

Local and Personal

There was a demand for chicken and home cooked food at the public market this morning, which could not be supplied, but which gave the new market master, M. M. Corlies, an idea. Within a short time he expects to make the fresh meat department one of the most important of the market, and to encourage women of the community to prepare the cooked food supply. Delicious apples, away peaches and cantaloupes were plentiful at the mid-week market.

MISS BARBARA HICKERSON and Pearl '08, well known nurses of the city left Sunday, on a 25-day ride to New Orleans, which they expect to reach the week before Christmas. They plan to make two round-trip journeys, except for a train ride across the desert country of Arizona and Texas. Friends Sunday drove them to the summit of the Siskiyou, and started them on their long walk. They were equipped with high-top boots and carried between them a backpack weighing 35 pounds. They will stop for night stops at hotels and regular days for resting.

GINET—Joseph Ginet passed peacefully away at his home on the Little Applegate, Monday, October 1, 1928. He was born in St. Jean de La Porte, France, April 21, 1870, but had made his home in this country for many years. Mr. Ginet leaves to mourn their loss, his wife, Corinne, and four daughters—Olyette, Frances, Virginia and Josephine.

Funeral services will be held Thursday, October 4, at 9:30 a. m. from the Jacksonville Catholic church; Rev. Father Maher officiating. Burial in Jacksonville. The best funeral home is in charge of the services.

FRIEND—Funeral services for Mrs. Kate Friend will be held from the Park funeral home Wednesday, October 3, at 10:30 a. m. Rev. W. H. Eaton officiating. Burial in Medford.

COLLINS—Thomas Benton Collins aged 82 years and 8 months, passed away Tuesday morning, October 2, at his home at 110 Almond street. He was born in St. Clair county, Missouri, and crossed the plains to Oregon in 1859.

Kate M. Pymale and T. H. Collins were married July 3, 1904, in Jacksonville, Ore. Deceased leaves a devoted wife, a number of nieces and nephews and many friends to mourn his loss.

The first night spent in Medford, at 5:45 a. m., camped at the place where the Nat. now stands.

It is not only that Mr. Collins came here as a child and grew to manhood here, but that during all these years he had kept up his contact with Medford people and Medford friends. He was a man who had a tender heart for friends. To know him was to like him, and his death will be a source of sorrow to hundreds of people who numbered him among those they called friends.

Funeral services will be held on Wednesday, October 3, at 2:30 p. m. at the best funeral home, Rev. C. E. Melies officiating. Burial in Phoenix cemetery.

LIGHTNING AVOIDS FOREST LOOKOUT ON MOUNT PITT

J. J. G. O'Connell, the well known, somewhat eccentric and suggestive lookout of the United States National forest, who has been stationed at the top of Mt. McLoughlin, or Pitt as it used to be known, every summer during the last five years past, was a visitor today at the local forestry office. His lookout duties at that high elevation usually cease from about the middle of September on, for the reason that he must get off the mountain before he is covered in for the winter.

During last summer Mr. O'Connell attained considerable prominence in the forest service through his ability at "spotting" a fire forty or more miles away, even before such fires were discovered by lookouts at posts much nearer than his own lonely station on Mt. Pitt.

A remarkable thing about his service as lookout on Mt. Pitt this past season was that during the storm in the Diamond Lake-Crested Lake region no lightning came nearer this station than fourteen miles away, whereas during last year's season and those of previous seasons lightning frequently struck the mountain and all around his station, which in his opinion was due to lightning rods.

While Mr. O'Connell used to say as it is generally believed that this situation, both last year and this year is a striking fact.

Another noteworthy fact about Mr. O'Connell, besides his eccentricity, is that so far as known, no one living has been able to find out what his initials "J. J. G." stand for, and some of the forest rangers have been so nettled by this mystery that for years they have been hoping that lightning bolt would come along and knock off one or two of them.

ACCOMPLISHMENT WILL BE TOLD FOR RED CROSS

In anticipation of the annual roll call of the American Red Cross, the publicity department of the Jackson county chapter will endeavor to give from time to time through the medium of this paper some of the outstanding accomplishments of this great organization during the last year, both locally and nationally. We hope to answer in this way the ever recurring questions, "What is the Red Cross doing?" and "How does the Red Cross spend its money?"

In this country more than $27,000,000 was spent during the past year for domestic disasters. The relief work has been the heaviest ever in the Mississippi valley since completed. In New England 17,000 flood sufferers were cared for and $200,000 spent out of the national treasury.

In all and was given in 60 domestic disasters and during June, 1928, alone, the American Red Cross was handling disaster relief operations in 15 states and 10 Alaska.

The 12th annual roll call is approaching and the American public is asked for 5,000,000 papers. The Pacific Coast quota is increased 145,000 this year.

This is your opportunity to give and to help in this way this great work.

Notice

All members Wm. H. Harrison W. L. G. Central Point, are hereby requested to be present at our next regular meeting on Saturday, October 6, important business to be transacted.

By order President.
