Today's public market was typical of an after-holiday market, patronage being lighter than usual. However, a good supply of home-grown produce was in stock, including the usual lines. Hot tamales, pastries and home-cooked foodstuffs were also on sale and enjoyed a fairly good patronage. While this may be one sale for several more market days, the walnuts are running somewhat low, largely due to a small crop this year and more than an average demand.

MEMORIES OF WAR ENDING TOLD BY LOCAL VETERANS

"Ten years ago today—" Thus started many of the reminiscences of local ex-service men yesterday, who gathered at the Elks' club after the parade to enjoy the annual American Legion Armistice Day dinner.

Lee Garlock, adjutant of the local post, was in Brest, France, when the Armistice was signed. With the 364th supply company, he had been acting in the capacity of pay-master in the finance office for 21 1/2 months, and knew the movements of troops on both sides every day.

"We were also the victims of all the false reports that came along one of these being the premature Armistice report, which reached our office on November 8. We celebrated the whole 50,000 of us in that company, on November 11, was merely an anti-climax to us," he said.

Jim and Ken Murray were on the high seas, 10 years ago yesterday, en route to France, and many of the sailors were stricken with flu. Although the commander received the news of the Armistice, he said nothing of it to the men, believing it might be another false report.

Dave Griffith and Royal Hebb, were two other local men, who served in the same company during the war. They were situated at Audemare, Belgium, a stop-over on their march to Brussels. When they received the word of the Armistice, they had been on the firing line for 10 days previously.

"Did we celebrate?" asked the two ex-soldiers. "I'll say we did. And it was all night long and for as long as we could stand it the next day."

Colonel E. E. Kelly, veteran of both the Spanish-American War and the World War, was just leaving the trenches in the Argonne forest, with his men, for a short rest before going back to the front, when he received the good news, 10 years ago Sunday.

"We were a little too sleepy to celebrate much, but the 'big news' was balm to our souls, all the same," he said. Colonel Kelly was in command of the 80th division during the war, and was cited for outstanding courage by General Pershing.

SMALL HOOK GETS A BIG STEELHEAD

To Thomas Culvert of this city goes the distinction of having caught in the Rogue river on last Sunday an eight-pound steelhead on a small No. 10 hook, having one salmon egg as bait. In addition to catching the large fish, he also caught nine cutthroat trout. Al Piche, who accompanied him, caught 12 cutthroat and four steelhead on the same sized hook.

The two men fished near Gold Hill and made their catches in a comparatively short time. The season for trout will close at the end of this month, leaving only two more weeks in which fish under 15 inches may be caught.

LAKE IS BECOMING BETTER KNOWN AS PUBLICITY GAINED

Crater Lake continues to become better known through the nation and abroad, not only thru the many thousands of tourists who visit the national park each year, and their number is greatly increasing annually, but by the great amount of free publicity which the business world, and also the railroads, are giving it in their advertising matter.

The latest volunteer publicity of this kind was brought to the notice of Superintendent C. G. Thomson today when he received a letter from A. D. Charlton of Portland, Ore., general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific Railroad company, stating that the Krunk Manufacturing company of St. Paul, Minn., manufacturers of toilet preparations, in its November booklet sent out to the trade, "Personal Appearance," has a fine picture of Crater Lake and the Phantom Ship on the front of the outside cover; and that 50,000 of these booklets have been sent to all parts of the United States.

ANNOUNCEMENT

There are certain ideals and services in conducting a drug business which mean a great deal to patients, but which are frequently ignored or lost sight of by the druggist. For instance, the highest attainment of the real drug store is the preparation of medicines on prescriptions of physicians. Nothing is more important than that with us.

Nor is it within the province of the drug store with ideals to push the sale of proprietary preparations of various kinds which encourage self diagnosis and self medication on the part of the user. Whenever you are ill enough to need medicine you are ill enough to need the advice of your doctor.

In these columns we shall point out from week to week why this is true—and why you should have your prescriptions filled by a drug store such as ours which specializes in this important work.
