ATHLETIC FUND GETS SET-BACK CHEMAWA GAME

The athletic fund of the Medford high school suffered a $100 loss in the football game last Saturday with the Chemawa Indians, and this city, long known as a red-hot supporter of its teams, will have to flock in large numbers to the future games to make up the deficit, or face a larger one, as the scheduled games with Salem, Eugene and Corvallis are expensive. The high school football teams, for three years state champions, have been the best advertisers of the city and valley, with hundreds throughout the state interested in them. Their victories in important games are printed in all the leading papers of the country.

There was plenty of interest in the Chemawa game, but it failed to show up in the box office, and one of the smallest crowds that ever saw an early season football game was on hand. Just what ailed the fans has not been determined. They might have been too busy, or too tired, or remained home and listened to the radio report. The Medford team leaves in the morning for Marshfield, where it will play the high school Saturday in their only game away from home.
