Kaintuck's Queen

Meet Miss Virginia May Hendrick, of Lexington, Ky., picked as the most beautiful woman in the state and crowned by no less a person than Governor Flem D. Sampson, himself. Virgie owns two other beauty titles—"Dance Queen of the State" and "Miss Lexington."

DRUG CHEST OF M'NAIR'S STORE LOOTED BY THIEF

A thief in search of dope entered McNaair's drug store on Main street sometime during last night or early this morning and collected a large supply of hypodermic tablets and trinitrate from a padlocked chest in the back part of the building. The extent of the loss is not known but the clerks are taking an inventory today to determine just what had been taken. In addition to the drugs the man took seven dollars from the cash drawer and removed several other valuables.

Entrance to the building was probably gained by a ladder which was leaning against the wire fence that encloses the back yard. After reaching the outside back window, the man used a ratchet and screw in breaking the glass and cutting the string wire which fastened the padlock. The hole which was cut in the wire is exactly a foot in length and width, indicating that the thief was a very small person.

After getting through the window into the store room, the intruder used an screw in boring a hole in another door to reach the lock. This hole was barely large enough for a small man's hand. The thief was apparently nervous for the sinner slipped in several places and the cut was jagged.

The small padlock on the door near the hole of the door was a cheap one. Although there were three bolts in the door, besides the one which was unlocked, the man, who evidently was taking no chances on experimenting with mysterious holes, left them untouched.

There are no clues to the identity of the unusual burglar, but it is believed that the guilty party was someone traveling with the fair expositions.

Farmer-Labor Man

Col. Frank E. Webb, San Francisco bridge promoter, has accepted the nomination tendered him by the executive committee of the Farmer-Labor party to head the presidential ticket of that party in November.

Brisbane's Today

Flying will be a reality soon. The theatre with actors moving and speaking may come back into its own. Mr. Swope's General Electric Company is prepared, through radio-television, to let you see and hear actors as they play their parts on the stage.

You may hear and see in New York the marvelously trained actors of the Paris Theatre. Francois or hear voices and watch twinkling toes on the stage of "La Scala."

Scientists assembled in Glasgow tell you one thing to remember, that "nerve cells require oxygen to preserve them."

So does every other cell in the body. Practice deep breathing, keep the windows open, exercise hard enough at least once a day to rid the lungs of "residual" air and live longer.

GERMAN MONARCHISTS SHOW SIGNS OF LIFE
KARLSRUHE, Germany—(AP)—Royalist die-hards have taken the opportunity presented by the death of the former Grand Duke Friedrich of Baden to air their monarchist convictions.

MOST people know this absolute antidote for pain, but are you careful to say Bayer when you buy it? And do you always give a glance to see Bayer on the box—and the word genuine printed in red? It isn't the genuine Bayer Aspirin without it! A drugstore always has Bayer, with the proven directions tucked in every box.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacturing of Monacopolis, Germany.

WILD BIRDS SHOWN BY STATE FARMS

The display of wild birds, which has been attracting much attention at the fairgrounds, will not be taken back to the state game farms from which they came, with the exception of the wild turkeys, according to Gene Sampson, state superintendent of game farms, who came with the birds to display them at the county fair.

The exhibit included China, Reeves, golden and silver pheasants, mountain quail, wild ducks and Hungarian partridges. The Reeves, golden and silver pheasants will be placed on permanent exhibition at Jim Orlew's estate at Prospect and several pairs of the pheasants will be left at the Ashland Lithia park. The ducks will be liberated or given to ranchers who have bodies of water on their land and the partridges will probably be liberated.

If a suitable coop is constructed, the state game commission will send a truck load of China pheasants to the fair grounds, where they will be kept until the two weeks open season on the birds in October is over. The birds will then be released.

SAM HOUSTON AT HIS TASK AGAIN

The benevolent looking elderly gentleman presiding at the post-office window of the finance clerk is not a new employee of Uncle Sam's, as many local people have been inclined to think, but is the same old attaché of that office, C. M. (Sam) Houston, who returned from a 15 days' vacation last Wednesday disguised with a pair of horn-rimmed spectacles.

It seems that for some time past Sam has been unable to read the print as he "saw," but that fact did not worry him until last week when he learned that another pedestrian just behind him on Main street had picked up a quarter after he had passed by, without seeing it. He thereupon called on an optician and since obtaining the spectacles has spent most of his spare time walking about the business streets, looking downwards, but so far has only found a couple of slug tobacco tags.

MYSTERY SLANT IN PORTLAND CRASH

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 14.—(AP) Mrs. Gladys Abercrombie, 33, of McMinnville, was in a critical condition in a hospital here today, a few hours after the automobile in which she was riding struck a safety island at the west end of the Broadway bridge, and was demolished.

Police were endeavoring to unravel the circumstances leading up to the crash. A Mr. Gray, said to be the employer of Mrs. Abercrombie at McMinnville, told police that he was not driving the car and that the woman's husband was lost in the crowd that witnessed the wreck. No report of the crash had been filed with the police.

Death of John R. Schmidt was expected hourly today at a local hospital. He was injured last night when his automobile sideswiped a street car. The auto leaped over the curb and struck a high bank.

50 FOREST FIRES SET BY SHEEPMAN FOR MORE RANGE

ROSEBURG, Ore., Sept. 14.—(AP) Because he needed additional range to care for his increasing flocks of sheep, A. V. Ady, a South Myrtle Creek sheep raiser, set from 50 to 75 forest fires in the Weaver creek section last August 29. Yesterday he was fined $200 when he admitted setting the fires.

Ady was suspected when agents of the Douglas fire patrol found the string of blazing fires. The man escaped in the darkness but the fire fighters traced Ady's movements and finally arrested him. He confessed, they said, setting the fires and gave as the reason that his increasing sheep folds required additional range.

Ady entered a plea of guilty in justice court and paid his fine. In view of his willingness to enter a plea officers agreed to submit a misdemeanor charge against him, although he could have been charged with a felony and, if found guilty, sent to state prison.

Prior to the August 29 fires an attempt had been made to burn over the Weaver creek region. Several bad fires had been fought there, and officers, anticipating a recurrence, had placed guards on duty. It was these guards who traced Ady.

TRANSIENT HURT IN AUTO SMASH

Lloyd Hamilton, a transient fruit worker, sustained minor injuries which sent him to the community hospital here this morning following an auto crash near Talent.

Hamilton is said to have been traveling at a high rate of speed when a fire blew out, causing him to crash into the side of a small cement bridge on the Pacific highway and then turn over. Hamilton was accompanied by a woman companion, but she is reported to have escaped with slight cuts and bruises. The car was badly wrecked.

California Chocolate Cookies

[from Oroville]

These cookies are crisp, snappy—and how good they taste! For they are made with a pure, sweet-tasting shortening.

1 cup Crisco 1 cup nut meats 1 cup pastry flour
2 cups brown sugar 1/2 cup fine 1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs unbeaten 1 teaspoon vanilla 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup cocoa 1/2 teaspoon soda

Cream Crisco and sugar thoroughly; add eggs, cocoa, nuts and vanilla. Sift flour, salt, baking powder and soda together. Mix well. Turn onto floured board. Divide the batter and knead each half into oblong rolls about 1/2 inches in diameter. Lay in Criscoed pans and cover with wax paper and put in ice box over night or until thoroughly chilled. When ready to bake slice thin and bake in moderate oven (350°F.) for 10 minutes. This makes about 75 cookies.
