

DWIGHT MORROW GIVEN OVATION BY MEXICANS

PUEBLA, Mexico, Aug. 17.—(AP) Dwight W. Morrow, American ambassador, making what he declared to be merely a personal pleasure trip, is being welcomed with as much pomp and ceremony as the president might receive.

Mr. Morrow was made an honorary citizen of Puebla and welcomed personally on the highway miles from Puebla when he entered the state yesterday by General Escobar Izquierdo and a large group of the highest state and city officials. The ambassador motored from the city past large crowds and was escorted into the municipal palace past lines of cavalry at salute while bands played the Mexican national anthem.

At formal ceremonies in the audience room of the palace, Mr. Morrow was presented with an official scroll that proclaimed him an honorary citizen by vote of the council of the municipality. Alderman O. J. Cuzman, speaking in behalf of the governor, said:

"It is our pleasure to honor and welcome the friendly ambassador of a powerful and friendly country whose sympathy and understanding have endeared him to all Mexicans and created a new era of good will and friendship."

Christy Circus in Medford Tomorrow—Parade at Noon

A miniature world, picturesque, colorful, as foreign to the humdrum every day life, as the tents in the jungle is to the hectic life of the crowded mart, will settle among us for a brief space, when the Christy Circus pauses here Saturday on its annual hegira. The white city of the performers and menagerie exhibits will rise with the dawn, like a huge mirage on the eastern horizon, and with the dusk it will blazon and sparkle into the night. And then with the coming of another dawn it will fold its tents and silently steal away.

Merriman Family Reunion Brings Out Interesting Local History

The following is a short history of the Merriman family, pioneers of Rogue River valley, and an account of the family reunion held at Lithia Springs park, Ashland, Sunday, August 12:

In 1851 there came to Oregon from Illinois a widow whose father, W. H. Riddle, was a pioneer near after whom the town of Hildreth in Douglas county was named, with her came a son less than two years of age. This son, John Chapman, is now one of the prominent bankers and business men of Red Lodge, Mont.

In 1852 there also came to Oregon from Illinois, locating first in Douglas county and a little later in Jackson county, W. H. Merriman, a widower. With him came a four-year-old daughter, now Mrs. A. L. Harvey of Ashland, Ore.

Mr. Merriman courted Mrs. Chapman. They were married in those early days and 15 sons and daughters were born to them. This large family was reared in the Rogue River valley, where many still reside and are actively identified with the social and business affairs of Medford and the community.

In the early '80s, more than 40 years ago, E. F. Merriman, then of Goshen, Ind., and a nephew of the late W. H. Merriman, visited here, Ed, as he is familiarly known, is now a retired railroad man of Alhambra, Cal. To him and through his desire to get the Merrimans together once more, may be attributed the reunion of the Merriman clan in Ashland park Sunday, August 12. The family and relatives have been widely separated. Some could not attend and some have long been dead. The gathering was an occasion long to be remembered. Of the 60, and more, present many met for the first time. Those of the first family deserving special mention include: John Chapman of Red Lodge, Mont., who spent many years in the Klamath country and was located in Fort Klamath during the Modoc war of 1872-73. Mr. Chapman was heavily engaged in cattle and farming in Harney county, Oregon, and in Montana until he retired and is now giving attention to banking and other business matters. Mrs. Chapman is with him.

Wm. Merriman, the youngest member of the family, of Oakland, Cal., has been in the employ of the Southern Pacific Railroad company since he was a young man and is now in charge of a department with 800 men under his supervision. He arrived on Sunday morning just in time for the reunion and returned to Oakland that evening, making the trip especially to visit the "folks." His wife, Rose Merriman, remained for a few days' visit with her people, who are also pioneers of the valley.

Maria Merriman Bennett, one of the oldest of the family, has resided in the valley almost all her life and has her home on Soth Riverside. Anna Merriman Clark, also one of the elder sisters, has always resided here and now makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. F. K. Jerome. Joseph Merriman Beek, the youngest daughter, now resides in Seattle and is remaining her for a few days' visit.

E. F. Merriman of Alhambra, a cousin, has enjoyed a week's visit with the many whom he had never met before. He and Mrs. Merriman left Medford Tuesday morning for an extended visit to their old home in Goshen, Ind.

A list of relatives and friends attending the reunion is as follows: Auletta Merriman Buzan Harvey, Margery Buzan Hoagland Otterbein, Nate Otterbein, Birdie Hoagland McDonald, Georgia Hoagland Sloan, Robert Stern, Louis G. Hoagland, Ethel Nelson Hoagland, Marjorie Lou Hoagland, Rodrick Smith, Grace Hoagland Hijick, Stanley Hijick, Addie Buzan Rippey Wilson, E. M. Wilson, Maude Rippey Goeller, Harry E. Goeller Sr., Harry E. Goeller Jr., Geanne Goeller, Nannette Goeller, Adra Goeller, Leda Harvey Parker, Lee L. Parker, Orel Harvey Wright, Mary Margaret Coker, Lettie Magruder Gregory, Eddy Francis Merriman (Alhambra, Cal.), and Caroline Brown Merriman (Alhambra, Cal.).

BRITISH U-BOAT SUNK IN WAR IS RAISED BY REDS

LENINGRAD, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Nine years after having been sunk in the Baltic, the British submarine L-55 has been raised and the soviet government desires to bury the crew with appropriate military honors.

"These were our enemies," said R. A. Muklevich, commander of the soviet fleet, "but the red seamen bear them no malice. These British sailors died while doing their duty."

The battle in which the L-55 was sunk took place on June 4, 1919, he said. The submarine attacked the Russian destroyers Gavril and Azard. It fired three torpedoes, all of which went wide of their mark. Then the submarine rose to the surface and Azard attacked the craft. A shot hit the L-55, an explosion followed and the submarine sank at once with all her crew.

The raising of the vessel from the bottom of Kanorsk bay was attended by great difficulty. It was not until last spring that the bay was entirely cleared of mines planted there during the war. The submarine was in fairly good condition when raised, considering her long immersion. The vessel was towed to Kronstadt and when opened revealed the skeletons of the crew.

M. Muklevich said the skeletons would be buried with appropriate military honor unless the British government indicates it desires other disposal of them.

COURT DECIDES AIR HERO HAD 2 WIVES AT ONCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Emma Meier Lyon was granted annulment in superior court here today of her marriage to Captain Harry Lyon, Jr., navigator of the plane Southern Cross. Lyon is en route to Paris Hill, Maine, to meet another wife, Mrs. Jane Lyon.

Sylvester J. McMeel, attorney representing Mrs. Lyon, testified that Lyon admitted in San Francisco six weeks ago that his first wife was living and that there never had been a divorce. Lyon, en route to Paris Hill today, denied he was the husband of the San Francisco woman. His mother and his wife, Mrs. Jane Lyon, joined in declaring in Paris Hill that Mrs. Emma Meier never had been Lyon's wife.

But marriage license records here bore out the woman's claim and she was granted an annulment. Records at the San Francisco marriage license bureau show a license was issued January 4, 1920, to Harry Lyon, a master mariner, and Emma Dyer Meier, a divorcee. Lyons said it was his first marriage. The name of his father was given as Henry Lyons.
