

Local and Personal

With the unusually large number of 265 men and women given work here last week by the local branch of the United States free employment bureau, even more are expected to be given employment this week, according to Chris Gottlieb, in charge of the branch. This forenoon he reported that over 50 pickers were needed at once and that probably more would be needed tomorrow. The transient labor, which was so plentiful during the earlier part of the season, has disappeared, due to families going back to their homes in order that children may go to school.

Dr. H. P. Coleman has returned from Portland, and will receive appointments at his office in the Medford building.

Wanted—Packers at once, Pineapple Packing Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Metz and children and Phil Philbrook of Bend spent several hours in the city this morning with relatives, en route home from a several days trip to the McKenzie pass to Haddon, Gold Beach and Crescent City, and departed for Bend via Crescent City.

Fancy Elberta peaches for canning 20 per lb. Free delivery, Johnson Market, Phone 57.

Mrs. Florence York Conkle, the county home demonstration agent, left this morning for Grants Pass where she will act as a judge of the girls' club work exhibits at the Josephine county fair, which begins tomorrow.

Wanted—Packers at once, Pineapple Packing Co.

Junior Porter arrived home several days ago, having spent the summer at Santa Ana, Cal., to resume his studies in the high school this year as a sophomore, and put in part time in helping operate De Voe's confectionery.

At the corner of Sixth and Fir streets, the Sixth Street Super-Servic Station is equipped to give the best in washing and greasing.

Guests from a distance registered at Medford hotels include Mrs. F. W. Dickins of Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. John M. Renner of Akron, O., Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Moore of Denver, Colo., Mr. and Mrs. Leland R. Miller of South Bend, Ind., Mr. Christensen of St. Louis, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Compton of Powell River, B. C., and James L. Armstrong of Vancouver, B. C.

Dressmaking and remodeling, Fashion Shop, 424 Medford Bldg.

Word has been received here that Miss Lillian Roberts, Red Cross executive secretary for this county, and her mother, Mrs. Della Roberts, arrived at Newport last week with Mrs. Roberts, who is recuperating from a long and serious illness. They expect to remain there for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Nohlt spent Sunday visiting friends at Klamath Falls.

I realize that when parents pay out money for piano instruction they want results. Phone 934-X or call, and I will explain the rapid and thorough methods that have proven so successful. Noel L. Erskine, studio 611 W. 8th St. at Laurel.

Among the Medford residents who were at Crater Lake Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gaylord and family.

Having sold the butcher shop which he recently purchased in Corvallis, Art Lewis and family returned last Friday to Medford and will probably resume their residence here. Mr. Lewis spent several months in the college town as proprietor of the shop.

Swim in drinking water. Merrie's chlorinated pool.

Mr. and Mrs. George Porter and Jack Porter, accompanied by a party of friends, spent Sunday and Monday at Marshfield.

The sun hasn't shone on Crescent City and its neighboring cities during the past ten days. Mrs. J. G. Kimball and her daughter, Mrs. M. K. Chapman, Mrs. W. D. Watt and her home guest, Mrs. Lulu Morgan of Minneapolis, Minn., returned to Medford last evening after a several days' motor trip along the coast to Crescent City, Dandon, Marshfield and Roseburg. They report a delightful drive in spite of the cold weather.

Ira Wood and Florence Graves, piano teachers. High school credits given. 220 N. Oakdale, Phone 1042-W.

Marriage licenses were issued today at the county clerk's office to Marion Quigley, 21, and Jane Gladys Muriel Johnston, 24, both of Medford; Pierce Vaughn, 34, and Emma Nonnemaker, 34, both of Los Angeles; Derris A. Amore, 23, Lake Lelanau, Mich. and Lena LeRue, 17, of Detroit, Mich.

Temporary auto licenses were issued at the sheriff's office today to L. O. Hall of Central Point, William Briggs of Ashland, W. P. Jacobs of Talent and E. C. Jones of Talent.

Miss Holmes returned to Medford this morning from San Francisco where he attended an annual meeting of the 322 Signal corps during the past few days.

Mrs. W. H. Vaughn left here yesterday for home at Fullerton, Neth., after spending the past few days visiting Mrs. C. J. McWay.

