NEAR COLLISION WITH TRAFFIC COP RESULTS IN FINE

J. C. Clark, a young packing house worker of Medford made a sad financial mistake last Saturday evening when in driving his car south at about 20 miles an hour at the end of South Riverside avenue, the Pacific highway he passed a car going the same direction in front of him, and nearly collided with the car of State Traffic Officer Moore who was coming north.

It was only the expert driving of the officer, who later arrested Clark, that prevented a bad collision and smashup.

In Judge Taylor's court this forenoon Clark was fined $10 and costs, and suffered the suspension of his driver's license for the next 15 days, on his plea of guilty to the charge of impudent and reckless driving.

At that, his punishment was very lenient, due probably to his frank statement of the circumstances, and his explanation that he was closely watching his motor, which he said was working bad at the time.

Apparently, an officer Taylor has reported given warning that he would impose stiff punishment on all violators found guilty of passing around cars without sufficient clearance ahead for the safety of an approaching car.

MEDFORD WILL SOON HAVE NEW DOG HOSPITAL

The new Medford Veterinary hospital, now being built by Dr. D. W. Stone, on North Central, at a cost of about $10,000, will be completed in three weeks, according to the local veterinarian. The concrete structure, which is to contain all the modern features and latest tools, will accommodate both dog and cat patients.

There will be two large wards for dogs; one for the sick dogs, which can take care of 20, and one for the well, which will accommodate 20 or more. The latter ward will have a separate runway to assure the necessary amount of daily exercise. The ward for cats will be a separate department.

Dr. Stone will keep an attendant who is to be provided with a room in the hospital, and who will be on hand to administer constantly to the needs of the invalids.

The building, which is a fire-proof structure, has been a dream of the local veterinarian for the past 22 years, and his efforts to being started to make it one of the most complete and outstanding hospitals of its kind along the coast.
