

MAFIA KING OF CHICAGO MURDERED

Sicilian Gangsters of Nation's Largest Cities Are Ready for War—Thousands See Bold Killing of Pal of Al Capone—Dead Gunman Lived Span of His Kind.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Tony Lombardo's dead, a dum-dum bullet in his brain. The vengeance of Frank Gale, slain New York gangster, has spoken.

Never was murder done more boldly. Thousands of persons were pushing along in the late Friday afternoon crush when the loop canyons echoed to the roar of assassins' guns, and Lombardo, pal of Al Capone, pitched forward on his face.

The slayers could not have gotten half a block from the vicinity of 61 West Madison street, in front of which Lombardo fell, before he had been shot. The slayers saw the shots fired; hundreds had seen the three gunmen drop their still smoking weapons to the pavement and then lose themselves in the crowd; thousands had heard the shots, while other thousands poured to the murder scene from adjacent streets and office buildings, adding to the confusion.

Not in a long time has the man gleamed on the barrels of so many revolvers, unhesitant for action, as it saw in the hands of police yesterday afternoon. Detectives in plain clothes, squad men and traffic officers, pistols ready, dotted the crowds as the blood of Lombardo oozed onto the sidewalk from the ugly bullet hole behind his ear.

The downtown, daylight murder of the one time head of theUnione Siciliana meant more to police than the passing of another gang chief. In the blood of Lombardo they saw the handwriting of Frank Gale's vengeance. They saw the outbreak of new gang running, this time on an intercity scale, with the bad men of New York and Chicago aligned against each other.

Capone, they said, is a marked man. His close alliance with Lombardo was well known. The Alito brothers, down in the police catalogue as bitter foes of Capone and Lombardo, also were mentioned frequently as the best muscle of the newly reorganized police force studied the long and involved ramifications of gang murder, seeking a lead that would take them to Lombardo's murderers.

Both Lombardo and Gale were Sicilians, each powerful in his territory. Each dominated large groups, collecting tribute, police said, in many forms. Lombardo, ostensibly a commission broker, was reputed to have had a monopoly on the sale of sugar to hundreds of persons engaged in the manufacture of bootleg alcohol. "King of the Mafia" was a title police often placed in apposition to his name.

Lombardo was in his early forties. The gangster rarely lives to be much older. When he was killed he had a revolver, but it was still in his pocket when police reached his body.

PHILLY OFFICIALS FOUND TOOLS OF RUM GANG KINGS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.—(AP)—"Full Steam Ahead" was the order of District Attorney John Monaghan today in his drive against bootleggers, hijackers and racketeers, who by the dozens have been added in accumulating millions of dollars through the protection of police and police officials.

Developments even more startling than the summary suspension of Captain Charles Beckman, head of the city detective bureau, who was denounced by the special grand jury investigating underworld conditions as "unfit to hold any municipal office," were promised by the district attorney.

Before adjourning yesterday over the week-end, after its term had been indefinitely extended, the grand jury in its preliminary report, recommended that Beckman be immediately removed and said there was a direct connection between members of the police force and a well-organized group of persistent law-breakers, who comprise the most dangerous element in our community—desperate men, defiant even of the fundamental rules under which our citizens live.

After he had ordered Beckman's suspension, Mayor Mackey announced that he had asked the district attorney to submit to the grand jury a number of reports prepared in to him by commanders of police districts. Some of these reports, the mayor held, "constitute evidence of irregularities on the part of the very police officials who prepared them."

Every policeman in the city was ordered by Superintendent of Police Mills today to "clean up" Philadelphia. They were told that they must stop the transportation, manufacture and sale of liquor and beer. Orders were issued to hunt all suspicious-looking trucks, question their drivers and examine their contents. Four men, alleged by District Attorney Monaghan to have been responsible for the diversion of much of the alcohol in the eastern United States, and five others said to have been in charge of the central headquarters for the retail distribution of bootleg liquor were arrested last night.