Much praise for the Klamath county fair of three days, which closed yesterday, was uttered today by County Agent R. G. Fowler, who was one of the livestock judges at that exhibition, and who arrived back home Sunday night. He says that while the crop, community and other exhibits were excellent, the dairy stock exhibit was the best and largest in the history of the fair.

Mrs. Ellen Dougherty left here Monday for Dunsmuir, Cal., where she expected to visit at the home of two daughters, Mrs. H. Druecker and Mrs. J. J. Roney, during the remainder of this month.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lewis of Los Angeles are spending an extended visit in Medford and Central Point.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Lewis of Central Point and Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Lewis of Medford, they were former Central Point residents and moved to southern California after Mr. Lewis disposed of his meat market interest in Central Point to his son, Fred.

Late this afternoon the condition of Mrs. Robert W. Stearns was reported to be very unsatisfactory. She has been ill at the Community hospital for some time following a major operation.

"Only two little, I tell you good luck," is heard often on East Main street near the Associated Oil station, where a 23-year woman and a companion have been located for a fortnight past, telling fortunes to passersby. The couple have a little fortune-telling booth in the stairway which formerly led to the apartment house.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Henson, which moved to Front street some time ago. They report business to be poor, but said they planned to spend several weeks in Medford before leaving.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Greater Medford club is scheduled for Thursday afternoon, September 6, at the home of the president, Mrs. H. V. Williams, 1226 Broadway.

Public lecture, "Birth, Life, Death and What Then?" Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in Theosophical lodge room, 21 North Grape street, by Fritz Knix, national lecturer.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY
ROOM AND BOARD—35 Crater Lake, Phone 827-Y.

FOR EXCHANGE—26-acre farm, all in cultivation; family orchard, 13 acres in alfalfa, balance in crops and pasture; 5-room house with running water, bath and chicken house; 2 calves, team and 22 hogs; 12 tons of hay in barn; all farm implements go with place. Priced at $4,000. Will consider Medford city property. This place is near town and is a going proposition. See Charles A. Wing Agency, Inc., 18 No. Front St.

FOR SALE—80-acre farm; 45 acres in cultivation; paid-up water right; 10 acres bearing pears, 2 acres today grapes, 30 acres in grain; 5-room house with fireplace, etc.; barn, chicken house and chicken house. This place is located only 3 miles from town. Price $4800; $1500 cash, balance to suit responsible buyer. See Charles A. Wing Agency, Inc., 18 No. Front St.

STOLIN—From office in Medford Bldg., tan brief case. No questions asked. Phone information to 326.

WANTED—Capable high school girl for part time care of children. Room, board and wages. Mrs. Earl Tunny, 705 Park Ave.

WANTED—To buy small rolling business. P. K. Cash. State all particulars and price in first letter. Box 64, Mail Tribune.

FOR RENT—Furn. 2 and 3-room apt.; garage. 604 W. 10th.

FOR RENT—Modern furnished 4-room house; electric range, bath, garage. Phone 1075.

CONVALESCENT AND REST HOME, facing Lithia Park, Ashland, Ore. Delightful climate and surroundings for invalids and old people. 13215.

WANTED—A young girl wanted for housework or maid work. Tel. 960.

FOR SALE—Beautiful new silk dress, large size, advance fall style. Shred from New York City. Half price. Call 944-L after 2 p. m. for appointment.

FOR SALE—Unusual ranch offer. 80 acres on Little Falls highway; 6-room house, barn, garage, chicken house, 33 acres under irrigation. Price includes fine team of horses, implements, tools and half of this year's crop. Price for 2 days only, $2,500, on easy terms. E. E. Millard Co. 410 E. Main. Phone 922.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—2 1/2 acres just outside city limits; 1 1/2 acre 5-room house, newly built garage, fine shade, on good road near paved highway; pressure system for watering lawn and flowers; good location. Will sell or trade for small place in country, irrigated or partly irrigated. Address Box 1, Mail Tribune.

FOR SALE—Strawberries 5c per pick them yourself. C. J. McWay, 1245 N. Jackson, Phone 324-J.

FOR RENT—Very desirable 5-room bungalow; lawn, shade, trees, flowers; east front. 516 S. Grape. Phone 416.

