

SCHOOL FACULTY TELLS KIWANIS OF LOCAL WORK

High school activities were the subjects for several short talks by members of the faculty representing several departments at the Kiwanis club luncheon today at the Hotel Medford.

Coach P. Callison described several rival high school football teams of the state which he has seen in action this season, and stated that he is still optimistic about the result of major games scheduled for this fall, including those with Salem, Corvallis, Ashland and Eugene.

For the first time in the history of the local high school, debate and public speaking are major activities this year. Ralph Bailey, varsity debater for the University of Oregon for several years and member of debating in the Salem high school last winter, outlined the advantages of being able to think on one's feet under fire when called upon to make an impromptu speech.

Mr. Bailey urged the business men of Medford to cooperate in the work of turning out a winning debate team by interesting their children in trying out, and by attending the debates which will be held later this fall and winter. He stated that it is his hope to make Medford's reputation for debaters equal that which has been made in athletics.

Another new feature in the high school this year is a course in industries and vocations under the direction of Miss Gerald Lamson. The purpose of this department is to aid students in choosing professions which they will continue to study for in college, or if they do not continue their school work, train for in actual practice after graduating from high school.

The boys' quartet, made up of Merlin Tollefson, Thomas Kunkle, Walter Scott and Bill Morgan, sang "Gypsy Sweetheart," "Kentucky Babe" and "The Ole Ark a Move In' On." Miss Esther Church, instructor in music, played the piano accompaniment.

Another musical number which was enthusiastically received was "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," sung by Merlin Tollefson.

Salem drum corps, which won second prize recently at the San Antonio American Legion convention, will step in Medford tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock and will parade the streets for an hour. C. T. Baker, a guest at the meeting today, announced.

Among the visitors at noon were the following: B. Sheldon, Los Angeles; Fred T. Moore, San Francisco; Lew Hanson, Ashland; Theodore P. Tollefson, Central Point; Frank Clark, San Diego, and Ralph Billings, Ashland.

There will be no meeting of the Kiwanis club next week due to the Chamber of Commerce forum luncheon on Tuesday, October 23, at the Hotel Medford.

WM. J. FLYNN OF SECRET SERVICE DIED YESTERDAY

LAURENCE, N. Y., Oct. 15.—(AP)—William James Flynn, 57 years, the nephew of counterfeiter, adulterer and other offenders against the federal government, died yesterday after two weeks illness with heart disease. From 1897 to 1918 he was a member of the secret service, the last four years as its chief. During one year he was in charge of protecting the nation's railroads and from 1915 to 1921 he headed the bureau of investigation of the department of justice.

He was born November 18, 1867 in New York, and at the age of 26 he forsook the plumbers' trade because he found it too dull, and became a keeper in the Ludlow street jail, where all federal prisoners were then held. He utilized his contacts to obtain an insight into the criminal mind and when in 1897 he joined the secret service he achieved quick success.

Within two years he was put at the head of the Pittsburgh division and a year later was named to New York in charge of the eastern division, remaining for 14 years.

POISONED LIQUOR TAKES FIFTH LIFE IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15.—(AP)—The death of her child failed to warn 29-year-old Irene Arguella of the lurking danger of poison liquor and as a result Los Angeles police chalked up the fifth fatality due to that cause within the last week.

Miss Arguella died Sunday at the General Hospital after having been stricken blind. Only last Tuesday her child, Francis Hitchcock, was taken from the rooming house where both girls lived and died a short time later. She was blind, apparently from the liquor, when found in her room. Miss Arguella was taken to the hospital from the automobile of a stranger who had volunteered to drive her about in an attempt to revive her when she appeared intoxicated on the street.

Before she died she gave police information which they believe will lead to the arrest of persons who may have sold the liquor which killed both girls. Frank A. Trogo, 27, was held as a material witness, the officers believing he had knowledge of the source of the liquor.

Murder charges, police said, will be filed against the liquor dealers who sold the poison draughts. Another woman and two men were the other victims of poison liquor in Los Angeles during the last week.

British contestants were not required to go through so many qualifying ordeals and were fresher and more vigorous at the games as a result. The Americans were forced to keep in condition from April to August.

FRUIT INTERESTS SEEK REDUCTION FOR NORTHWEST

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 15.—(AP) Exhibits showing comparison between rates on apples and other products of the Pacific northwest to eastern and middle western points were introduced at the opening here today of a hearing before the interstate commerce commission on petitions filed by the department of public works of Washington, and the public service commissions of Idaho and Oregon. The petitioners, backed by the fruit interests of the northwest, seek a reduction of fruit rates from points in the northwest. The Northern Pacific and many other railroads are made defendants in the case.

C. B. Lanerman, traffic chief of the department of public works of Washington, was the first witness, presenting 44 exhibits at the first session. These had to do with rates on many commodities shipped from the northwest, and Lanerman sought to show that rates on apples were high in comparison. Alan P. Matthews, attorney for the department of public works and H. B. Brodie, assistant attorney general of Washington, did most of the questioning of Lanerman.

