

HOGS WEAK ON PORTLAND MART, ONIONS STRONG

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 25.—(AP) In sympathy with a decidedly weaker feeling at the North Portland stockyards late yesterday and today, country killed hogs were fully a cent and a half lower on local dressed meat markets this morning.

Veal prices were also weaker today, only the very choice lights fetching the top price around 22 cents. Other and less desirable offerings ranged downward, the bulk of offerings bringing 20 to 21 cents. Lambs were in rather tight supply and steady at 22 to 23 cents.

Poultry prices were steady, but there was some uncertainty in the market, and it was thought there might be some changes late in the day.

Butter and eggs were firm with local demand absorbing nearly everything offered.

Fruit and vegetable markets were fairly active although prices were almost without change.

Dry onions were dealer all around, best Oregon yellow Danvers topping the market around $4 per sack, while the bulk of that variety brought in the neighborhood of $2.50.

Other varieties from Walla Walla and Yakima went at $2.50 per cwt. and up.

Ripe tomatoes were in liberal supply at 75 cents per box, but demand was not overly active.

Cauliflower was plentiful and cheaper at $1 per crate for No. 1 stuff and 75 cents for No. 2 grade.
