MARSHFIELD TEAM WILL PLAY TODAY

One of the best games of the season is scheduled for this afternoon at the fairgrounds when the Marshfield Pirates and the Medford Merchants tangle. A "Mystery Pitcher" will do the hurling for Medford, and a reward will be given the fan who establishes his identity first. Chester will be on the receiving end, for the locals with the rest of the line-up unchanged.

Earle Davis will be umpire-in-chief.

The same teams will clash again Monday afternoon, with Cliff Best in the box for the locals.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Four persons were injured, one seriously, when a Woodstock street car collided with an automobile late yesterday.

Mrs. Harry Riley, 45, received serious chest injuries and bruises. Her husband, Harry Riley, 54, driver of the automobile, received head and body injuries and possible fracture of the nose. Seville Riley, 19, their daughter, suffered head and body bruises.

Mrs. G. W. Daisey, 84, a passenger in the automobile, received cuts from glass.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Athletics assaulted various Red Sox pitchers for 16 hits here today to run away with the odd game in the series of three by a score of 14 to 3. Dag Grove pitched for the home team.

Fourth Accidental Deaths Occur In The Homes

Figures gathered by the national safety council show that approximately one-fourth of all accidental deaths in the United States occur in homes, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Last year, between 23,000 and 25,000 persons were killed by falls, burns, suffocation or other causes in their dwellings, about the same number as died from industrial accidents.

For each home fatality, an insurance company paid 200 claims for non-fatal accidents, so on that basis, some 5,000,000 non-fatal mishaps occurred in American homes. Thirty-five per cent of the fatalities were due to falls, 19 per cent to burns and 2 per cent to electricity.

During the four weeks ending July 14 of this year automobiles were responsible for the deaths of 514 persons in the 57 large cities of the United States, the council reports. Last year the figures show that approximately 23,250 persons were killed in automobile accidents throughout the country, not including fatalities in collisions of automobiles with trains or street cars or in motorcycle accidents.

Counting these in, the total is nearly 25,800.

KEECH WINS DIRT TRACK TITLE WITH SPURT AT FINISH

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Ray Keech, who attained a speed of 208 miles an hour at Florida last winter, today wrested the 100 mile dirt track championship from the youthful Russell Snowberger, a brother Philadelphiaan, before a crowd of 70,000 persons. His time was one hour, 19 minutes and 46.55 seconds.

For more than half of the century Snowberger, piloting a Vauxs speedy Miller Special, appeared a sure victor but after a thrilling battle the veteran Keech cut in ahead of him and rapidly widened the gap. Snowberger was nearly half a mile behind when the race ended.

The huge crowd was treated to a thrill early in the race when three of the speeding machines crashed near the three quarter pole. Miraculously no one was injured. The accident occurred when Charles Ganung of Kalamazoo, blindfolded at the end of the back stretch, crashed through the inside fence, rebounded and turned around twice.

The white Stutz Special piloted by Louis Meyer of Los Angeles, glanced Ganung's rear end and skidded into the outside fence, while Farmer of Philadelphia trailing in his Marvel Special hit Meyer and also crashed into the outside fence. Ganung escaped with a cut on one hand, while the other drivers were uninjured. The order of finish was:

Winner, Ray Keech, of Philadelphia, Simplex Piston Ring Special, 1:19:46.55.

Second, Russell Snowberger of Philadelphia, Miller Special, 1:20:40.18.

Third, Chester Gardner of Los Angeles, Miller Special, 1:25:54.70.

Fourth, Zeek Meyer of Philadelphia, Miller Special 1:29:55.74.

Fifth, Dave Evans of San Antonio, Texas, Miller Special 1:30:06.48.

Cliff Woodbury, Chicago, led the contestants for the first quarter until trouble forced him to drop out for several laps, ruining his chances of victory.

Ralph de Palma, veteran of the dirt tracks and favorite with Syracuse fans, who was handily defeated by Frank Lockhart in last year's century, was forced out on the twelfth lap.

LONDON—Gordon Craig, son of Ellen Terry, the late English actress, has designed the settings and costumes for George C. Tyler's production of Macbeth, opening in Philadelphia, October 25. Craig will be represented in America by Douglas Ross.

Vacation "Spree"

CHICAGO—Vacations come once a year to many persons, but not to Fred Degen, loop barber, who has been at his chair 50 years without a vacation. Now that his chance has come Degen will take "a little run out to Elgin and Aurora, and maybe have dinner at a fashionable city hotel."

Fire Horses Scarce

NEW BERN, N. C.—The firemen's parade here was spoiled to some extent because the committee on arrangements, after consulting this section, was unable to produce more than two pairs of horses to draw the ancient equipment formerly used by the fire fighters.

FANS ROILED BY UMPIRE RIOT AS HOOVER WATCHES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Attending his first baseball game since his nomination for the presidency, Herbert Hoover sat through two and a half hours today at Griffith stadium to see the New York Yankees defeat the Washington Senators and to hear the roar of the mob demanding the blood of the umpire.

