

KEYES AWAITING BRIBE TRIAL IN LOS ANGELES

Prosecutor's Arraignment Set For November 8—Will Stage Investigation—Plot Is Charged—Others Implicated Julian Failure.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—(P)—District Attorney Asa Keyes, veteran Los Angeles county prosecutor, caught in an unexpected backwash from the $100,000,000 Julian Petroleum corporation stock scandal early this year, today awaited trial for bribery in the courts where he has been a familiar figure for 25 years.

Charged with accepting approximately $140,000 in connection with acquittal of accused officials of the oil concern, Keyes faced Presiding Judge Douglas F. Edmonds from the prober's dock this morning. Close behind him came seven others, also indicted for the alleged illicit passing of bribe money.

A plan to have all defendants, including Keyes, plead not guilty, and have early trial dates set, went awry at the last moment and on motion of Rex Goodell, attorney for one of the indicted men, arraignment went over until November 8 next.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—(P)—District Attorney Asa Keyes, declaring himself innocent of bribery charges filed against him by the county grand jury, today announced from his Beverly Hills home that he would "stage an investigation which would expose the whole rotten plot against me."

Keyes indicated that he believed a former investigator of his office, discharged several months ago, was behind the indictment against him. Without mentioning any names, Keyes said:

"It is significant that a discharged and disgruntled man, formerly on my staff, is behind this." The district attorney said he understood that "some of the witnesses in this case threatened to blackmail certain individuals unless certain sums were paid." He added: "When those sums were not paid, the charges against me were filed."

The Examiner says today that a number of persons in addition to District Attorney Asa Keyes were named in indictments issued by a county grand jury which yesterday filed accusations of "wilful corruption and misconduct in office" against Keyes and other unnamed individuals.

Among others reported to have been indicted, and all of whom are mentioned in the formal accusations, are:

Jacob Berman (also known as Jack Bennett); A. L. Lasker, Ben and David Getzoff, Ed Rosenberg and Jack Rosenberg.

All of the men named figured prominently in the grand jury's charges, which grew out of the collapse of the Julian Petroleum corporation and the trial of its promoters.

Another Sleepless Night

"For years I didn't know what a sound night's sleep was. I would toss and turn all night, getting up in the morning looking and feeling like a car. To make things worse I was bothered during the day with a nagging headache, dizzy spells and indigestion. I was literally a wreck when I began taking ox gall for my liver. I got it in the form of Dioxal tablets and had not finished one package before I felt like a new man. I began sleeping soundly at night and could work energetically through the day. My liver can have more to do with your health than you suspect! When the liver becomes sluggish it fails to cleanse the blood of the poisons formed by food wastes. These poisons permeate the system, causing a toxic condition known as auto-intoxication. This in turn brings on nervous, sleepless nights, high blood pressure and disease of the stomach and kidneys. Natural ox gall, extracted from the liver of the ox, is recognized as the finest tonic for the human liver. It is a natural liver stimulant and literally rejuvenates that organ, which is to rejuvenate the entire system. The pure concentrate is available in Dioxal Tablets, each Dioxal Tablet represents ten drops of pure ox gall and costs less than two cents. Try a few and see the difference they make. Genuine Dioxal has picture of ox's head on package. On sale at all good drug stores. Special Agent, Jarmint & Woods Drug Store."

BANKS PRESENTED WITH TOKENS BY FRUIT GROWERS

Llewellyn A. Banks, head of the Sumner Orchard Inc., and buyer and shipper of valley pears and apples, left for Riverside, Cal., yesterday to look after his property and citrus fruit interests there for the winter and is a happy man, following the presentation last Tuesday night of a diamond stick pin and an engraved white gold pocket piece, as gifts of appreciation from 14 well-known valley fruit growers.

These gifts were in gratitude for Mr. Banks having made successful financial efforts in their behalf, and finally bringing about a clean financial slate between himself and them, which difficulty arose from the disastrous fruit season of 1926 when the government unexpectedly imposed its drastic spring regulations. It will be remembered that in that season Mr. Banks' personal losses are said to have been $76,000 and that as a buyer and shipper he was only able to pay all but $51,000 of the sum he owed to the growers who had contracted with him.

Although it is said there was no legal obligation on Mr. Banks to pay this remaining sum to the growers, he did not try to evade the moral obligation, and only recently paid off the last of the $51,000.

