

Beautiful New Drug Store Opens in Medford Thursday

JARMIN-WOODS OPEN THURSDAY IN NEW STORE

Owl Drug Company's Products Featured—Elaborate Fixtures and Soda Fountain Installed—Local Building Firms Are Given Preference—Favors for Visitors Opening Day.

Thursday morning the new Jarmin and Woods drug store, corner Main street and Central avenue, will be opened to the public with surprise gifts for all visitors, and the entire establishment ready for inspection of all who care to look over the modern fixtures and arrangement of the various departments.

M. B. Jarmin and Charles L. Woods entered business in Medford January 10, 1925, establishing a drug store in the Golden Rule building. The building was later sold to the J. C. Penney company and their lease expired, the partners moved into a temporary location with the Medford Book store, where they have carried on, pending the completion of the new store.

The present location was obtained from F. V. Medynski on a long term lease and includes space formerly occupied by three places of business. The store has a 25-foot frontage on Main street and 60 feet on Central, with a corner entrance. A mezzanine floor in the rear provides office room and space for the packing and checking departments, and a balcony running along both sides, and the front gives ample storage space for the large stock of goods carried.

While the Jarmin and Woods drug store interior arrangement and decoration is a duplicate of owl drug stores in the south, all new fixtures and material, with the exception of the soda fountain, were purchased from Medford concerns. The store is privately owned by Jarmin and Woods and has the exclusive agency for Owl Drug company products.

The prescription counter of latest design and efficient arrangement is one of the largest ever installed in Medford and will be presided over by a registered pharmacist at all times during business hours.

New oak fixtures are installed in the street level display space, including large perfume and toilet-tries sections, with middle island show cases for perfume sets, articles in ivory and other goods.

A beautiful Red Cross soda fountain with electrical refrigeration and the most modern dispensing appliances occupies space in the west front portion of the room. The fountain, which was purchased from the Gray-McLean and Percy company of Portland, will feature light lunches, sandwiches and salads in addition to the regular list of fountain delicacies. This department of the store is in charge of Fred Powell with Mrs. Walgamot as assistant.

Fowell has had many years' experience in some of the largest cities in the country and will handle the fountain department much the same as a metropolitan establishment.

Jarmin and Woods will conduct their new store along the same business lines that have characterized their previous enterprises here, and will co-operate with other drug stores of Medford, in regard to hours of business and Sunday closing. The fountain department, will remain open Sundays and week-days until 11 p. m. In addition to the proprietors, Henrietta Eckstein and Henry Silver, both registered pharmacists, will continue with the new store, giving the fine service, that has made Jarmin and Woods' popular with Medford people.

In line with the policy of keeping Medford money at home, all of the material and labor entering into the new establishment was, so far as possible, obtained from local concerns.

Cabinet work in the store is the product of the Trowbridge Cabinet Works which has manufactured the fixtures for many of the city's finest business houses, as well as private homes. Plumbing and metal work were done by the Vroman plumbing shop and Modern Plumbing and Sheet Metal company, respectively.

Electrical installation, including an electric elevator, was handled by the Medford Electric company. Fixtures are of the most approved type and provide a pleasing balance of illumination for all parts of the store. The elevator, which was designed, built and installed entirely by the local electric company, has automatic stop devices and provides rapid communication between the street level and storage department of the store.

Hardware and fittings were furnished by the Medford Furniture and Hardware company and a portion of the paint and other interior finish material came from the Al Piche Hardware store.

The building was remodeled according to designs outlined by Mr. Woods and Mr. Jarmin, the contract being executed by George Oliver, who has successfully handled several important business and residence structure contracts in Medford.

An exceptionally fine job of interior painting and decorating has been completed in the Jarmin and Woods store by E. J. Runtz, who has gained considerable reputation here in this class of work.

The work in the lobby and other portions of the building was installed by Gilliland and Lowe of Salem, who have found their services in this line so much in demand that they are contemplating opening a branch here.

Plate glass in the large show windows was placed by the Medford Plate Glass and Mirror Works.

Lumber and other building material used in the remodeling work was furnished by the Big Pines Lumber company.

Complete insurance coverage of building and contents was written by the B. A. Holmes Insurance agency.

