

POSTOFFICE PAINT WILL NOT BE SLUNG BY CLERICAL FORCE

In keeping with the general trend of beautifying and building up West Sixth street, and also because Wm. J. Warner and Roland G. Beach, and Sam Houston, Hugo Guenther, Earl York and Stanley Sherwood of the postoffice clerical force are too busy handling mail when on duty and listening to politics when off duty, to do it themselves, the exterior woodwork of the Federal building will soon be repainted, no matter who is elected president. Not that there is any crying need for this anticipated improvement, but the woodwork has not been repainted for years and hence Postmaster Warner, as custodian of the building, is advertising for bids on the job, all bids to be in by Oct. 25th.

All of which reminds the public that it will soon be time when the wind begins to blow, etc., for the left and right entrance doors of the postoffice to be locked, in order to avoid the clerical force being in a draft.

KMED TO GIVE DINNER CONCERTS

A new dinner concert will be broadcast daily over KMED, the Mail Tribune-Virgin radio station, from 6:30 to 7 o'clock, through the courtesy of the Coast Display Advertising company of Medford, according to an announcement by Mrs. Virgin today.

This broadcast has been scheduled, following a demand from a number of local residents for a local program at this time. The Coast Display company is a new concern in Medford and maintains a system of road signs similar to that of Foster & Kleiser.

TOMORROW ENDS DEER HUNTING

The deer season closes tomorrow at sundown in this state and after that time it is illegal to hunt within the confines of Jackson county there has been no hunting fatality so far this year, though there have been more hunters in the timber than usual. Bright sunny weather during the most of the open season, has made the hunting poor.

The Chinese pheasant season closes October 31. The pheasants are reported plentiful but wary, and several ninards report more are seen on the outskirts of the city than in the open spaces.

POULTRYMEN ARE MEETING TODAY

The regular monthly meeting of the Poultry association was held at the Farm Bureau this afternoon. Manager Clay D. Parker said that the main matters to be discussed were the reorganization plans of the Farm Bureau now under way and the disposal of two carloads of eggs held in storage. Routine business and general discussion of poultry problems completed the session.

More on "Report" October 19, 1928.
To the Editor:
October 5, during my absence, Judge Thomas, over his signature, "Circuit Judge," attacked me as the forewoman of the Chaney grand jury, with reference to the questions asked him in the partial report. October 11, I called upon Judge Thomas to immediately give to the public the partial report, so that the people might understand the controversy. Following that, those who write under the name of the Republican Central Committee, published the oath of the grand jurors showing the proceedings to be secret. Now they are calling for the publication. I have since learned that Judge Thomas showed this report to numerous people before he returned the paper to us, including attorneys who advised him to answer the questions.

I am therefore prepared to publish this partial report and will do so immediately, giving him this last opportunity to publish it himself. He stated to us in open court that we could only report through indictment; that if we reported in any other way each and every one of us would be liable for damages. The special prosecutors had said the same thing to us before they left. April 13, 1928, after the first indictment was returned, Eddy, special prosecutor, wrote to this statement: "While you would like to share with the public the information which you have obtained, Mr. Johnson and myself, as your legal advisers, acting in the capacity of assistants to the attorney general of the state, have advised you that any such report at the time does not seem to be required or warranted by law."

President Coolidge will stand anything in reason, but not EVERYTHING. And Governor Smith if that statement may find that he has done what nobody else could do, in starting Mr. Coolidge as an active worker in this campaign. If that happens it will not be had news for Mr. Hoover.
If news is "what never happened before," this is really news. In Germany a flying machine traveled from Berlin to Dessau with the controls in the hands of an artificial "iron man" made of metal. A new gyroscopic steering device worked perfectly. No hand but that of the Robot touched the controls, except when taking off and landing. The man of iron sitting rigid in his seat held the controls until the machine was above the landing.

Men used to say, "Flying will never be practical." What would they have said about a man, artificially made steering a flying machine through the clouds?
Mexico is a dangerous place for rebels. The latest news tells how Florencio Sanchez, a captured rebel, betrayed five of his followers, what he knew he was immediately executed. His associates were executed, also, by shooting.
According to an Associated Press dispatch, the colonel in charge of the firing squad said to the men about to die: "You are going to be executed for serving as instruments for those who foster your ignorance—the clergy."
A religious war is not pleasant.

BUSINESS DISTRICT LAUDED BY LAYTON

Medford's business district would be representative of a city of 75,000 population in the east, said Johnny Layton, world's champion three-cushion billiard player, who was in Medford yesterday, accompanied by Willie Hoppe, another well known billiardist. He indicated Medford to be one of the best small cities he has visited on the Pacific coast for well equipped billiard parlors.
In speaking of billiards, Mr. Layton declared the billiard game to be rapidly dying out, especially in the eastern states, where the three-cushion game has so far outdistanced billiards that the latter is seldom seen and when played is viewed only by the curious. He indicated the western states as a whole to be far behind in the name and told of plans he has formulated to make it more popular.