Hence it was that the grateful growers bought the gifts, which were presented in their names by Harry Pellett at Mr. Banks' home on Tuesday night. On one side of the handsome gold pocket piece was engraved: "Presented to L. A. Banks by the Rogue River Pear Growers." On the other side was engraved: "In remembrance of the Battle of 1926 with Bureaucracy." The growers contributing to the gifts were the following: Bert Anderson, R. V. Beall, L. M. Loffland, O. B. Morrow, Chas. V. Stacy, Chris Wolff, C. Goddard, Bernard Barnum, C. W. Innes, Walter Leverette, S. A. Nye, Harry Pellett, Howard Hill and L. B. Hall.

The body of Mrs. Phil B. Harrison, who was killed in an auto tragedy near Corning, Cal., last Sunday, will be brought back to this city. The ambulance of the Pearl Funeral Home left this morning on the mission, and is due to arrive late today.

No definite funeral arrangements have been made. Mrs. Helen Connolly of Calgary, Cal., daughter and her husband, Captain Fred Connolly, in charge of Canadian forces at Calgary, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heath Sr. and Phil B. Harrison, suffering from shock and bruises, will accompany the body to this city.

PRIZES AWARDED HALLOWEEN BALL

Wearing clever Spanish costumes, Phil and Marion Bryant of this city, brother and sister, were awarded the first prize at the Halloween ball held at Walker's pavilion last night, and were picked out of a large field of entries. Second prizes went to Sam and Joan Sharron, brother and sister. They wore Chinese outfits and acted the part of Chinese outlaws, and acted their parts as well as wearing novel costumes. Third prize went to Charles Wood and Mary Phelps, who were old-time clothes.

The party was one of the most successful ever held by the pavilion and was attended by dancers from all parts of southern Oregon. The pavilion was neatly decorated and included many masked dancers who did not take part in the costume competition.

presidents of the United States." Cleveland's widow, now Mrs. Frances Preston, was on the platform. "Talking about fooling the people," the governor said early in his address.

"Let us devote just a few minutes to this question of prohibition. If ever there was a deluge, it is taken place in relation to the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act. I know perfectly well that the president of the United States cannot amend the constitution. Mr. Hughes does not have to tell me that. I know that, and what is more, I know that he knows that I know it.

"Nobody in the campaign so far has made any suggestion. What I did suggest was that I was willing to take the leadership of the American people for the purpose of trying to find a solution of this problem."

RUSSIAN VISITORS TO SEE LAKE ON ROAD INSPECTION

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 1.—(P)—A study of Oregon's highway system, methods of maintenance and road machinery is being made by three Russian engineers who were guests of the state highway department here yesterday. They are Serguis A. Vassiliev, engineer of Russian lines of communication; A. Z. Georgiadze, chief engineer of public roads for Transcaucasia, southern Russia; and B. M. Gapevstein, chief engineer of public roads in the Northwest sector with headquarters at Leningrad.

As guests of Roy A. Klein, state highway engineer, the visitors were shown the road system around Salem and the highway shops. They left this morning for a trip over McKenzie Pass. They will travel over the Dallas-California highway to Crater lake and Medford and in California will be guests of the California highway department. The Russians said that highway problems in Oregon are very similar to those of Russia.

SATURDAY DANCE TO OPEN HOT SPRINGS

Opening the fall and winter dance season at the Jackson Hot Springs club pavilion, a big ball, at which the football teams of Medford and Ashland will be guests of honor, will be given there next Saturday night. The pavilion has undergone numerous improvements, including a refinished floor, which will tend to make dancing at this attractive hall more of a joy than before. Entirely different decorations have been put in place and will be a surprise to the Saturday crowds.

Brisbane's Today

those faculties by which the foolish part of men's minds is taken are most potent."

"Wonderful like is the case of boldness in civil business; what of the struggles of Mr. Raskob and Mr. Smith to capper the government's bitterly regretted pronouncement on the Underwood tariff. He did not need to point to Governor Democratic platforms prohibition Smith's voluntary revision of the plank. He was not obliged to particularize Governor Smith's sleight of hand with the equalization fee—now you see it and now you don't. These are now known to everyone. They are among the humors—and the desperations—of the Democratic campaign.