A crowd of more than 4000 lined the field to witness the arrival and departure of the racers for El Paso, today's night control stop. Almost before Rowland's plane had stopped, Robert Duke, Pittsburg, in an American Moth, circled the airport and landed at 7:12.

The third arrival was W. N. Emery, Jr., Bradford, Pa. Traveling, who landed six minutes after the arrival of Duke. He was followed three minutes later by Theodore W. Kenyon of Boston in a Challenger.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 8.—(AP) Leo Lomski of Aberdeen, Wash., won the referee's decision over Pete Latzo, Seranton, Pa., light-heavyweight, in a slashing 10-round fight here last night. Lomski, in superb condition, tied up his margin through some terrific punching in the early rounds, but was hard pressed to maintain his advantage. Latzo apparently solved the style of the westerner in the closing rounds and was rapidly cutting down the lead when the final bell sounded. The verdict in favor of Lomski was greeted with mingled cheers and jeers from the capacity crowd that attended.

Tommy Grogan, Omaha light-weight, knocked out Jack Duff of Toledo in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round semi-windup that was run off after the main go.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—(AP) Charley Berlinger, light-heavyweight from Winnipeg, Canada, knocked out Mike Arnold of Denver in the eighth round of a 10-round match at Dreamland auditorium here last night.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 8.—Young Nationalista, Filipino boxer, rallied in the last few rounds to nose out Allan Whitlow, young Phoenix, Ariz., bantamweight, for the division in their first round encounter here last night.

FILM STAR CRIES UNTIL HE'S SICK

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Sept. 8.—(AP) All tears of the screen are not synthetic and today no one knows that better than Emil Jannings, noted German actor.

Paradoxical as it may seem, the star was confined to his home today, production of his latest picture halted, solely because he has cried too much.

Jannings' newest picture calls for several emotional scenes and the directors have demanded lots of tears. By exercising sensitive muscles of his eyes, the actor was able to force real tears to stream down his face. But he overworked his idea. Constant rubbing caused a painful inflammation to set in. Yesterday the irritation became so pronounced, Jannings had to call a halt to his work.

AGED MEN FIGHT, AND YOUTH KILLED

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Sept. 8.—(AP) A fist fight last night between two aged ranchers, A. O. Schaff, 79, and W. H. Stutsman, 63, ended in the death today of Schaff's son, William, who was shot when he came to his father's aid.

The elder Schaff himself suffered severe injuries on the head, the result of being struck with a shovel and was in a critical condition. Both the men were alleged to have used irrigation shovels to strike the other during the fight.

A gun was brought into the fight by a stepson of Stutsman who sought to help the latter. The elder Stutsman is alleged to have seized it and shot Schaff's son.

BRITISH DENIAL NAVAL AGREEMENT PLAN IN DISCARD

LONDON, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Official denial was made today of reports published in two London newspapers that the Anglo-French naval accord would be abandoned.

The reports said that adverse criticism of the understanding had come from various quarters and particularly from hostile American sentiment.

Government circles pointed out that no action on naval accord could be taken until an answer is received from the United States, Japan and Italy, to which governments the proposals have been submitted.

The officials recognize that the accord may not meet the views of one or more of those other countries, in which case it may be necessary for the British and French to use some other method in bringing about an understanding.

VAST THROG AT CHURCH PAGEANT

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Mothers' day at the eucharistic congress brought out a congregation of 150,000 women who attended the pontifical high mass celebrated in the vast arena at the show ground. Onlookers estimated at 100,000 more brought the total attendance to the record figure of a quarter of a million.

Previous to the high mass at the arena, 30,000 children celebrated holy communion at St. Mary's cathedral. They entered the edifice in relays of 10,000 each.

In the midst of the great assemblage Cardinal Cerretti, papal legate, presided at the altar. He was attended by a notable galaxy of brilliantly-robed prelates, the whole making a wonderful spectacle. After the service the cardinal read a cablegram from Pope Pius.