New Jarmin & Woods Owl drug store which will open at Central and Main streets Thursday. The front of the store is finished in orange and black and will be one of the most attractive corners in Medford.

STATE FOOTBALL FANS HAVE EYES ON LOCAL GAME

The Medford high school's encounter with the Chemawa Indians football team next Saturday at the Holly street athletic field, the first important game of the season for the locals, is attracting state-wide interest, particularly in The Dalles and Portland. The result will give a comparative view of the strength of the leading contenders for the state championship this year, as Washington High defeated the Indians by a 19 to 9 score, and The Dalles has a game scheduled with the redmen.

Coach Callison had his charges out last night, doing the first real hard work on the season. Jack Hughes, guard, who has been out of practice with tonsillitis, reported yesterday, and will be in the game Saturday, which will strengthen the line.

Callison also put Red McDonald through a course of sprouts in kicking. McDonald can kick with power in practice, but was unable to do much against the Alumni team. Bernie Hughes, the center, may also be drafted for punting.

Al Melvin, the regular quarter, is probably out of the game for the rest of the season, owing to being forced to quit school, and Garnett, substitute quarter last season, will take his place.

KNIGHTS PYTHIAS RESUME MEETING AFTER VACATION

After a quiet hot weather spell Tallisman lodge No. 21, Knights of Pythias had an exceptionally interesting meeting last night in their hall on West Main street.

A letter was received and read from Supreme Chancellor Alva W. Lumpkin announcing a reduction in initiation fees and re-instatement fees.

The following delegates and alternates were given their credentials to grand lodge which will be held in Salem, October 8, 9, 10. Delegates: E. E. Gore, W. R. Gaylord, Carl Eichtner, H. C. Hoehne; alternates: Geo. J. Kingman, L. L. Damon, James Stewart, H. H. Williams.

District Deputy Grand Chancellor H. C. Hoehne was present and gave a very interesting report on the district conven. on recently held in Roseburg.

Oil Demonstration at LeMoss Station

A machine designed by the engineering department of the Texaco Oil company is being displayed this week at the LeMoss Service station, corner Jackson street and Riverside avenue, giving motorists a visible demonstration of the cleanness and texture of the oil film developed by Texaco golden motor oil.

The contrivance, which cost approximately $3,000, is one of three being shown in Pacific coast states, according to E. M. Mitchell, manager of the local Texaco distributing plant, and is attracting considerable attention from LeMoss station patrons.

The oil company officials said a quantity of quick lime was found about the mouth of the test well. After a two-hour questioning of Clark, a Pomona, Cal., constable yesterday declared he was positive

IDENTIFY VICTIM OF APE MAN; FIND GRIM EVIDENCE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25.—(AP)—Indications contained in a scrap of paper that the remains of suspected boy victims of 21-year-old Gordon Stewart Northcott may have been used as food for a formula for chicken feed today had sent authorities on a new investigation of the Wineville chicken ranch.

If the investigation reveals the evidence to be genuine, authorities believe they will have accomplished a major task in solving the mystery of the alleged slayings. The paper which officers found in a search of the ranch disclosed a chicken feed mixture and ended with a note specifying the use of the bodies.

A mass of other evidence that has been gathered by officers since Northcott's nephew, 15-year-old Sanford Clark, first told his story of the slaying of boys on the isolated ranch, was left in laboratories here for analysis.

Upon the decision of chemists, handwriting experts and other aids to scientific crime detection will depend on whether many of the items would be used as evidence against the youth and his mother.

The report of an oil company that the wooden plug had been removed from the 15-inch casing of a test well in the vicinity of young Northcott's cabin in Mint canyon today caused a reopening of the investigation at that site. Previously officers had made a search there with only a few pair of boys' shoes as their reward.

The oil company officials said a quantity of quick lime was found about the mouth of the test well. After a two-hour questioning of Clark, a Pomona, Cal., constable yesterday declared he was positive that two boys who the youth had said were Northcott's victims were Nelson and Louis Winslow. The Winslow boys were kidnaped from their home in Pomona several weeks ago. The officer said the description given by Clark fitted in detail that of the missing boys.