WANTED—Men pickers. Apply at office So. Oregon Sales, No. Central Ave.

WANTED—16 experienced men pickers; long jobs. Bear Creek Orchards.

Miss Jean Quisenberry, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Quisenberry, returned to her home Monday from Fresno, Cal., where she spent the past month as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Fred Day.

Following a vacation of four weeks spent in Portland, Seaside, Rainier national park and other pleasure resorts in Oregon and Washington, Miss Augusta Glover resumed duties as a member of the county health unit staff today.

Dr. H. P. Coleman returned to this city from Portland yesterday after spending several days on the Rose City on business.

Among the hotel guests in Medford from the state of Washington are Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Pichonnet and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dupuis of Port Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Delarue of Tacoma, C. G. Walte of Bismillah, Lieutenant D. L. Conley, R. P. Molten, Lt. Commander D. M. Sears, Lieut. H. P. Carlson, A. M. Pride and H. L. Saterline of Bremerton, A. F. Cook of Walla Walla, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richards and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hannon, E. H. Stanley, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hefernan of Seattle.

Andrew Welch of San Francisco, owner of an elaborate fishing lodge nearing completion on the Rogue river, entertained the following Californians during the past week end at his new establishment: Frank D. Madison, Herbert Galligan, J. J. Brady and Donald McDonald. They reported but little success in fishing.

Medford was visited today by a carload of wandering apaches who spent an hour or so in the business section this forenoon shopping. The women in the car, which was occupied by two men and three women, bought supplies here and did not attempt to tell fortunes on the street. The women were traveling in a large Packard touring car.

A minor auto collision took place yesterday on the intersection of Main and Fir streets between cars driven by Elmer Hapson and Cliff Garvin, according to a report on file at the police station today. The crash resulted in little damage to either machine.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Schoonover of Portland and Mr. Schoonover's father, Professor Carl Schoonover of Ada, Ohio, and an instructor for the past 30 years at the University of Ohio, left here today for Portland, after spending several days visiting Mrs. Schoonover's sister, Mrs. Frank Ingalls, and other Medford relatives. The party moved to Crater Lake Monday.

Professor Schoonover was delighted with the lake and stated that it is far superior in beauty to any natural scenic wonder he has seen in his extensive travels. Eric Wold and family and Ira Canfield and family spent Labor day picnicking and fishing on Rogue river.

A divorce complaint brought against William Stone by Lottie Stone, on grounds of desertion, was on file today at the county clerk's office. The couple were married in Jackson county April 21, 1924.

Miss Helen Fletcher of Grants Pass is a home guest of several days at the home of Miss Esther Olson near Medford, and expects to return to her home tomorrow or Thursday.

The first non-resident fishing licenses issued at the county clerk's office for sometime were issued today to Emil Vaner and Mrs. Emil Vaner, both of Molokai, Ill. When he appeared before Judge Taylor today on a speeding charge preferred against him by Deputy Sheriff Paul Jennings, Edward Little of this city was fined $10. Little was accused of speeding on the Jacksonville highway between 45 and 50 miles per hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilson of Klamath Falls were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Lawrence yesterday.

$6789 DAMAGE IS ASKED AS RESULT OF AUTO ACCIDENT

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris Coleman, $3350 damages are sought on the grounds that the baby was permanently injured, in addition to receiving a broken leg. Mrs. Coleman, herself, seeks $449 damages for injuries she received including a broken ankle.

Anna Dale is suing for $3540 on the grounds that she received internal injuries and Walter Cava, driver of the car, is asking $400 also for injuries. The plaintiffs live at Central Point.

Roganien was brought before Judge Taylor shortly after the crash on a reckless driving charge but the case was continued, with part of the reason given that no decision could be reached in regard to Roganien's culpability in the crash. Officers were of the opinion that both cars were equally to blame. However, in the complaints filed today at the county clerk's office, he is charged with recklessness and imprudent driving.

As the result of an auto crash early last week at the intersection of North Central avenue and Third street, Arnold Roganien, local motorist, faces four lawsuits asking for $6789 damages. The suits were filed by the occupants of the machine struck by Roganien and who sustained painful injuries, sending four of them to the hospital.

In one suit, which was filed by Anna Dale Coleman, one-year-old, through her mother, Doris