JENKINS SPEECH TO BE FEATURE MERCHANTS MEET

A meeting of more than ordinary importance will be held tomorrow evening by the Jackson County Merchants' association at the Hotel Medford, where Frank Jenkins, manager of the Eugene Register and one of the most well known business men of the state, will speak to the local merchants on "Make Advertising Pay." Mr. Jenkins' appearance in Medford is part of a state-wide business improvement service to be carried out through a series of educational lectures dealing with advertising under the auspices of the Oregon State Editorial association, having the co-operation of the University of Oregon extension department.

This service is one of the major activities of the association this year and Medford is the second city to be visited, Grants Pass being the first. In addition to the speech by Mr. Jenkins, Harris Ellsworth, field manager of the editorial association, will also be a speaker Friday evening and confine his topic to the value of advertising.

Tomorrow night's meeting will begin with a dinner at the hotel and every member of the association is urgently requested to be present.

FOG BLANKET IS MADE USE OF BY LIQUOR RUNNERS

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 18.—(AP) With 20 liquor-running boats reported to have left the Canadian shore under cover of a light fog, coast guards and customs men patrolled the Niagara river throughout the night to prevent landing of the cargoes on the American side.

All available coast guard patrol boats had been mobilized into the Niagara river to meet the expected invasion, which government men said was the biggest ever attempted in this section.

Lieut. Martin W. Rasmussen, district coast guard commander, said the liquor fleet had been lined up along the Canadian shore for some time awaiting a heavy fog or an extremely dark night in order to make the dash across the river.

He said his force had been working in eight hour shifts watching the liquor craft day and night. He expressed confidence that any attempt to land liquor would be frustrated.

In addition to the river patrol by the coast guardsmen, customs service men were patrolling the river bank. No reports of seizures have been received.

BELIEVE MELVIN BE ABLE TO PLAY THE SALEM GAME

Al Melvin, quarterback of the Medford high school football team, slightly injured in scrimmage Wednesday afternoon, will probably be able to play in the Salem game Saturday against Salem, according to Dr. E. B. Pickel, who examined him this morning. He reported that Melvin's ribs and shoulders were strained when second string players fell upon him heavily. His condition showed a decided improvement over last night, according to the physician.

Melvin is a flashy open field runner and Coach Callison said that while his absence would be felt, Cliff Garnett would be able to fill his shoes, as he has had experience, knows the signals, and is a good general and goal point kicker. Garnett is a rangy kid and has been practicing this week at Fennie Harrell's half, because of his ability to grab passes and to break them up. He played quarterback last year.

Moriarty Quits Trying

DETROIT, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Failing after two years of effort, to build up the Detroit baseball team to a place of prominence it once enjoyed as a winning combination, George Moriarty has resigned as manager. The resignation was contained in a letter to Frank J. Navin, president of the club, given out last night, in which Moriarty said the team's poor showing was due to "unfavorable circumstances." The circumstances referred to were not set out in the letter.

TANK BELONGING AMUNDSEN PLANE BELIEVED FOUND

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 18.—(AP)—A fuel tank believed to belong to the French Latham plane in which Roald Amundsen and five companions are presumed to have perished in an attempt to reach survivors of the ill-fated dirigible Italia has been found.

The motorboat Keif arrived at Wadlersund with the tank last night, having found it Saturday at latitud 64:52 north, longitude 8:50 east, about 200 miles north of Christiansund, Norway. It was capable of holding 600 litres of fuel, but contained only 20. It bore a small plate with the inscription: "Essence competence 600 litres, hydravion Latham" (fuel content 600 litres, Latham seaplane).

The motorboat is due at Trondhjem tomorrow where the tank will be examined by experts.

The point where the tank was found is much farther south than other places where parts of the seaplane have been picked up. Captain Riiser-Larsen, who took part in the Italia rescue work, said that this indicates that the seaplane must have fallen into the water and not onto the ice, as in the latter case everything would have been smashed. Another expert said that the plane must have been flying a long time, since only 30 litres of gasoline were left in the tank.

DRUNKEN DRIVERS TO LOSE LICENSE YEAR HEREAFTER

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Motor vehicle drivers whose licenses are hereafter revoked by municipal judges for driving while drunk will not be accorded any mitigation of the penalty, according to a letter from Secretary of State Hal E. Hoss to Judge H. M. Tomlinson of Portland. The new policy is based on an opinion received by Hoss from Attorney General Van Winkle.

Heretofore it has been the practice of the secretary of state to restore the licenses within a period of 30 days from conviction, but the attorney general's opinion holds that this cannot be done. The law provides that municipal judges may revoke drivers' licenses permanently and "permanently" has been held to mean one year.

Other offenses, such as recklessness and incompetency, will be handled as formerly, that is the secretary of state will revoke upon recommendation of the judge and restore licenses within the prescribed time.

ORANGE BALL TOTERS ARE NAMED FOR W. S. C. GAME

Howard Maple, Quarter — Coquelle Thompson, Full — Cecil Sherwood, Half — Henry Hughes, Half

CORVALLIS, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Passing and punting scrimmage, in which the squad has shown some slight improvement in the air department, is occupying the attention of the Oregon State college football team during the few remaining hours of practice before the game with Washington State college at Pullman next Saturday.

