Misrepresentations Nailed

November 1, in paid advertisement by the Republican Central Committee, over Judge Thomas' signature, certain misstatements occur which, with all due deference to the Judge, must be challenged.

They are numbered, so we number them here: 1. McNeil v. Loughridge. Plaintiff had judgment against the defendant for $12,100. Thomas prints a letter from McNeil's attorney showing that defendant settled the case September 16, 1927, by paying $7600.

THE FACTS Defendant's attorney in June and July, 1927, saw the two decisions of Reed v. Orr, dismissed from Josephine County, and Walker v. Firemen's Fund, dismissed from Jackson County, because Judge Thomas had the appeal blocked, through his reporter, who did not furnish the transcript. Defendant's attorneys sent the defendant to the plaintiff to settle the case at any price inside of the $12,100. Reason: Because the case would be dismissed under authority of the two cases cited.

September 16, when plaintiff's attorney settled the case, he could have had $12,100 plus costs, instead of $7600, if he had kept pace with the decisions and filed the motion to dismiss.

2. Walker v. Firemen's Fund. Judge Thomas says it is dismissed "because the printed abstract is not properly filed." This is a misrepresentation. The abstract was filed in time. It contained no assignments of errors because the assignments could not be made up without Judge Thomas' court reporter's transcript which was blocked. The Chief Justice, in order to save the appellant's rights, made an order that the assignments of errors might be filed when the transcript could be had. But upon hearing upon the motion to dismiss, the Supreme Court said that this order of the Chief Justice could not protect the appeal because the statute requiring the assignment of errors is a part of the transcript. The same was true in Reed v. Orr.

3. Hogan v. Mason Motor. This case is in the same condition, and hangs by a slender thread. It has not been dismissed because no motion has been filed to dismiss it. Plaintiff's attorney stipulated the defendant time because the appeal was blocked and no power existed to get this transcript from Judge Thomas' court.

4. Reed v. Orr. It was dismissed upon the authority of Walker v. Firemen's Fund, as stated on page 46, 122 Ore. Rep. This is because the assignments of errors could not be set out, because the record was in Judge Thomas' court and could not be gotten out without the transcript. WHY MISREPRESENT?

5. Yost v. McGrew. Judge Thomas says that it was decided December 6, 1925. This gives misinformation. Judge Thomas began to extend time for his reporter to get this transcript out, on April 29, 1926, and made orders on that date and on the following: May 19, 1926; June 18, 1926; August 30, 1926; November 18, 1926; December 20, 1926, and February 25, 1927, extending the time to June 15, 1927. These were each made in order that his court reporter could get out the transcript. Why doesn't he answer that? It was stated by us in paid advertisement October 25.

We asked Mr. Newbury about the statement of his not having paid the reporter. He has produced the receipt for $50 of date April 20, 1926, in full payment of the bill, and you can see this receipt at the office of the Better Government League. Mr. Newbury made this statement to the president of the League: "I asked Judge Thomas six times to compel his reporter to get out this transcript, and after trying for 18 months to get Judge Thomas to do this, I lost my appeal because he did not do it. WHY MISREPRESENT?"

Preceding the foregoing numbers 1 to 5, Judge Thomas used this language: "The first knowledge I had of fear of loss of cases because of delay in transcript work was JUST BEFORE THE HEARING IN THE SUPREME COURT IN THE WALKER CASE, hereafter mentioned. A motion had been made to dismiss on the ground of delay in filing transcript."

We are sorry to have to call so many statements made by a Circuit Judge, but this cannot go by without being nailed.

February 7, 1927, the Bar Association acted upon this matter when there were 19 appeals suffering. Judge Thomas was present at the meeting. See our statement in paid advertisement of October 25.

February 16, 1927, Judge Thomas wrote a letter to the senators and representatives in session at Salem before whom the Bar Association's proposed remedial laws were pending. We quoted from that letter, which is on file in the office of the League, in our article of October 25. Judge Thomas has never answered it. We quote from it again:

"Preliminary to comment thereon, let me say that the bills in no wise affect the First Judicial District from whence the proposal comes. Every transcript of every case on appeal has been completed and delivered to the attorney unless in two exceptions may be made, i. e., first in the Yost vs. McGrew case the transcript of testimony is complete but not delivered for the reason that the attorneys have stipulated to file a plat in connection therewith and the court reporter is awaiting the receipt of the plat to attach his transcript. Second, in the case of State vs. ..., the transcript of testimony was ordered partly finished, and then cancelled, with the result that the transcript is half done and at the request of the ordering party is being held for further order."

How can anyone believe that the matter first came to Judge Thomas' attention "just before the hearing in the Walker case"? That hearing was May 24, 1927. Supreme Court Reports, 122, page 179. How can he make such a claim in view of the six (6) extensions of time that he gave in the Yost v. McGrew beginning May 19, 1926, and extending to and including February 25, 1927?

"Bar Association should have confidence in the Circuit Judge." It is hard to have this confidence under such circumstances.

BETTER GOVERNMENT LEAGUE H. K. Hanna, President. Mrs. Bert B. Lowry, Secretary.
