APPLE MOVEMENT COST FROM COAST PLACED AT $635

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Cost of moving a carload of apples from originating point in the Pacific northwest to New York was placed at $635.54 by L. E. Wettling, statistician, testifying for railroads today in a fruit rate hearing before the interstate commerce commission here.

Wettling presented a mass of figures showing average cost of hauling various products per freight mile.

J. E. Williams, of Chicago, introduced figures showing costs on lines east of Chicago.

Efforts were being made to close the hearing by tonight, but indications at noon were that it might run over into Friday. Interstate Commerce Commissioner Clyde B. Aitchison has been hearing testimony for an agsilon a demand by northwestern fruit growers that rates be reduced on shipments east from the Pacific northwest.

Big Tim's Funeral.

To the Editor:

In "Tammany Hall," by M. R. Werner, it is stated that in 1912 Big Tim Sullivan was placed in a sanitorium suffering from dementia praecox and delusions of persecution. In September, 1913, Big Tim disappeared from the house after he had tired out his four guards by playing cards with them all night, and next day his body was found on the rails of the New York & Hartford railroad.

Following is a description of Big Tim's funeral:

"More than 25,000 persons followed 'Big Tim' Sullivan's body to the grave. Among the crowd were three United States senators and a delegation of 30 members of the house of representatives. Justices of the supreme court of New York and judges of every other court in the city were present. Mott street where the old St. Patrick's cathedral stood, was swept and washed for the occasion. Charles F. Murphy and his candidate for mayor, Edward E. McCall, marched side by side at the head of the honorary pallbearers. As the coffin was borne into the street from 207 The Bowery, a great blanket of roses was thrown over it by members of the Sullivan association. 'Sarsa-parilla Kelly,' 'Big Tim's' friend for 30 years, was the master of ceremonies. Monsignor K. Cieg, rector of the old St. Patrick's, stood at the door of the church, flanked on either side by altar boys and cross-bearers. Monsignor Kearney, assisted by Father Farwell, Father Sheridan, Monsignor Murphy, Father Gastino Arced, Father Curry, Father Daniel Quinn and Father McGean, a fire department chaplain, celebrated a high requiem mass for 'Big Tim' Sullivan's soul. A long line of carriages filled with mourners followed the hearse of Calvary."

Another contemporary writer says: "As the funeral cortege moved out, the streets were lined with a vast polyglot crowd singing the praises of Big Tim Sullivan in a guttural jargon of 20 foreign nations."

Can you imagine it? This great half-christian, half-pagan ceremonial took place in New York in 1913—not in ancient Rome. Big Tim Sullivan, one of the leaders in the most wicked and corrupt organization in the modern world, in pomp and magnificence was ushered into the celestial land reserved for all the noble sons of St. Tammany.

Opposes Protective Tariff

To the Editor:

One of the most important questions before the people in this campaign is the farmers' problem. The Republican party seems to think we need a higher protective tariff to get the farmer on an equal basis with all other industries of our country. I take the stand that a protective tariff is the downfall of the farmer.

Our manufactories are protected by a duty on manufactured goods, hence they can sell and will sell for a higher price. The farmer being a consumer pays this price. The tariff has brought up the price of labor, the farmer pays this price. The duty on all imported articles brings up the price of our home manufactured goods, and the farmer has to buy and pay this price.

Although it is claimed our farm produce is protected by this tariff, I am sure this protection does not reach our farmer. He is forced to sell and buy at a price the speculators set for him. If I take a box of apples, or a sack of wheat, to a local merchant to buy a pair of shoes, he sets the price on my produce; also sets the price on his shoes. This is a fair illustration.

It makes no difference whether Smith or Hoover is elected, either of them will do the best they can for the farmer. The only thing I see is to curtail expenses, stop loaning out hard money for this great, supposed to be, moral-wave contributions and make bondholders pay taxes on their bonds or notes the same as other people on notes. A bond is a note, with all our names attached to it.

put in hot water and told that his feet would be cut by a razor.

The lack of a razor was drawn across the soles of his feet. Not a drop of blood was shed, but he died. What can kill can cure.

Some doctors wisely believe that faith healing should be used to help nervous patients.

After Herbert Hoover's speech Tuesday night telling Governor Smith that his policies were Socialistic, Wall Street bet $25,000 even that Hoover will carry New York against Smith.

The Odds had been on Smith previously. Mr. Hoover, of course, relies not on Governor Smith's Socialism, but on his own constructive plans, but he knows human nature and the value of giving "something to chew on" to those that don't know much of anything.

A new kind of "graft" revealed in Chicago is the "banquet racket." The "banquet racketeer" seeks out a nonentity who thinks he is entitled to honor and tells him he ought to have a bing banquet. The banquet is organized, and others that like to see their names in newspaper buy tickets at $10 each. The ticket costs $10. The dinner costs about $2. The racketeer takes the remaining $8. It is said this little minor racket amounts to $5,000,000 a year in Chicago alone.

Sandy McPherson, Arkansas lightweight, has a remarkable reach; but they say he usually lands short when he reaches for the check.