Stephenson said Evans had told him on several occasions that Coburn must be removed or that he, Evans, would be ruined.

SMITH GOES TO SEDALIA (Continued from Page One.) log cabin in which Lincoln first saw the light more than a hundred years ago. Several thousand persons were grouped about the little knoll and surrounding hillsides and police had to break a passage-way through the hundreds that crowded about the steps.

Once inside the memorial building, the governor and his party were free to inspect the cabin in comparative quiet. The scene of the man who rose from the New York East Side to lead the fight of his party to place him in the White House gazing in reverent awe at the crude little rural structure that gave to the nation one of its greatest leaders, evoked love-laden comment from many of those who looked on.

Standing before the entrance to the cabin, the nominee turned to his wife and children and, in a low voice, said: "This was no royal road to greatness."

The wife hung a large wreath on one of the protruding logs and walked around the cabin pausing to read some of Lincoln's writings engraved on marble plaques on the walls of the memorial. He seemed particularly impressed with that in which the emancipator told of his birth there on February 12, 1809, of his later struggles to educate himself and upon reaching manhood, finding himself able to "read, write and cipher to the rule of three."

SEALS SLUG WAY INTO GAME LEAD IN COAST SERIES

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—(AP)—San Francisco's slugger Seals are on the heavy end of the teeter-totter today and will go into the sixth game of the Pacific coast league's championship series tomorrow with a one-run advantage over Sacramento's Senators.

In a momentous contest yesterday featured by tremendous hitting on the part of the winners, the Seals went into the lead. Their 21 hits brought a 16-3 victory over the Senators and made the count, three games to two in the best-of-seven seven-game series for the title.

A crowd of about 13,500 persons, 3,000 of them from Sacramento, saw Jack Atoney, right hander hold the senators to eight hits while his team mates put on a rally in the seventh that netted ten runs.

The teams will meet in Sacramento tomorrow and the Seals can clinch the pennant and $30,000 of the $15,000 bonus being offered by the league with a win. Otherwise, the deciding game will be played in San Francisco on Wednesday.

Heavy hitting has marked most of the games to date with the Seals making 53, safeties in five contests. The Senators have totaled 64 hits.

BOARD HEARS CARRIN (Continued from Page One.) dored by the governor a further expense of about $500 has been incurred, Van Winkle reported.

For the expenses resulting from actions of the 1927 legislature, largely printing for special committee and commissions, $12,750 was allowed. The sum of $1500 was allowed for the transportation of convicts and $4000 for traveling expenses of circuit judges. The sum asked for the latter asked by Secretary of State Ross was $5000.

Charitable institutions in Portland caring for orphans and foundlings were allowed $52,000 and institutions for wayward girls $12,000.

Heads of departments and institutions will meet with Governor Patterson and Budget Director Koser this afternoon for a discussion of the state financial condition.

BIG FOUR TEAMS REMAIN UNBEATEN FOR THIRD WEEK

STANFORD, Calif., Oct. 15.—(AP) Championship hopes of two more coast conference clubs were considerably dimmed today as the result of Saturday's football engagements along the western front.

The third week of gridiron jousting brought out the remaining teams that had not previously seen conference action. As has been the case for years, the "big four"—Stanford, California, Washington and Southern California—remain undefeated. Six of the rest have now lost at least once.

Stanford's Cardinals made it two straight by trouncing over a lighter university of California at Los Angeles squad, 45-7. A week ago, the Cardinals trounced Oregon, 29-12.

The Washington Huskies made their first conference appearance with a 25-0 victory over Montana. It was the second successive loss from the latter, as Washington State handed out a 25-6 drubbing the week before.

California's Bears stayed in the win column by turning back Washington State, 13-3. Southern California, although in a non-conference game, kept its 1928 record intact with a 19-6 conquest of St. Mary's college. In its only conference game, a week ago, Southern California won from Oregon State, 19-0.

Oregon, Idaho and Oregon State all took on non-conference opposition and came through with flying colors. Willamette succumbed to Oregon's attack 38-6, while Idaho had but little difficulty in routing out Whitman, 24-13. Oregon State ran riot throughout the ranks of two eleven, winning from Columbia, 41-0, and from Pacific 46-0.

Two 87 yard runs to touchdowns from kick-offs helped thrill spectators. At Palo Alto, Forster, F. C. L. A. halfback, dodged through the entire Stanford eleven to score his team's only touchdown in the first period. The Idaho-Whitman game produced the same kind of a play when Appligate, Whitman halfback, rumbled from one end of the field to the other through the Idaho squad.

A crowd of 45,000 witnessed the Southern California-St. Mary's game at Berkeley for the California-W. S. C. encounter; 18,000 saw Washington trounce Montana at Seattle and 12,000 turned out at Palo Alto.
