Medford Stores Open Till 9 o'Clock Saturday Nights

By a special permit from the state industrial welfare commission the members of the Medford Merchants' association can keep their stores open on Saturday nights until 9 o'clock until December 1. This permit was only secured for members of the association. Other merchants not members must secure their own permits. The request was granted so the hundreds of employees in the fruit packing houses, who work all week, can shop on Saturday evenings. The permit allows women employees at the stores to work nine hours any day and until 9 p. m. on Saturdays until December 1 and 8:30 p. m. after that date, but no woman can work over 48 hours a week.

TOURIST FISHERS HAVE HARD LUCK

A sad tale of how several fine steedhead were hooked in the Rogus river only to be lost in a few minutes was told this morning by a couple of tourists from Givin, Iowa. Mr. and Mrs. E. McVaner, who spent the past week along the river with headquarters at Rogus Elk lodge and left here today. "The Rogus river is a splendid stream and the fish are wonderful. Not that I caught any, but we saw plenty of them up by the dam," Mr. McVaner said. Not for 10 years has there been such a good crop of corn and grain in Iowa and Illinois as there is this season, the visitors declared, and described the wonderful fields which are green the year around because of the abundance of rain, which, for example, usually falls several times a week during the summer months. Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. McVaner inspected several of the pear packing plants which, especially interested them, as pears are not a commercial product in their state. As for green fields, though, they stated that Iowa takes all honors.

Inasmuch as the Medford and Ashland schools this year will be represented in the educational exhibit of the county schools at the county fair next week, that exhibition will be the most complete one for years past. The Medford schools will have exhibits from the various buildings. The fair board management has allotted six commodious booths in the educational building, which is now in the last stages of construction for the Medford schools exhibit. The collection of exhibits of the local schools is all ready for installation in the educational exhibit. Preparations for the general educational exhibit at the fair are progressing very favorably, according to Mrs. Susanne Homes Carter, county school superintendent. The Southern Oregon Normal school will also have an exhibit of its work in the educational building.

All services will be held at the Presbyterian church on Sunday. A full program for every organization is being worked out. Lawrence will speak on the theme, "Choosing Life's Vocation." It will deal with such questions as "Shall we drift into our life work or choose it?" "The tragedy of being a misfit." "Agencies to aid in life choices and the elements on which a wise choice should or can be made." "Miss Ruth Lawrence will sing 'Master, I Would Follow Thee,' by Ambrose. This service will be broadcast over KMED. Special attention is called to the beginning of the fall work of the men's and women's Bible classes. Mrs. E. N. Warner and H. P. W. Spilver are both back ready for their fall study classes. Every man and woman in the church is urged to unite with one of these classes and become a Bible student. Know your Bible and the elements of Christian life and growth. A cordial invitation is extended to anyone to unite with either of these live groups. At the morning service the quartet will begin their part in the service by singing two inspiring anthems, "Tarry With Me, Oh My Savior" (by Baldwin) and "Oh Lift Up Mine Eyes Unto the Hills" (by Harker). Mrs. H. E. Marsh will be at the organ. The pastor will speak on the subject, "Greater Works," which Christ suggested to His disciples would be their privilege.

RUM RING TENACLES REACH FAR

Philadelphia Pivot for Alcohol Distribution—350,000 Gallons Diverted in One Deal — Bribe Dry Aides, Grand Jury Probe Shows.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Nation-wide ramifications of a Philadelphia rum ring were revealed by District Attorney Monaghan today. He said he had evidence ready for presentation to the grand jury investigating the activities of bootleggers and gangsters showing that within the last two years the bootleg ring of which Max ("Doc") Hoff is alleged to be the head, had diverted more than 350,000 gallons of alcohol from a single distillery in this city "to all parts of the country." Hoff is a manager of prize fighters and threatens to sue Gene Tunney for a contract breach. The prosecutor's announcement shared interest with an eight-page statement alleged to have been made by Edward S. Gollbert, dealer in machine guns and ammunition, declaring that Hoff had purchased from him three machine guns and a number of bullet-proof vests such as were used by bootleggers and gangsters in their warfare for the control of the liquor business. Goldberg was released in $10,000 bail on a charge of perjury after he had deleted and signed the statement. The perjury charge was lodged against him after his first appearance before the jury on Wednesday. Assistant District Attorney Schofield, speaking for his chief, said Goldberg had "lied" because he was "afraid of gang revenge." "We have evidence," Mr. Monaghan said today, "of bootlegging on an immense scale, of enormous sums paid for corruption of policemen and police officials. And we now have further evidence that violence, machine guns, bullet proof vests and intimidation go hand in hand with alcohol and murders on the highways. Documents in this office disclose diversion of more than 350,000 gallons of pure grain alcohol from a distilling plant in this city. It was shipped by railroad and truck to all parts of the United States, and this diversion was carried on by the bootleg ring which has been named throughout the grand jury investigation. The records tend to indicate that Philadelphia was one of the pivotal points in the country for the manufacture, on a large scale, and for the national distribution of alcohol."

UPPER WORKINGS OF AMADOR MINE SWEEPED BY FIRE

JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 7.—(AP) All available residents were turned out at noon to fight a fire which threatened destruction of the entire property of a Kennedy gold mine on the outskirts of town. The blaze has been confined to the surface where it has already wiped out every building except the offices of the mine. Volunteer firemen were concentrating efforts in the attempt to save the offices. No concern was felt for underground workers whose normal egress into daylight was blocked by blazing timbers at the shaft entrance. All were thought to have been accounted for on the surface but an emergency exit for stragglers was available through an underground passage into the argonaut mine whose entrance is a quarter mile away. Damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 7.—(AP) A dispatch to the Oakland Tribune from Jackson, Amador county, says 175 men in the Kennedy mine left the mine safely through the north shaft and a shaft of the Argonaut. The last man came out after 1 p. m., the dispatch said. The fire was confined to the upper workings of the Kennedy mine and did not reach the lower workings, the Tribune says.

CHILDREN AID IN EPIDEMIC FIGHT

TRONTO, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Fifteen children, former infantile paralysis victims, today donated blood for a serum to combat an epidemic of the disease in Manitoba. A fast train leaving tonight will carry the serum to Winnipeg. Doctors from the hospital for sick children, armed with records of former patients, searched the city and found parents willing to allow 15 children to donate blood which will make enough serum for 25 cases, doctors estimated.

COLLECTION UPON PROMISSORY NOTE TO WED SOUGHT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Suits for $700,000 have been instituted by Miss Alice G. Porter of West Medford, a Radcliffe graduate, against the estate of Albin A. Hooker of Wellsley, who amassed a fortune in the small loan business in Boston before state legislation surbed his high interest rates. The woman, who for 11 years acted, she says, as a confidential advisor to the small loan broker, charged that Hooker failed to keep an often reiterated promise to marry her and that the administrator of the estate has refused to pay her a promissory note for $100,000 which, she claims, Hooker gave her in return for companionship and advice. The note was payable at his death. Miss Porter, who was a first cousin of Hooker and a former high school teacher, says she became engaged to marry him in that she discovered Hooker in 1914. In 1916, she avers, he agreed married Miss Margaret E. Minn to give her his entire estate. He now, of Arlington 45, a divorcee in 1927, and, at the time, Hooker seems it was only then, she asserts, tary.