There was a thrill for every inning as the Senators fought a desperate uphill battle, with the when three pay bottles, half a dozen straw hats and wads of paper were hurled at Umpire Nathan by fans incensed by his decisions. The bottles missed the umpire only by inches.

Habe Ruth was on hand, and while he hit no home runs for the republican candidate, he furnished the feature of the night by hurling himself against the right field wall to spear Joe Judge's line drive with his gloved hand. This proved helpful to the Yankees as the Senators staged a rally immediately afterward.

Occasionally munching peanuts, Hoover applauded neither team but he watched Ruth closely while the slugger was at bat and smiled broadly when the big outfielder swung and missed a curved ball in the first inning. He made frequent comments on the play and the roaring of the crowd to J. Henry Roraback, national committeeman from Connecticut, who accompanied him along with Mrs. Hoover, their son Alvin and James Francis Burke of Pittsburgh.

Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club, greeted the nominee at the clubhouse and escorted him back on the first base line.

He beckoned to Manager Stanley (Bucky) Harris and Leon (Goose) Goslin who were presented to Hoover and Mrs. Hoover.

Hoover proved a real dyed-in-the-wool fan, remaining until the last man was out. With two down in the last of the ninth he got up to leave but at that instant Shortstop Robert Reeves smashed a two-bagger to right field and the nominee sat down again while the Senators crowded the bases only to see the rally halted by a pop infield fly.

OKLAHOMA WILL BE BIG PUZZLE OF AUTUMN VOTE

By Harvey I. Scandrett (Associated Press Correspondent)

OKLAHOMA CITY.—(AP) Among the states which represent the unknown quantities in the national electoral college problem of the presidential campaign, Oklahoma is an outstanding "X".

All things being normal, Oklahoma is a democratic state. Only once in the 30 years of its statehood has it returned a republican plurality—and that in the landslide of 1920. But all is not normal. The last few weeks have witnessed hold desertions of three of the state's greatest democratic newspapers and one of the most prominent party leaders from the standard of Governor Alfred B. Smith. Splitting of tickets has been urged from pulpits and by temperance leaders.

Operation on the brain may become less hazardous as a result of a Swiss physician's use of X-rays to examine the organ. He finds tumors with the aid of rays by pumping air into the cavities of the brain. If one of the cavities contains a tumor, the air cannot penetrate, and the fact is disclosed on the X-ray photograph by the absence of the usual white patch that indicates a cavity filled with air. Oil is employed in examining the part of the brain just above the spine. The oil is heavier than the spinal fluid and so flows down, appearing as a black strip. If there is a tumor in the canal, the strip stops at the edge of the growth. Experiments with a lighter oil may locate the lower edge of the tumor.

A beautiful phenomenon, sometimes seen from airplanes or from the top of high mountains, is the reflection of the sun or moon upon clouds formed of tiny ice particles. It is not a common sight as the clouds that produce it must be at a high altitude and the reflection appears only in their upper surface. The accompanying illustration of the "undersun" was taken from the summit of one of the peaks in the Tyrolean Alps. Occasionally, the image is surrounded by a circular or elliptical halo of small diameter. The phenomenon was first observed at an ascension of French mountaineers in 1850.

There have been no notable desertions among candidates or active party leaders from the Smith banner. Gov. Henry S. Johnston, who was nominated in 1924 through the concentration of ultra-dry and Ku Klux Klan factions of the democratic party, has said that he will support Smith. His activities in the state primary campaign, however, were directed toward the nomination of legislative candidates favorable to his administration and the national ticket was almost totally ignored.

The campaign is young in Oklahoma. The republicans only instituted formal activities with a state platform convention here August 27. The first democratic heavy artillery probably will be fired on Labor day.

Far from absorbing confidence from these defections, however, republican leaders have declared that the ultimate destination of Oklahoma's 10 electoral votes is "very doubtful" and are giving for perhaps the most intensive national campaign yet waged in this youthful state.

Because of Governor Smith's stand for modification of the Volstead act, the Daily Oklahoman, the Oklahoma City Times and the Tulsa Tribune have announced they will support Herbert Hoover. They are the outstanding democratic newspapers of the two largest cities of the state. For the same reason, plus the nominee's connection with Tammany Hall, Robert L. Owen, a former senator and democratic leader of much influence in other years, likewise has come out for Hoover.

The religious issue, although present to an undetermined extent has been injected openly only in quasi-political Protestant church gatherings where the prohibition question received predominant consideration.

Farm relief is the bugaboo upon which the democrats are relying to stampede republican votes from the Hoover corral. The eighth congressional district, the republican stronghold of the state, and republicans of the seventh district were wedded to the principles of the McNary-Haugen bill and both were opposed to the nomination of Hoover. The answer as to whether this opposition will persist to the extent of alienating republican votes appreciably is sealed in the back of the book until after the November election.
