pastor will preach in the evening service on the subject:
 "The Bible Standard of Christian Living." Good, special music has been prepared for all these services.

COWGIRL CANDIDATE FOR JUDGE

Miss Elsie Pearl Truskett, red-headed Kansas City, Mo., cowgirl who is suing the local live stock exchange for $200,000, alleging she was refused a seat, is now a candidate for the office of county judge.
 Miss Truskett is shown in lower left and above with one of her ranches and farms in California, Texas and Missouri.

and one-fourth miles from the Sandy river.
 "The day the boy from Manila registered," stated Major Bealey, "my wife presented me with a son, making two enrollments in one day."

Bert Bates
 "Don't laugh when I tell you my pet hobby," said Bert Bates, editor of the Roseburg News Review, "but I like to attend Legion conventions. I would go to one every week if I could round them up that often, but I only get to attend one once a year. Tell them that Medford has a finer bunch in their post than any other in the state," said Bert.

General George A. White
 "Fishing is one of the favorite sports in the west, and that is my hobby," said General George A.
 White of Salem. "I like the coast streams in the spring, the Rogue river in the summer, especially the south fork, and the main stream above Prospect. The upper Umpqua is also good in the summer. I also like to fish for steelheads in the Rogue during the fall," states General White. "Every day I get off I go fishing," he said.

UGLY WORDS: FISTS FLY
 for Willis got Hoover before that committee.
 "There, to the astonishment of everyone who had heard him in the south, Herbert Hoover completely reversed himself and said that he believed that the prostrated states of the Mississippi valley should pay part of those flood control costs."
 "It is beyond an imagination authority that a southerner whose name is nationally known, a figure of great distinction, at this time asked Hoover why he had so completely reversed himself and taken the stand that the states should pay part of those flood control costs."
 "I had to," Hoover told him.
 "We hear much of what Herbert Hoover did when he was sent south by President Coolidge during the great Mississippi river floods. He did splendid work, there is no doubt of that. But out of his work in flood relief and rehabilitation came this curious bit of evidence as to how completely Herbert Hoover takes his orders from his republican masters."

Turning to Hoover's record as war-time food administrator, Colonel Ewing declared that through his policies "countless thousands of farmers in the midwest and northwest went bankrupt and what our Louisiana planters suffered they ought best to know and to remember."

He then charged Hoover brought the negro issue into the campaign through his "order that abolished the segregation of his white and negro races in his own departmental office in Washington as secretary of commerce," and concluded:

"If the south will keep these facts clearly in mind we will hear less of Hoover's democracy and less of 'party bolts' than we have been hearing this early in the campaign from the lips of hopeful republican politicians."

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 4.—(AP) Reduction in the volume of lumber manufactured in the Pacific northwest during 1928, and orders and shipments in excess of production, indicate that the industry is attaining a stronger position than it has probably held for the last four years, the West Coast Lumbermen's association announced here today.

HEAT SENDS AL TO SEA; SUSPENDS POLITICAL TALK

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Governor Smith joined the Saturday afternoon migration by sweetening New Yorkers to the seashore, emi-grating at Long Beach for a dip in the ocean.

Accompanied by members of his family and several friends, the democratic presidential nominee motored to the resort on the south shore of Long Island about 30 miles from the heart of the city.
 He went to the Lido, a club there, planning to return to New York during the evening.

Before retreating from the excessive heat here, Smith had a conference with newspaper men, but he lost no time in telling them that it was too hot to talk politics.

With coat and vest off, the governor, in high spirits despite the scorch, said there was not a sign of politics about and that there wouldn't be until after he gets back to Albany tomorrow night.

"Everything is as quiet as a mouse," he remarked, "and besides it's too hot to be bothered by any kind of problems."
 As he chatted with reporters he reached for a tall glass of ice water and drained it and then said to his son:

"Fill it up; I'll take another." The governor said he had no plans beyond his return to Albany and did not know yet whether he would remain there until his notification on the night of August 25.
 He suggested that the militiamen of the New York National Guard, encamped near Peekskill, continuing to Albany by automobile in the evening.

In returning to Albany, Smith plans to travel up the Hudson to Poughkeepsie as far as Peekskill on the night of August 11. The shipments, late in the afternoon, as suggested that the militiamen
 of the New York National Guard,
 encamped near Peekskill,
 bile in the evening.

One of the units that will be in parade is the famous "Sixty-ninth" regiment, "The Fighting Irish," as it is known, which was the 16th infantry in the Rainbow Division and still has that official designation. The other is the "Fourteenth New York," which was recently made up largely of Brooklyn men.

As Smith outlined his plans for tomorrow, one of the reporters who served in the army during the war, suggested that the militiamen probably wouldn't welcome a review in such hot weather.

"Anybody who hasn't the spirit to want to be reviewed by his commander-in-chief belongs of the Boy Scouts," Smith remarked.

Then he told of a military review staged for him several years ago, recalling that he was with the 16th infantry in the Rainbow Division as it had come out of a "fire hose."

"We got soaked and you should have seen my hat. The commanding officer asked whether I wanted to call it a day. I told him a good soldier doesn't mind a little rain."

FIND GUN OWNED BY SUSPECT IN NUDE GIRL DEATH
 LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4.—(AP)— A large caliber pistol, which detectives said apparently was of the same size as the one used fatally upon Barbara Mauger, was located late today wrapped in a towel in the desk used by Russell Beitzel at his place of employment. Beitzel is charged with the murder of the young woman, whose nude body, with a bullet under way it began, was found in a canyon near Hollywood.

The detectives said Beitzel readily admitted that the gun was his, but that he had taken it for inspection before purchasing it from a fellow