Plainly it has irked Governor Smith that Mr. Hoover has not assailed him, and by name. The Governor likes that kind of a fight. It is what he has been used to all his life. He is a master at it. Without an antagonist of that kind he finds himself fanning the air. He is baffled by an opponent who believes a presidential candidacy demands too much dignity for that sort of thing.

Mr. Hoover did not descend this line. Nevertheless he has delivered a mighty blow. Governor Smith may now proceed to make the best of it.

It suits the Democratic purpose to declare American prosperity a myth. Mr. Raskob is a living answer. General Motors could not have done the huge business it has done under his management except in a country remarkably prosperous. Mr. Raskob's own fortune is a large piece of evidence that the American people have had much money to spend in the last eight years.

But, cry the Democrats in explanation, prosperity is not universal. We can grant that. If prosperity were universal in the United States there would be nothing left for Mr. Hoover or anyone else to do. The job in the White House would be too tame for an active man like Mr. Smith.

Mr. Hoover sees his job in clearing up those remnants where prosperity does not rule. He expressed it again admirably last night. His ideal and his purpose is to banish poverty from the United States. His aim is to make prosperity in this country as nearly universal as is possible so long as accident holds its place in human affairs.

This is the vision of a man singularly successful in carrying out the purposes he undertakes. Is there another man better qualified by experience and ability to do this job successfully? Is there a better organization to carry on this task than the Republican organization that has in the last seven and a half years guided the nation to the high measure of prosperity it has attained today?

The New York speech leaves no one any particle of doubt where Mr. Hoover stands on power or on any other proposition to put the government into business. The speech contains the clearest and fullest exposition of the evils of government in private business that we have ever heard or read. It annihilates the entire doctrine of government in commercial business. By example and logic it proves the case against government in competition with private initiative as clearly as ever Euclid proved a theorem in geometry.

This section of the speech must rank as a great contribution to the literature of economics and political science. Its clarity and power of conviction are equalled only by its courage.

Mr. Hoover had to say in New York what he has said here. Where is there a better place to manage the vast and complicated business of this country? Wouldn't YOU jump at the chance if you could hire him to run YOUR business?—San Francisco Chronicle.

JAPAN AND RUSSIA WORK TOGETHER IN OIL AREA

MOSCOW.—(P) Signs of closer cooperation between Japan and Russia in the exploitation of oil resources on Sakhalin Island were recently disclosed when Admiral Okakata, on behalf of the Japanese Sakhalin Oil Co., signed a contract with Russia's trade agent in Japan for the purchase of 65,000 tons of oil.

The same day that seed corn is gathered the husked ears should be put in a dry place where there is free circulation of air and the ears do not touch each other. The vitality of seed often is reduced by leaving the corn in a sack or pile even for a day after gathering.

BRIGGS CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Win M. Briggs, who is a candidate for re-election to the state legislature, was born and raised in Jackson county, attended the public schools of Ashland and graduated from the high school, after which he went east and completed a legal education. Since 1919 he has been engaged in the practice of law in the firm of Briggs & Briggs.

In 1919 he was appointed city attorney of Ashland and has held the position continuously ever since. He has always evidenced interest in the civic welfare of the community and county and has held positions of prominence in fraternal and civic organizations.

Mr. Briggs was elected as one of the representatives at the 1926 session, and is one of the prominent members of the 1927 session content to merely yes and no on the many bills that come before the session but his efforts were energetic and constructive. He had many ideas of his own, and the fact that practically all of his legislation received the approval of both houses and the governor speaks highly for him.

A phase of Briggs' work at the last session is that he kept in close touch with his constituents at home, writing letters daily to those whom he thought would be interested, advising them of pending legislation and getting their reaction to it. Mr. Briggs is imbued with the idea of representative government and tried his best to truly reflect the sentiment of the majority on all bills.

The Oregon Voter says of Briggs: "Representative Briggs is an energetic and eloquent speaker, a ready mixer, intensely patriotic, and chock full of confidence in himself. He introduced irrigation legislation, bill pertaining to local use of the initiative and referendum, and a meritorious bill throwing around the use of the production funds certain restrictions and safeguards. He was as busy as a bee in a clover field."

The voters of Jackson county should look over the record of Mr. Briggs voting at the last session and his record as to 22 bills which he had enacted into laws.

A man who is largely responsible for the moving of a county seat under obstacles which would dishearten most people, is surely capable of accomplishing other things of importance and to your vote.
