GUNMEN WOUND FOUR OFFICIALS AND ROB MAILS

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 15.—(AP)—Three bandits who held up a fast mail in which registered mail was being transferred between railroad stations last night, were all killed today. They shot and wounded three guards and a policeman, and fled in an automobile with several sacks of the mail. The value of their loot was undetermined but police did not believe it was very large. A special watch was set on the border to keep the bandits from escaping into Canada. One of the guards, Ward McCarty, 32, of Elkhart, Ind., a mail clerk, received three bullets in his body. Vincent Connors, a motorcycle patrolman, was shot five times when he attempted to halt the bandits' car. The other guards were Francis E. Lohme, a Pullman porter, who was shot in one side, and Charles J. Davernough, a railroad detective, who was shot in one knee. The taxicab, loaded with mail, which is transferred under a contract system, had just left the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad station bound for the New York Central station where the mail was to have been placed on the Twentieth Century Limited. As the taxi halted at a traffic intersection the bandits drew alongside. Two men in the front seat waved revolvers at the guards and ordered "stick 'em." The third bandit, in the rear seat, held a sawed off shotgun. The guards, discovering the command, scrambled for their guns and the bandits poured a hail of lead into the taxi. One of them jumped to the running board of the taxi and pushing aside the body of McCarty, who had collapsed over the sacks, threw several into the trunk of the automobile. Several sacks lying on the floor of the taxi under McCarty's body were overlooked. The traffic light had changed to green in the meantime and the bandits sped away. Connor, attacked by the shots, was knocked from his motorcycle at the first volley from the escaping bandits, who then pumped several more shots into his body as they sped past.

He was pinned beneath his heavy freight truck when it overturned and burst into flames on the Baseline road near the Upper Sandy bridge. He died at a hospital Sunday. No one expressed the accident. It was believed that Sandy fell asleep at the wheel. Ralph Elmeron, 18, died Saturday night from an explosion which occurred while he and his brother Ernest were testing a formula for making gunpowder.

Democratic Vice-Presidential Nominee, In Oregon Today for Campaign Talks

JOSEPH T. ROBINSON

SEN. ROUTE WITH SENATOR ROBINSON TO PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 15.—Two speeches in Oregon today will terminate the campaign of Senator Joe T. Robinson in the Northwest. He will speak in Salem, the capital of Oregon, late this afternoon and then will motor to Portland for a speech in the evening. Then he will head eastward to carry the Democratic message into Idaho, Utah and Nebraska during the remainder of the week. At Boise, Idaho, Tuesday night, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee expects to attack Senator Borah, who has been campaigning for Herbert Hoover in the South and Middle West. Senator Robinson leaves the Far West greatly encouraged with the outlook in a section that has usually gone Republican in national elections. He has declared himself particularly hopeful of the outcome in Washington, where he believes a local fight on the Republican candidate for governor from within the governor's own party and the coming up for reelection of Senator Dill, a Democrat, may contribute to the score of the Democratic ticket. The nominee expects to make a bid for the farm vote in his speeches in Oregon, home state of Senator McNary, Republican, organizer of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill. Senator Robinson spent all of yesterday in rest and recreation. His chief activity was a motor trip to Mount Bachelor National park, where he viewed the famous peak and the glaciers that move in the valleys at its base.

BURTON DIFFERS WITH J. W. DAVIS ABOUT RELIGION

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Congressman Theodore E. Burton, Republican candidate for the senate, declared last night he does not agree with John W. Davis and others "that religious intolerance is a major issue in this campaign." Burton said he was requested by the Republican national committee to respond to remarks made by Davis, former Democratic presidential candidate, in a radio talk last week. His statement said: "Religious affiliation should have no place in the selection of a candidate. No responsible Republican leader has endeavored to profit by attacks on Governor Smith because he is a Catholic. If sporadic statements have been made they have been roundly condemned, especially by the friends of Mr. Hoover himself and Chairman Work of the Republican committee. "When did this religious question have its origin? It was at the Democratic national convention of 1924, when by the narrowest possible majority a resolution condemning the Ku Klux Klan was defeated. Reversment for this action certainly influenced a multitude to vote for Mr. Coolidge who otherwise would have voted for Mr. Davis, and no doubt many votes in 1928 will be cast for each of the two leading candidates under the promise of religious preference. But most assuredly neither the Republican party nor any of its leaders can be blamed for this."