Coach Schisler borrowed the Oregon State rooks yesterday and used the yearlings as opposition for the Orange varsity in preparation for the fray.

From previous showings this season, the Orangemen may rely more than usual on straight football to gain ground. In all games so far the Staters has shown an ability to punch through opposing lines for reasonable gains. In contrast to this is the failure of the Orange air offense to function anywhere near consistently.

Just now it looks like the foursome, to do the ball-carrying against Washington State is Howard Maple, quarter; Chief Thompson, fullback; Cecil Sherwood, left half, and Hughes, right half. The crippled condition of the Orangemen is accentuated when this line-up is considered as there are three sophomores and only one letterman—Maple—in the combination.

Pigs Is Pigs, Law Is Law; George Gave Up After What He Saw

No matter how strong an attachment one may have for pigs, there is no law which can separate an affectionate swine from her owner, or five babies from a devotedly hoggish mother. So what is City Traffic Officer George Prescott going to do?

George was sent out yesterday to the Applegate district to attach six pigs belonging to Ira Chaney, rancher defendant, as demanded by H. D. Fearey, plaintiff, in expiation for a judgment awarded the latter against the former. When he arrives there, he was greeted by a scene of impressive pathos. Six baby sucklings were finishing the last course of their noon day meal.

It was heart rending and not a little dangerous; taking the youngsters away from their mother as ordered. But George did it. Then the sympathetic and indignant arm of the law reached out and stayed the execution.

"Five swine are exempt, and cannot be attached from an owner. And the owner has the right to determine which of the five he may retain," said the law, as interpreted by a local attorney in behalf of the defendant.

"Is that so?" asked George obviously relieved. "Well, which ones are you going to keep?" he asked. The eyes of the owner scanned the six babies and dwelt upon the runt of the family. No more was said. It may be possible that the plaintiff could in time form an attachment for the runt, having viewed the indescribable beauty of the other five members of the swine family, but that is doubtful.

It wouldn't make too much difference whether the defendant chooses the mother and four babies for his own, or just the five best looking children. Because, in the words of kind-hearted George:

"It would be pretty hard for anyone to separate the mother from her children anyway—especially since all six of them are too young to know what it's all about."

'ALEX' GONE TO DOG HEAVEN AND GATES HOME SAD

One of the saddest "funerals" of the year took place soon after 9 o'clock this morning when with simple ceremony the body of "Alex" seven and a half year old black and white dog and namesake of Alex Sparrow, was buried in the backyard of the C. E. Gates home.

When young George Gates Junior was only a year old Jim Grieves presented him with the tiny puppy who at that time was the same age as the youngster. The two grew up together, cut their teeth, ran after the same balls and were good pals generally.

A week ago Alex became ill and refused to romp and play. He was taken to the local dog hospital and his case diagnosed as intestinal flu. Yesterday afternoon he died. Not until last night just before George went to bed did his father tell him the tragic news.

This morning Mr. Gates told his secretary that he would be gone for an hour while the burial rites took place with only the sad owner of the pet and the other members of the family present.

For several hours today George walked up and down in front of the house searching for granite rocks to place around the grave. He carried a bucket and wiped his eyes now and then. There are flowers too on the spot where Alex lies.

PRINCETON MEN THREAT BOYCOTT BECAUSE NO VOTE

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 18.—(AP)—A boycott of Princeton merchants was threatened today by 2,000 undergraduates of Princeton university who have been barred from voting in the coming elections on the ground that they are not residents of the city.

"Recrimination for discrimination. No vote—no trade," read posters distributed about the campus after the election board refused to register 100 undergraduates who appeared at a registration office. Graduate and seminary students were allowed to register.

The contention of the students that they are entitled to vote is upheld by Presiden John Grier Hibben and Dean Christian Gauss.

PROBABLE LINEUP FOR SALEM GAME NEXT SATURDAY

The football teams of the Medford and Salem high schools will line up as follows for the opening whistle of their game Saturday at two o'clock:

Salem		Medford
Settlemeir	C	B. Hughes
Goodfred	T	Morgan
Jones	T	Stocker
Bowne	G	E. Hughes
George	G	Greene
Bush	E	McDonald
Smith	E	Bowerman
C. Kelly	Q	Melvin
Bucke	HB	Harrell or Garnett
Rhea	HB	Anderson
R. Kelly	FB	Cookson

The bleachers, 128 feet, will be completed in time for the game, the contractor rushing the work thereon.

The Medford team is in good condition with the exception of Bennie Harrell, who will probably be in shape for the coming tussle. Cliff Garnett is being groomed for his place for it is highly probable that the flashy Bennie will play until the result is assured.

Salem plays the six man defense, and also has a novel forward pass attack. They are evenly matched with the locals in weight, who have the edge on them in experience. The game is the most important intersectional high school contest of the year in this state, and is being watched with interest statewide. Because of its bearing on the mythical state championship.

Assurances continue to pour in to Coach Callison, assuring him that they will be present in person at the game, instead of depending upon their radios. A record crowd is expected to be in attendance, and the prediction is for fair weather.
