The Vitamins and Minerals of FRESH VEGETABLES

in the Antarctic Wastes!

Commander Byrd
protects his company's health with VEGETIZED
Whole Wheat WAFERS

Commander Byrd's Expedition had no room for "fancy" foods—every inch of space was used for necessities!

VEGETIZED WAFERS were taken along not merely because they were delicious and tasty, but because they filled the vital need for the vitamins and minerals of fresh spinach, carrots, celery, lettuce and tomatoes!

Commander Byrd's Commissary could not afford to take chances with so-called substitutes. The very lives of these men depended upon getting the proper amount of fresh vegetable vitamins and minerals to ward off the diseases that inevitably follow the absence of fresh vegetables in the diet. Tests made for the expedition by unbiased food specialists proved that VEGETIZED products give this great health protection!