Camp No. 2 Items
Mrs. O. E. Jones returned Wednesday from Portland, where she has been visiting relatives and friends. Jack Crump drove to Medford Tuesday to have his eyes examined. Jack hasn't been having very good luck seeing horns on deer lately, so he visits Dr. Emmens before the season closes. A charge of disturbing the peace is to be placed against W. E. Fickelson, the cook at Camp No. 2. Bill is said to be guilty of bombarding a tomato can with his rifle in the young hours of the morning. Steve Moore was the lucky hunter in camp Friday. Steve and his 20-30 collided with a four-point buck at the intersection of Mosquit trail and Twin Pond avenue. The families at Camp No. 2 participated in a warm roast Friday evening. George West, Carl Jackson and the section crew were busy burning brush piles near Camp 76 the first of the week. The road to camp is packed down now and in good shape. We are looking for a flock of deer slayers this week end. Bill Flake said if the cold weather continues he will need an assistant as the boys are burning up too much wood. Robert Fenmore Fleming, our expert authority on ducks and geese, has started to quack already; says it won't be long now until we will see some feathers flying. Pharaoh Eyre was a business visitor in Medford last Monday. Dad Gay has been keeping house for Bert Jenkins lately and now has an application filed for a job as extra on the bull cork gang. H. W. Merrill and family from Astoria got the week end hunt on the wrong road.

SON IS WOUNDED IN DEMONSTRATION OF PISTOL USE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—(AP)—John H. Griffin of San Francisco, while packing his suitcase for a vacation Sunday offered to show his 21-year-old son Donald, how to use a pistol and accidentally shot the youth and seriously wounded him. The father told his son he would leave him the weapon to protect the family during his own absence. He was demonstrating how to draw the pistol and point it when it was discharged accidentally. The bullet struck the youth in the left lung. His mother is visiting in Los Angeles, where her husband was going to join her.

Last Chance Free Tickets for Keaton

The "Complications of the Cameraman" concludes with this issue of the Mail-Tribune. You are not too late, however, to submit a completed report of Buster Keaton's motion picture to his studio visit. Merely locate the many errors in Buster's copy, herewith, and deposit your version at the Mail-Tribune office not later than 6 P. M. tomorrow, and you will be given a free ticket to see "The Cameraman," which is Buster's latest comedy, opening today at the Rialto Theatre. "Complications of the Cameraman" Buster says: "Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is about to produce that prize-winning novel, 'The Right of San Luis Rey.' And during my study to the various studio sets I learned that the leading role would be given to either John Gildish, Lou Hansy, William Stains, Ramon Novarro, Karl Pans, George K. Martha, Lew Brady or the writer! But rest assured that it will be an outstanding picture regardless of who is allotted the coveted part. I managed to get an excellent picture of Greta Garbo talking to Johnny Hook Brown between scenes of their new drama. Later, I was joined by Mary Ann Davis, who insisted that we call on Norma Leevers while she was making 'The Little Devil,' in which she is starred. My duties were now at an end and I borrowed one of Tim McEgoy's trusty steeds and rode home."

Buster Keaton at Rialto Today

"Moving pictures must move." This seems to be the theory on which Buster Keaton made "The Cameraman," his new laugh-producing now being shown at the Rialto theatre. For movie it does—with a rapid-fire rate that crowds one hilarious scene upon the other and one comical predicament on the next hilarious misadventure with celebrity. He drops off a four story building into the bullets of a long war fought with machine guns in Chinatown, falls off a launch and fouls its propeller during a boat race and saves the heroine.

Monte Banks at State Theatre

On his recent trip to his home in Italy, Monte Banks took movies with a small motion picture camera of all the members of his family. Now, whenever Monte gets homesick for a sight of his aged father, or his pretty sisters, or his many cousins, uncles and aunts, all he has to do is turn on the projection machine in his own home. Monte Banks' new comedy, "Play Safe," is now showing at the State.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, Nov. 7 to 13

ELECTRICITY IN THE HOME
—A Fire Prevention
Safety is one of the greatest blessings of electricity—the safety that comes from banishing open fire from our homes. Fireless heat, light and power are super-safe because they entail no flame—no risk. Just learn these—
10 Common Sense Rules for the Use of Electricity
1. If a fuse—the electrical safety valve blows out you are overloading your wiring system or using a defective appliance.
2. Do not try to install additional wiring in your home unless you are an electrician.
3. Wires must never be tacked to walls or baseboards or hung on nails.
4. Use porcelain, not metal, sockets in bathrooms and other rooms where there is a possibility of contact with dampness.
5. Do not handle electrical appliances when you are touching water piping or plumbing.
6. Never set electric irons on combustible material. Use the metal stand provided.
7. Lamps in clothes closets should never be left burning when the door is closed. Use an automatic door switch.
8. Never use irons to warm beds in winter. Heating pads are made for the purpose and are absolutely safe.
9. Have all appliance cords replaced or repaired when they become worn.
10. Do not clutter up your rooms with extension cords. Have plenty of convenience outlets to plug in all your electrical appliances and lamps.
